

Our Baseball Column.

PLAGIARISED AND OTHERWISE.

The inclement weather and the sodden condition of the diamond, forced Umpire Chessman to postpone last night's much heralded clash between the Cubs and Red Lions.

The game will now be played at 6.30 on Tuesday evening.

We never were known as a hasty crew. We are generally meek and mild. It is seldom or never we start a fuss. And it's rarely that we get us riled. But we're on the trail of a certain guy. There's a simp we are out to trim. And when we have finished, his folks will buy a kinnio of wood for him.

We will smite him even as Samson smote; We will leave him among the slain. Just show that fathead to us who wrote

"How beautiful is the rain!"

Both teams however welcome the postponement as it will enable them to get in better batting form. The Cubs are reported to be paying particular attention to their hitting as their work in the field cannot be improved upon very materially.

The same applies to the Lions as the delay gives the "vets" a chance to tune up their batting eye.

To everyone lucky enough to swat out home-runs, Vice-President Hawthorne is presenting 500 "Gems" Brett is the only one to date enjoying his.

"Will soon be time for Old Man Jinx to settle on the shoulders of the Lions. He usually makes his appearance about this time every year.

From the newspaper accounts from Grand Falls we judge that the "paper-men" are out to capture the Reid Trophy this year. When it is considered that Charlie Quick who was always sure of his place on the St. John's team is rather dubious about making the Grand Falls (where he now resides) it's a pretty good indication of what will come in here to face the home-team in August.

And at that, we don't relish Major Montgomerie when he comes to pick the city's pets.

EXCITED FAN asks:—"Would you rather have Hall or Ellis on your team?"

"Well, you see it's this way: If the other rummy had three on base we'd prefer to have Claude—in the box. Whereas if our guys were decorating the bags, we'd rather have "Nuts"—at bat.

One of the sweetest follies of the season, and one that's being repeated day after day:—The Pitchout Foolishness. Runner gets on first; he puts his head down, emits a loud bray, and kicks up a little of the sod. Pitcher immediately throws the ball about seven feet wide of the batsman; catcher hooks it in, lifts his arm for a mighty peg, stares through the mask, grunts, and goes back to work. Runner hoofs up some more sod with the other foot, but has no more idea of stealing second than a cow's ear. Pitcher, with a convulsive jerk, again slashes the ball away wide, and the catcher repeats his watchful exhibition. Two balls called and no strikes. Pitcher is now compelled to try for the centre of the plate; just as he lets the ball go the runner wiggles his shoulder. The ball either dies wide again, or comes over like a lane duck,—whereupon the rejoicing batsman pines in half a mile.

All the pitchers fall for this stuff evening after evening—fall for it even when the baserunner is a heavy-footed catcher or a fastidious pitcher, neither of whom has the slightest idea of stealing anything. As a rule, the pitcher can out-think and out-scheme the batsman, but the pitchout folly is the one soft spot in almost every pitcher's armor.

I'm keeping straight and sober, I'm saving all my dubs, And I'll see you Tuesday evening, When the Lions play the Cubs.

Baird's New Store.

A MARVEL OF EFFICIENCY.

St. John's is slowly but surely shedding its old-fashioned methods of doing things, and the proverbial American progressiveness is coming to be recognized as the best paying of systems. Water Street took a step forward within the last few days, when Baird's new men's and youths' furnishing department was opened to the public for its patronage and benefit. This store, which adjoins the general dry-goods store, has been entirely reconstructed after the style of the Grand Rapids Show Case Co., of Grand Rapids, Mich., and a visit of inspection, which a Telegram reporter enjoyed this morning, will well repay the trouble. The first impression one receives, on entering, is the general brightness and up-to-dateness of the place. The cramped space, stuffiness and darkness, so eloquent of many stores, are here absent, and one may move about without fear of running into something and tipping it over. All the goods, consisting of men's and youths' suits, overcoats and raglans, caps and hats, collars and ties, underclothing and everything connected with masculine attire, are kept, and may be seen at a glance without the slightest trouble. The coats and suits, for example, are hung on a very efficient and time-saving arrangement, which is fitted with disappearing glass doors, sliding on ball bearings. Thus, when a customer is to be shown the goods, the glass doors are slid back of the case. The hanging arrangement, containing from 120 to 130 coats, is placed ready for revolving, and the prospective buyer may view the variety of patterns and styles at pleasure. He does not soil or wrinkle them in handling, and they go back to the case exactly as they come out. The time and space saving thus made is easily imagined. The collars and ties, hats and caps, underwear, etc., are kept in glass-covered cabinets, and can be seen at all times, and the very minimum of time in making a selection is reached. Needless to say, the cases are all dust-proof. The boot and shoe department is in the rear of the store, every facility and convenience being there provided. The fitting booth, which secures privacy and comfort, is furnished with large full size mirrors which enable the customer to see his figure from all angles. The lighting system, to be installed within a very few days, deserves a word of praise. This system, which is the first of its kind to be installed in the country, is so arranged that the globes are not seen. Instead, they are placed in boxes, arranged around the walls, with reflecting mirrors within them. The light is thereby reflected to the ceiling, being reflected from that, in turn, to the shop below. There is consequently no glare and the light, which is very bright, is yet soft and soothing to the eyes. The entire department, to be brief, is after the very latest Fifth Avenue styles of New York, with birch wood cabinets of mahogany finish, disappearing glass doors, sliding shelves, tipping trays and innumerable ingenious and time and space saving devices that secure the very minimum of time in serving the prospective customer. The stock, in addition to being the latest in style and fashion, is first class and the purchaser is always sure of being well and faithfully served.

SUNBURN

To-day's Messages.

DEVALERA SPEAKS.

NEW YORK, July 11. Twelve thousand people heard Devalera, President of the Irish Republic, at a meeting here last night, under the auspices of the Friends of Irish Freedom. He said there were more Irish Nationalists in Belfast than in Cork. The Irish want their freedom, he said, freedom from the rule of baton and bayonet, from rifles, from machine guns, from invasion of their homes without writ or warrant; freedom from murder by British Government agents, freedom from invented crimes and imprisonment without trial. Resolutions were adopted denouncing the League of Nations as "a device to stifle the conscience of Christendom by prohibiting any nation from taking action to end atrocities perpetrated on people held in subjection against their will by an alien government," and demanding formal recognition of Irish republic by United States.

AIRMAN'S FATAL FALL.

PARIS, July 10. Sub-Lieut. Jean Navarre, one of the French aviators who was withdrawn from service because of his eccentric escapades, fell while flying near Versailles to-day, and is dead.

IN TOUCH WITH CLIFDEN.

LONDON, July 11. The R-34 was in direct touch by wireless, with Clifden Station at four o'clock this morning. Greenwich time. Her position was the forty-three, forty, north latitude; forty-six west longitude; speed 45 knots.

ORDER RESTORED.

ROME, July 11. Precautionary measures still continue in force here, but order has been virtually restored. Many shops are still closed.

BRITISH ARMY ABROAD.

LONDON, July 10. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter learns in regard to British forces Overseas, that the army on the Rhine numbers 206,000, and the army in France and Flanders 214,000, the latter mainly for salvage work, and also to supply the line of communication for the Rhine Army, of which it is to act as a reserve in the event of further hostilities. There are 11,000 British troops in Italy, including troops for clearing up purposes, and also a battalion forming part of the International expedition of Fiume. There are in India 44,000 British troops, besides Indian troops, including 22,000 in the Caucasus, with the object of keeping order, pending the establishment of peace conditions. The recent troubles in Egypt and the unsettled situation in Asia Minor necessitate the presence of 69,000 men, including 10,000 Anzacs in Egypt and Palestine.

ANOTHER HITCH.

PARIS, July 11. Ratification of the treaty of peace by German National Assembly at Weimar may be postponed to be sufficient, according to Petit Parisien. The new German Constitution provides that in cases where territory is ceded, ratification of treaties by states which lost territory is necessary, in addition to approval by the Central Government, consequently independent action by Bavaria for the Sarre basin, and Prussia, for territory restored to Poland may be required.

"RENOUW" FOR PRINCE.

LONDON, July 10. (Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Reuter learns that the warship Renown, escorted by two cruisers, will probably take the Prince of Wales to Canada.

OTTAWA SUGGESTED.

LONDON, July 10. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—In the House of Commons to-day, Major O'Neill asked the date of the special Imperial Conference to consider the future political inter-relationship of the Empire. Rt. Hon. A. Bonar Law in reply said many informal discussions which had occurred had been valuable.

The desirability of holding the conference at the earliest possible time is recognized by all parties but it is impossible to fix a date. Archibald Hurd asked whether the Govt. had considered a proposal to hold the conference in Ottawa. Mr. Bonar Law said this had not been suggested at any conference at which he had been present, but he would look into it. Mr. Hurd—"It has been suggested by these in authority." Mr. Bonar Law—"I am aware of that."

Obituary.

On yesterday after a truly remarkable life, death came to that distinguished and venerated gentleman, the late Mr. Andrew McDonald of Kilbride. What a privilege it was for those who had the pleasure of his acquaintance, the big and the small of our land who knew him felt that in his company they were near a man who had so many of the noble characteristics that always, a charming ease was felt by being near him.

As a storyteller and descriptive writer he had no peer. Often one marvelled at his wonderful memory. Many a one on hearing him felt that he was one of that class who, if opportunity offered, would have adorned a sphere of great importance in world affairs, but, being otherwise, he played his part and played it well, setting an example to all by his industrious habits. Though silent now his example lives after him. All the kind deeds and magnificent acts of his beautiful life stand out prominently, serving as an everlasting tribute to his memory. He walked in God's path, his life's work was a continuous prayer, his speech ever and always invoked the great Creator and thanked Him for His blessings.

We bid adieu to you now, old friend, we honor your memory and offer a prayer for the eternal repose of your soul. He leaves a widow, a son John, and a daughter, Mrs. LeFleur, also two grand-daughters and two grand-sons to whom we extend our sincerest sympathy.—Com.
