U.S. Senate Failed To Ratify Treaty

Washington, D. C., Nov. 19.—After three ineffectual attempts to ratify the Peace Treaty had failed the Senate late tonight gave up the attempt and laid the treaty aside.
All compromise efforts to bring ratification failed, the three resolutions of ratification all going down by overwhelming majorities. The Republican leaders, apparently despairing of bringing two-thirds of the Senate together for any sort of ratification, then put in a resolution to declare the war at an end.
Two of the ratification votes were taken on the resolution drafted by the Republican majority, containing reservations which President Wilson had told Democratic Senators, in a letter earlier in the day, would mean nullification of the Treaty. On each of the votes most of the Democratic supporters voted against ratification.

Final Decision.
Republican Leader Lodge declared today's voting constituted a final decision on the Peace Treaty, unless President Wilson circumvented the Senate rule by withdrawing it and then submitting it again to the Senate in other quarters there was some difference of opinion, but sentiment seemed to be that there was only a slender chance that the treaty would come up at the beginning of the next session of Congress, being next month. One effect of the Senate's failure to ratify the Treaty will be the continuation of various war time laws and regulations at least until the new session opens. Among these is the War Time Prohibition Act.

The resolution presented tonight to declare a state of peace will come up at the beginning of the new session, and is expected to start another stubborn fight. The administration is understood to be opposed to such a method of legally ending the war and in the background is a constitutional question as to whether Congress can do so by a resolution not requiring the President's signature.
It was suggested tonight among Democratic Senators that President Wilson might be asked during the recess to feel out the other powers as to their attitude on reservations with the idea of bringing the Treaty to some sort of a ratification after Congress reassembles.

Treaty Laid Aside.
The second vote on the majority's ratification resolution was made possible by the mild reservationists who voted with the Democrats to get the measure before the Senate, and thus give an opportunity for any eleventh hour compromise proposition. Once that should be accomplished, however, the mild group held out against all efforts of the Democrats, to put to their substitutes reservations, so that when the second vote was reached, after several hours of sparring, the situation was virtually unchanged. The Treaty, which has been before the Senate many weeks, is now laid aside.

THE DEAR PUBLIC
The Winnipeg Telegram tells a story of prime interest to the harassed financial secretaries of social agencies: A small store keeper, to the surprise of his brethren, suddenly decorated his window with a gorgeous new blind. "Nice blind of yours, Isaac," quoth his neighbor. "Yes, Aaron. 'Who paid for it?'" "The customers paid Aaron." "What! The customers paid for it, Isaac?" "Yes, Aaron: I put a leedle box on my counter. 'For the blind.' And they paid for it."
