Fortune Found Sewn Up

IN SEAMS OF TWO OLD SKIRTS OF AN ONTARIO WOMAN.

ST. CATHERINES, Ont., Oct. 28.—In this instance it was not the case of the old arm chair which held its fortune in ancient banknotes. It was two old skirts, one black, the other green, in which the owner, the late Mrs. Isabelle Tehan, of St. Catharines, had sewn up $4,874, presumably the bulk of the accumulated pay envelopes of her husband for thirty-five or forty years.

These interesting facts came to light this afternoon in an action in the Supreme Court, in which Mr. Justice Mowatt was asked to declare that the money so curiously hoarded was the sole possession of Mrs. Tehan, and did not belong to her husband, Timothy Tehan, who died a year ago. His wife, who had been taken to the asylum, followed her husband in death six weeks later.

It was generally believed Mrs. Tehan had a hoard of money, but where she had hidden it was the mystery. A neighbor woman one day, however, obtained a clew when Mrs. Tehan, on offering to pay her for some service, reached down and took a five-dollar bill from her stocking. "Not an unusual place to carry money, I am told," remarked Mr. Justice Mowatt dryly.

"At any rate, that gave me the idea she was hiding that money in her clothing," went on the witness, "especially as, whenever she spoke of being taken anywhere, she always insisted that, wherever she went, her trunk upstairs would have to go with her." Finally, a search was made, and the fortune was found sewn up in the two skirts, all of it in small rolls in the bottom seam and at the waist.

R. B. Johnston brought suit on behalf of a nephew, claiming he was the only relative of either the husband or wife. After considerable evidence had been heard, His Lordship suggested a settlement of the case, and it was finally agreed that the amount be divided equally between the estate of Timothy Tehan and his wife, the latter half to go to her nephew, Irwin.

Blame Weather Man

FOR PLANE'S WRECK.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The Weather Bureau to-day was unofficially blamed by Navy officers for the wreck of 17 Navy planes on Chesapeake Bay, near Baltimore, yesterday.

Officials said the bureau's storm warnings issued Saturday night were for strong south and southwest winds Saturday night and Sunday morning, shifting to the northwest Sunday afternoon.

According to unofficial reports reaching the department, which has not yet had any official word of the accident, the destructive gales blew from the southwest Sunday afternoon. Precautions had been taken for winds from the opposite direction.

Neglected Coughs

Often lead to serious trouble—Are quickly relieved by Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine.

Many people regard a cold as a simple incident. But Coughs and Colds when neglected lead to pneumonia and consumption—the most dreaded diseases common to this Northern Hemisphere.

Dr. Chase's Syrup of Limes and Turpentine is well-known as a most effective treatment for coughs, colds, bronchitis, croup and asthma. For many years it has held its place in the homes of Canada as absolutely dependable and was never so popular as it is today.

Composed of simple and yet powerfully effective ingredients it is suitable for children and adults alike and is found constantly in most homes for use in case of emergency. Prompt treatment is half the battle when fighting colds.

Abolish Knife in Minor Surgery, is Aim of Movement

CAMPAIGN FOR MORE UNIVERSAL USE OF GERMICIDES DECIDED UPON.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 29.—A movement that may result in the abolition of the use of the knife in all minor and some major operations was started in a session of the fifteenth annual congress of the American College of the American College of Surgeons.

The board of regents of the college decided to inaugurate at the continental of the birth of Lord Lister, originator of antiseptic and germicidal surgery, next April, a campaign of research and propaganda for the development and more universal use of those germicides which attacked diseased cells in the body without destroying healthy tissues.

The board resolved that the use of such germicides instead of the knife had already been amply justified, and also that the profession should know more about the new technique.

If a man had an external abscess, speakers said, the only treatment had been the knife. It was pointed out that germicide had been discovered which would destroy the abscess cells and leave the living tissue unharmed.

German Cabinet Makes Decision to Stay in Office

CRISIS OVER LOCARNO.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—(Associated Press Despatch)—Chancellor Luther's cabinet at a meeting to-day decided to remain in office, notwithstanding the resignation yesterday of the three Nationalist ministers, whose party has declared its dissatisfaction with the security agreement negotiated at Locarno.

Three Ministers Resign.

Berlin, Oct. 26.—(Associated Press Despatch)—The expectation prevailed in Berlin to-day that Chancellor Luther would fill the gap made in his cabinet by the resignation of three Nationalist members, Herr Schiele, minister of the interior; Dr. Von Schlehen, minister of finance; and Dr. Albert Neuhaus, minister of economics, and then go before the Reichstag and request ratification by that body of the Locarno security pact and arbitration treaties.

The resignation of the ministers was not unexpected, for on Friday the governing board of the Nationalist party declared the Locarno agreements unsatisfactory.

Notwithstanding the adverse feeling among the Nationalists, it is asserted to be the intention of Chancellor Luther, who is backed by Foreign Minister Stresemann, to proceed along the peace lines laid down at Locarno. The chancellor is asserted to believe that when the question of the Locarno agreements comes up in the Reichstag he will be given a strong majority through the aid of the middle parties and the Socialists.

Too Late For Dissolution.

A suggestion that President von Hindenburg might dissolve the Reichstag and call for new elections is thought to be impracticable, as the time for the signing of the agreements, December 1, is too near.

The opposition of the Nationalists to the Locarno pact is in great measure based on the belief that the allied promises regarding Germany's demands for concessions in the Rhine land have not been fulfilled.

Relics of Rum Running

REGINA, Sask., Nov. 3.—Riddled with bullets, two powerful touring cars, relics of the rum-running days of Regina, under the prohibition regime, were the focus of interest at a sheriff's sale here.

The sale was made under a judgment given Alfred Rubin, of Montreal, against the Prairie Drug Co., Regina, in the Court of King's Bench, recently. The sale realized $16,000.

Besides the two old cars, there were 1,200 cases of empty bottles, a still, 220 oak barrels, 19 hogsheads, 185 steel drums, 23 small kegs and 14 crates of pint flasks, the full paraphernalia for the liquor manufacturing firm of several years ago.

Listed for sale were 199 drums of pure alcohol, containing a total of 23,000 gallons, but these were not sold. The Liquor Board refused the sheriff permission to dispose of the spirits, which were under bond.

Practically all of the material was bought by Mr. Rubin, who originally started the action in connection with some liquor deals made several years ago. If some means of selling the alcohol can be found, it is expected that the balance of the judgment will be realized.

Preserving the Buffalo

EDMONTON, Alta., Nov. 3.—Professor W. H. Rowan, of the University of Alberta, with his assistant, W. McDonald, has returned from the Wood Buffalo reserve at Fort Smith, following a successful expedition into the Northland, for museum specimens of wood buffalo.

He brought with him the skulls, hides and requisite skeletal remains of two buffalo bulls, and also a number of old skins found on the preserve.

The Alberta professor stamps as incorrect the stories to the effect that the buffalo were trekking south. Rangers who have made careful observations of the plains buffalo, according to Professor Rowan, found that the animals were settling down well and were mixing amicably with the larger woods buffalo. Most of the plains animals, the rangers declared, were drifting to the southern end of the preserve, bordering on the Slave and Peace rivers.

The party left by wagon for the preserve, accompanied by rangers and guides, but most of the actual hunting was done on foot, with occasional trips on horseback.

The expedition left Edmonton on September 1. Permission had been secured to take three bulls and a cow, but animals were found to be scarce and difficult to catch. The park's superintendent, Mr. McDougall, has undertaken to secure the specimen purposes, the largest bull on the range, during the coming winter, as the ranger knows the particular haunts of this animal and can get him when a favorable opportunity presents itself.

Photographs of the woods buffalo were difficult to get, and light conditions were unsatisfactory when photographing the specimens shot by the expedition.

Rangers estimate that of the three herds of plains buffalo moved to the woods buffalo reserve this summer, about 37 have crossed the Peace River to the wooded lands to the south. These animals are being watched as carefully as possible and every effort will be made to protect them even though they wander outside of the preserve.

A Travelling Grocery in the North

WINNIPEG, Alta., Nov. 3.—The old order of things is gradually being changed for the inhabitants of the far North. One of the primary and generally most exacting tasks of the backwoodsman in the past, has been that of transporting his camp supplies to the distant outposts.

If the idea set forth by Alex. Hamilton, of Lac La Biche, is capitalized and extended to the North generally, this problem has now been solved.

Mr. Hamilton, who recently reached Edmonton from the North country, told of taking the groceries idea into the Arctic. His power boat, he explained, had been fitted out with a varied assortment of provisions, displayed on shelves and counters just like in the city stores. His plan was that a novel trading ship, going into the north directly in the wake of the treaty-paying parties, would receive a good reception at the hands of the Indians. According to his story, his most optimistic hopes were fully realized.

A boat owned by a lumber merchant at Lac La Biche was purchased and shipped by rail over the railway to the end of steel. Here it was fitted with regular store fixtures and a stock of approximately seventeen tons of dry goods, groceries and other wares taken aboard for the long trip north.

Seventeen other traders, all fired with the same ambition, organized a similar expedition and succeeded in getting out of Waterways ahead of the newcomers. The "grocery" boat left three days after the enterprising traders, but rapidly gained on his rivals and overhauled them in Lake Athabasca. He reached Fort Fitzgerald well ahead of his competitors. Here the storehouse was greeted with great interest and a thriving business soon developed.

Word of the approach of the first "grocery" has spread down the river ahead of the trader, and everywhere a large crowd of Indians and traders were waiting the arrival of the novel store. By the time Akilavik, on the Arctic, was reached, the floating "grocery" was completely cleaned-out and the return trip to Lac La Biche started. More than 4,000 miles were covered. Mr. Hamilton proposes to make similar trips again.
