THE HERALD
FREDERICK, OCTOBER 24, 1885.

THE VICTORY OF LAST WEEK.
The presence of the members of the local government in the city to-day, recalls the fact that every one of them comes back to the legislature stronger personally in his constituency than in 1882.

From Restigouche to St. John there is not a single solitary seat held by a straight opposition supporter, and there are only one gentleman elected who does not fall under straight classification as a friend of the administration. Two counties, York and St. John, only stand in opposition to the government, and four of the eight members representing these counties were elected by a deal. The other four were their success, perhaps not to a deal, but to a deal handler who lives on the Nashwaak, and not the unperched suffrages of the county.

This is the extent of the opposition, which all the lying, all the slander, of Mr. Blair and his government for the past ten years, have been able to return to the new legislature. Surely no political party in Canada or any other country, was ever so completely annihilated as was Dr. Stockton's aggregation in the recent contest.

A DOUBLE-BARRELED CAMPAIGN.
No doubt these two worthies, Herman Pitts of the Reporter, and J. H. Crockett of the Gleaner, are secretly chuckling at the clever way in which they once more fooled the electors of York in an election campaign.

It will be remembered that when Mr. Pitts was struggling for the opposition ticket, and was being objected to for a purpose, by some of the opposition managers, his friend and co-worker the Gleaner, came out with a leading article in which it was announced that the Bathurst school question was a dead issue, publishing among other things the following:

"Religious differences on school questions may or may not arise in the next Dominion election, but as far as the Provincial elections now in progress are concerned, all such differences have been amicably and definitely settled. The Bathurst school difficulty was discussed in a few counties in the campaign of 1882, and certain candidates became more or less identified with one or other aspect of the case. The agitation has been kept up by Messrs. Skinner, Fowler, and others some years, and there is probably no better evidence that a solution satisfactory to both Protestants and Roman Catholics has been arrived at than the fact that Mr. Skinner is supporting the Blair linking in St. John and Mr. Fowler linking his fortune with Solicitor General White in Kings. The adjustment of the Bathurst difficulty in a manner that meets with the approbation of the Rev. A. F. Thompson, as well as the priests of Gloucester, does not make Mr. Blair's general methods of administration any less respectable. Unlike Mr. Fowler, Mr. Pitts considers that the present Government is still corrupt, rotten and iniquitous, and that the welfare of the people demands its prompt expulsion from power. In 1882 he ran on a ticket of his own, entirely separate and distinct from the Opposition ticket, then led by Mr. W. K. Allen. The Opposition are not, and never have been identified with any phase or form of sectarian agitation. Mr. Pitts has unreservedly accepted the settlement of the Bathurst school difficulty and the issue is now dead. This assurance will be found borne out by his paper, the Fredericton Reporter."

At the very moment the Gleaner was declaring the Bathurst school question a dead issue, to help Mr. Pitts with the electors who hate sectarian discord, the latter was preparing a dynamic circular for distribution in the county, declaring the Gleaner's article a falsehood, and rallying his Orange friends in the same old cry that carried the election of 1882. More than this, the "dead issue" article of the Gleaner, which was to be borne out by Pitts in the Reporter, passed unnoticed in Pitts' paper. No contradiction of it was made by Pitts in the Reporter, but speak like, he was issuing his infamous circulars in the Orange districts of the county, putting before the public in this way what he was ashamed to openly publish in his newspaper. The following is a sample of Pitts' circular appeals to the electors, and carries with it Pitts' own condemnation:

ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OF YORK.
GENTLEMEN—Circulars and newspapers are being distributed in large numbers, and Blair's canvassers are assiduously stating that a settlement of the Bathurst school question has been arrived at, which has been a complete breakdown on the part of myself from the position for equal rights and honest fair play that I espoused for the last four years. An article in the Gleaner is quoted as authority, an article that was published without my knowledge or sanction.

The whole thing is a base canard and campaign lie, gotten up to split the Orange and Protestant vote, and emanates from Blair and his newspapers. I hold the same convictions and the same position I always did, and no settlement that I have agreed to has been effected. I would rather be retired from political life by the votes of the people of York, if they so thought fit, than to resolve one iota from the position that I have taken. An article in the question of equal rights and fair play. I think those who know me will not doubt this assertion. The only settlement that I am aware of is that Fowler, one of our concern, has basely surrendered our principles, has received $5,000 or so for the counsel in the case, and has gone on the government ticket in Kings county. I ask every elector in York county who has a spark of manliness and honor, to go into this fight determined to show Blair, Fowler, White and others who are party to these deals, that York county cannot be bought, and that they propose to stand up for those who have had courage to stand up against great odds in their interests.

As this canvass has been started recently, with the idea that it cannot be denied in time to affect the vote, and as I cannot reach all parts of this large county to refute the lie, I depend on the voters of York to put the lie back to those who sent it out, by voting solidly for the opposition ticket.

Sincerely and faithfully yours,
HERMAN H. PITTS.

The most atrocious falsehoods were put into the electors' hands by the issue of this circular. No man knows better than Pitts that not a single circular of any kind was sent out by the government's friends in this county. All the statements of the government press regarding Pitts' breakdown, were based on the Gleaner's article quoted above, and not on any other source. We challenge him to produce copies of the circulars which he alleges were published in the government interest. He cannot do it, and must therefore stand before the public as a base slanderer, an untruthful charlatan, who will not stop at anything to gain a political advantage.

And yet this is one of the persons who has been elected to represent this county of York in the legislature. Perhaps some of the people will be awakened to the dishonest and dangerous character of the methods employed to carry this county to the opposition.

THE EVANGELISTS.
The names of Hunter and Crossley, the Canadian evangelists, are household words in the Christian families of the Dominion, and during their twelve years work, these gentlemen have led thousands of men and women to a new life. It is with a great deal of pleasure, therefore, that the Herald welcomes them to Fredericton and wishes them God speed in their work.

This is their second visit to New Brunswick, and their first to Fredericton. Less than a year ago they labored in St. John with great success, and they have every reason to anticipate a full measure of blessing in this city.

The personality of the Evangelists is very pleasing. Nature has endowed them with eloquent tongues, and no one who has heard them in their work can doubt their earnest sincerity, and desire to extend the Master's kingdom. Both gentlemen are Canadian bred and born, and in their methods differ very much from the sensationalism of American revivalists who have visited this province. Rev. John E. Hunter was born in Durham county, Ont., on July 29, 1856. He was brought up a Presbyterian, but at the age of fifteen was converted at a Methodist revival. Four years later he was called to the pulpit. He became a revivalist almost immediately, and in 1882 he was ordained a Methodist minister, after having spent two years at Victoria college. Rev. H. T. Crossley is a Canadian by birth, and was born in 1850. For some years he taught school and then attended Victoria college, where he was ordained at the early age of 23. Mr. Crossley is a singer as well as a speaker.

WILL YORK RESENT IT?
The word has gone abroad that Mr. Gibson controls York county, and can elect anybody he pleases. All he has to do is to snap the whip, put up a few thousand dollars, stand at the poll on election day, and that settles it. Are the electors of York county to rest under that imputation? Do they wish people in other parts of the province to understand that Mr. Gibson is York county, and that anybody who does not worship at his shrine, must be annihilated? That would constitute the Nashwaak ruler another czar, whose will is absolute, whose orders dare not be disobeyed. The electors of York will have it in their power shortly to show the world, whether or not they will bow the knee to Mr. Gibson; on that occasion it will not be possible for the electors to be driven to the polls with the ballots thrust into their hands, but they will be free to make their own choice in the secret chamber of the polling booth. Mr. Gibson's friends may boast if they will, that York is but a pocket borough for the Great Man of the Nashwaak, but surely there are sufficient independent men in this constituency to resent any such degrading claim.

SESSION OR ELECTION?
A Montreal despatch says that Hon. J. A. Oimist, minister of public works, in a speech in that city yesterday, said Parliament will be called together January 5th to pass remedial legislation, but we have reason for doubting the statement. It is not likely that any member of the government would take the people into his confidence to that extent, and we incline to the opinion that Mr. Oimist is simply trying to throw dust in the eyes of the Liberals, and catch them unprepared for the contest. It would be wisdom anyhow not to attach too much importance to the statement, but to go on preparing for the election just the same. It has been the custom of the late government to take the people by surprise with their election announcements, and we may awaken almost any fine morning to find Parliament dissolved and the country in the midst of a general Dominion election.

The Liberals had better be ready at any rate; they should complete their organization in every county, and prepare for the little which at the very farthest can be done only a few months distant.

LOOKING FOR A NEW LEADER.
Already there is a movement on foot in opposition circles to depose Dr. Stockton from the leadership of the party. His organs right and left, have been unmercifully hammering him since the election, and if he is at all sensitive he will not wait for his friends to kick him out. We should very much regret to observe our wise and genial friend from St. John receiving such unkind treatment; but if the story is true that Mr. Gibson believes Mr. Fidler better suited for the position of leader than Dr. Stockton, the latter will have to go. While Mr. Gibson's party in the new legislature is not so large as Mr. Blair's, it costs a great deal of money, and Mr. Gibson has a right to be heard in the selection of a new leader. He has four $5000 beautes under his control, and they may be expected to vote solid whenever Mr. Gibson pulls the string.

INCREASING INTEREST
Being Taken in the Services of Messrs. Hunter and Crossley.

With each day the interest in the evangelistic services increases, and at 7 o'clock last evening the Baptist church was full. However, like the omnibus, "room for one more," so Tuesday night the people kept crowding in as attendants upon the services, under the direction of A. McNeil Shaw, continued to squeeze a body of men already full, to seat a couple of children on some smiling bachelors' knees, and carefully stand the gentlemen in an out-of-the-way corner until the exercises began.

The fine choir, with Miss Perkins at the piano, occupied seats behind the evangelists on the platform, and was reinforced by members of the Gibson and Marysville choirs. Each aisle was seated with one row of chairs, and chairs were placed around the front and the steps leading to the platform forming most agreeable resting places for others. When Rev. Mr. Crossley stepped upon the platform there was a reverent hush through the assemblage, and the proverbial pin might have been heard to drop as attention was directed to the choir sang "Guide me O Thou great Jehovah," and "What a friend we have in Jesus."

Rev. B. N. Hughes offered the opening prayer, after which many mouths dropped unceremoniously open while Mr. Crossley sang "Nassa de Sheepfold." After a short prayer for the Wanderers Rev. Dr. Brecken spoke of the wonderful success of Messrs. Hunter and Crossley, and expected great things from them under God in Fredericton. While some were called to be pastors and teachers these men were without doubt called to be evangelists. He announced a meeting in the Free Baptist church to-morrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, and a grand rally of the children of Fredericton and vicinity at 4 o'clock on Friday in the same church. The offering was then taken while the choir sang an anthem and Rev. Robt. G. Fulton, of Kingston, distributed the evangelists' song book, taken in exchange therefor twenty-five cents. Clergymen and members of the choir are supplied with these excellent books with the compliments of the evangelists.

The button was pressed when Rev. Mr. Hunter forgave to front of the platform and with a smiling countenance told the people how glad he was to see them all and how sorry he was for those who could not get in. They did not crowd enough; he never saw a gathering where he could not get in; he would climb on steps, get under the choir or sit on the communion table. He is looking for great things in Fredericton and asked everybody to pray every day sometime between 12 and 2 o'clock. A meeting for men only on Sunday afternoon in city hall at 3, 4 and 5 o'clock, and he was sorry—for the men—because the hall isn't large.

Mr. Hunter read a portion of 15th chap. II, Chron., which was a record of a great Israelitish revival. Some people would never be brought to the Lord except through great trouble. Some are so humble they think they do no good, but in God's big book a drink in record is a visit to the sick chamber, a heaver of water to the thirsty, a little Bible to the ignorant, or not to escape the eye of God. He remarked that Israel had backslidden, like many in audience had forsaken God. I invite you to return, he said, and perhaps some in this house had not prayed for five years, the first week of the year. A merchant in the west allowed prayer to be silent in his house, but one day when he came home he ran against a casket containing the body of his daughter. This great trouble brought him back to the Saviour. Repentance is first required a reformation among church members. Pray as did Dr. Mead in the olden time. Get down to Gethsemane. Pray for the city, for people are flocking to the churches like doves to the open window. Be diligent in business, be cheerful in God's work, have resolution when in the right, be courageous. The preacher remarked that the Nashwaak ruler and his gospel in love, in plain Anglo Saxon, so that if anybody goes to perdition he will go with his eyes open. The minister needs courage. Don't be afraid to preach against rum because a wealthy rumrunner sits in the pew. Put away the idols in your homes; matter what the idol may be; be willing to make sacrifices. He spoke of a good Presbyterian widow in Wallaceburg who was anxious for the salvation of her boy in a town one hundred miles away. A special collection for the altar with a desire to pray for her boy, and strange as it may appear to some that boy was converted that very day. He prayed that the spirit which was so manifest in Luther, Wesley, Whitfield, Jonathan, Edwards, John Knox and Spurgeon might fall upon us.

After a brief prayer the choir sang "Nearer My God to Thee."
Rev. Mr. Crossley
Delighted the congregation
with his sermon on the Crowns of the Bible. The first crown he spoke of was loving-kindness. In every day parlance you ask a friend, "How's your business?" "Oh, I can't complain." "How's your health?" "Oh, can't complain." Don't say this any more; it is sinful to be merry because you can't complain. The object of loving-kindness is to lead to repentance. John says, "Behold what manner of love," etc. In addressing a Sunday school in Bowmanville he asked the children if they knew he was a prince. In amazement they looked at him as they told him he was the son of a king. While passing home next day a little girl called mamma to the window to see a prince. We all may be children of King Immanuel. He then sang "I'm the child of a King."

Second crown—crown of gold. Some foolishly are afraid to run for this crown lest they would not hold out.
3. Crown of glory. Here we seek for municipal and civic honors, but this crown is emblematical of honors in heaven.
4. Crown of rejoicing. This is an incentive to win souls for Christ, and emblematical of the joys of heaven. We all ought to try to win stars for our crown. Talnage says he will consider his life a failure if he doesn't have 100,000 stars in his crown.
5. Crown of life. "Be ye faithful unto death." This is emblematical of eternal life and an incentive to be faithful.
6. Crown incorruptible. This crown may be seen at the bedside of the dying Christian. We may all have this crown.
7. Crown of righteousness. This will inspire us to righteous living here. Look up, and the stars in this crown will dazzle your eyes.
8. Crown of thorns. But this is not for you and me. It is emblematical of cruel torture, and an incentive to us to love the Saviour.

Space prevents any further outline of the sermon, which was closed by Dr. Crossley singing "Oh that with yonder sacred throng."
Rev. Mr. Hunter asked that all doors be opened for ventilation, and said the after service would begin, to which all were invited, but those who found it necessary could leave while they sang. Only very few left, the vast audience remaining to the close.

Rev. Mr. Freeman, pastor of the church, offered a brief prayer, after which Mr. Hunter asked for requests for his children, a lady asked for father and brother. Others were asked in different parts of the house for my children, my friend, etc. A feeling of great reverence pervaded the house, and in response to appeals, between thirty and forty men and women stood up to indicate their desire for salvation. In the audience were only from Marysville and Gibson, from Keswick and Kingsclear, and some from more remote places, including Rev. H. Harrison of Canterbury, Rev. E. Bell, Nashwaak, and Rev. B. N. Hughes, of Albert.

Meetings for Next Week
The Evangelical committee in charge of Messrs. Hunter and Crossley's campaign in this city, met in Baptist vestry Thursday night, Rev. Mr. Tippet in the chair, and arranged next meetings as follows:
SUNDAY.—Mr. Hunter will preach in the Methodist church at 11 a. m., and Mr. Crossley in the Free Baptist church at the same hour. At 4 p. m. both the Evangelists will address a meeting, for men only, in the City Hall, and in the evening, at 7 o'clock, they will speak to a mass meeting in the Methodist church.
THEIR MEETINGS WILL BE CONTINUED EVERY evening next week in the Methodist church at 7:30 o'clock. On Tuesday and Thursday afternoons they will speak in the Free Baptist church at 3:30 o'clock, and at the same place Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Their work so far has been very encouraging.

DECLARATION DAY.
The Successful Candidates Declared Elected.
Only a very small crowd of people attended the declaration day proceedings at the County Court House Saturday noon. Sheriff Sterling, assisted by his clerk, Mr. Havelock Coy, opened the ballot boxes and summed up the vote, declaring Messrs. Black, Pinder, Pitts and Howe elected. The vote at El River, which THE HERALD has not before published, stood Thompson, 40, Whitehead, 40, Anderson 40, Coburn 38, Black 36, Howe 35, Pinder 33, Pitts 37, and the total vote of the county was: Black, 3,368 Thompson, 2,334 Howe, 3,595 Whitehead, 2,302 Pinder, 3,258 Anderson, 2,280 Coburn, 3,248

Says the Moncton Transcript: During the meeting addressed by Miss Ben Oling in the Central Methodist church at the close of the regular service Sunday evening, Mr. A. F. Hill, traveller for L. Higgins & Co., sang "The Holy City." Mr. Massie possesses a fine tenor voice, and it is unnecessary to say the singing was highly appreciated.
Chas. Tabor, a weak minded young man, wandered from his home with Samuel Stephenson, on the 11th inst., and on Monday week last. He was last seen on Smith's island. The impression is that he has fallen into the river and been drowned. Sunday a number of citizens organized a searching party, scoured the island and the woods below town, but no sign of the missing youth could be found.
A terrible accident occurred Tuesday on the premises of the Canadian Aluminum Company, Montreal, of which the victim was Alfred Vaniel, nickel plater.
