WILLIAM SMALL.
There passed to the Great Beyond yesterday, one of the oldest members of the Nfld. British Society, in the person of Mr. Wm. Small, Shoemaker. The deceased, who lived to the advanced age of 86, was born at Torquay, Eng., and came to Newfoundland in his infancy. About sixty-five years ago he joined the Nfld. British Society. For a number of years he gave faithful service in the employ of the late Roger Downs, and some time previous to the 1892 fire he went into business for himself, opening a store on New Gower Street. About 20 years ago he retired. During his long career the deceased enjoyed excellent health, and it was only about a week ago that he began to fail. He leaves to mourn a wife and two daughters. Mrs. Blois, residing in Nova Scotia, and Mrs. W. Percival of this city, and a large circle of friends. The funeral takes place on Friday from No. 12 Freshwater Road, the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. W. B. Percival, at 2.30 p.m. The Telegram joins in expressions of sympathy to the bereaved family.

Health and Comfort in the Home.

Many a chill can be avoided by the wise use of heating with ever-ready gas stoves. An inset gas fire can easily be installed in any ordinary coal grate, and will provide the necessary warmth at any time.

Gas fires make no work. There is no Coal to carry up stairs, and no ashes to be cleared away. They are ideal for use in daintily appointed rooms. There is no smoke or dust. They also ventilate the room. Enquiries solicited.

The Educational Side of the H. J. Crowe Enterprise

HAMPDEN, White Bay, Nov. 26th, 1923.
To the Editor Evening Telegram.
In connection with the operations recently opened up here by Mr. Harry J. Crowe a most enthusiastic gathering assembled in the New School House to welcome Miss May Lowrie and Miss Macaulay who have been engaged to teach the children and carry on welfare work in this community of over seven hundred now comfortably settled for the winter in about one hundred and ten little houses or shacks built within the past six weeks. This is in addition to the large number of single men living in Mr. Crowe's logging camps. Mr. W. M. Balfour, the popular manager of Mr. Crowe's was chairman of the meeting and very ably executed his duties.

Never in the history of White Bay have the people shown such interest in the Educational advantages now offered their two hundred and forty-five (245) children of school age who have recently settled here from La Sca, Paquet, Fleur de la, Seal Cove, Harbour Round, Woodstock, Bryans Cove, and other places on the North Coast, many from destitute homes. At the close of the meeting the large audience gave vent to their feelings by a round of ringing cheers for the leaders of this movement.

Miss Lowrie addressed the meeting with deep feeling and referred to the call she received from Mr. Crowe to come to Newfoundland, as a cry from Macedonia, to "Come over and help us". She thanked the people for their hearty welcome and demonstrated briefly in a fascinating way a few of the latest methods for training children in creating constructive thought and quickening their observation.

Miss Lowrie has a wide experience having taught in England a number of years, spent the last three years studying Canadian Methods in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Nova Scotia. Recently she has been lecturing and demonstrating Kindergarten, Primary Methods to teachers in Nova Scotia. Miss Lowrie brings with her to Hampden the most up-to-date methods and equipment for Kindergarten, Primary and also Senior Departments.

Miss Macaulay with a pronounced Irish accent made a most favourable impression in her address particularly to the mothers. She is a trained Welfare Worker from Ireland and has spent the last two years in Canada where she was Superintendent of a Social Service Association at Vancouver, B.C. Recently she has been actively engaged in welfare work in Toronto.

Miss Macaulay in addition to carrying on Welfare Work in the homes intends having a social evening each week for the men as well as the women when matters of Health, Home Economics, Demonstrations in Cooking, also Debates, Games and other Entertainments will make up the programme. The women met Miss Macaulay later and appointed their officers for carrying on their winter work.

Miss Lowrie and Miss Macaulay laid stress upon the importance of starting a new centre of the Scotch Knitting Industry among our women and girls. This work has been inspired by Lady Allardice, wife of our much esteemed Governor. In referring to this work Miss Lowrie pointed out that the fisher girls of Newfoundland had earned four thousand dollars during the month of September. Needless to say the women of Hampden intend to be second to none in skill and production.

Messrs. Joseph and George Burton were chosen to speak on behalf of the people of Hampden. These men were leaders in the communities from which they came and since coming here have been so recognised in religious and social affairs. They referred to the failure of the fishery which forced them from their homes and with warmth declared that had it not been for the employment offered at Hampden many of them would have faced starvation during the coming winter unless the Government had sent them relief. What was appreciated more than anything else in connection with their employment at Hampden was the chance to work near their homes, thus enabling them to look after their families in providing fire wood, etc. It was for this reason they had brought their families to Hampden and if labour could not have been secured within easy reach of their new homes they would have suffered. Messrs. George and Joseph Burton both spoke with deep feeling about the lack of educational advantages in their native villages which is evidenced by so many young and old who are unable to read and write.

Judging by the reception Mr. Crowe received on rising to introduce the new settlers of Hampden adding that never in all his experience in various parts of the island had he found a community so united in a desire to improve their conditions and with such determination to make good. He spoke of the manner in which the people of White Bay were endeavored and what meant to the future of the children received an education through the modern methods of Miss Lowrie. He said the parents would make sacrifices in their power to preserve children who are the future of the country from being underhand which they had because of being deprived of opportunities.

Mr. Crowe closed his remarks with an appeal to take better care of their bodies and went fully into the subject of the "consumption of flour, more white flour and white flour which he noticed particularly in White Bay. He said its food value and the effect of so much of this food and unwholesome food—a mass of starch." He hoped that the coming of the efforts of the people of Hampden this winter and the long years of ever increasing employment work which he believed was carried on in this part of the Bay would be felt with better suits in all sections of the island. A campaign had been started for whole wheat with good prospects of success. Musical programme which was highly applauded was as follows:—

Song—"Annie Laurie" by Lowrie.
Song—"When Irish Eyes are Smiling" by Miss Macaulay.
Song—"Where the River Flows" by Mr. A. Poole.
Mr. Poole was visiting here on business in the interests of the Roll Band Company and made a contribution to the programme. Miss Lowrie also gave a recitation "A Frenchman's Idea of a Garden of Eden" which was met with laughter and applause. A very enthusiastic and successful meeting a red letter day for the den was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.
