The Stock Exchanges.

Index of the Stock Exchanges.

London, Dec. 7.—During the past week discount was firm at 38 for three months and 38 for short terms. On the Stock Exchange business was dull. The recent rise was too rapid to last and has led to reaction. Toward the close of the year there is always a restriction of operations, but this year the movement has begun earlier and is more pronounced that usual. American railway securities above the New York lever meaning the securities and the second of The Stock Exchanges

In 1885.

The head of a prominent banking house in New York puts it this way: 'During the last three weeks the whole world has been paying its debts in London, making money easy there. Importers here are pressed to meet the duties payable before Feb. 1, and so are not buying sterling exchange now. The demand is really lighter than it has ever been known to be at this season of the year."

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

-If you're waking, get up early, If you're waking, get up early, god wife dear, For the weather-prophet says a storm To-morrow will be here. There'll be snow upon the walk, good wife, And it must be shorelled oif. But be sure you wrap up warmly, And be careful of your cough. Get the fire to burning brightly, Put my slippors by the stove, But take care you don't disturb me By an undue racket, love. When you've done all this, get breakfast, Have it nice and hot, you know, Then I'll rise and write a poem On the beauties of the snow.

—Mr. Harry Adcock, of Greeley, Col., formerly of this city, together with his wife, arrived here on Saturday afternoon last on a short visit to his parental home, Mr. Richard Adcock's, Richmond street north. It is a little over nine years since Mr. Adcock went out west. Since going to Greeley the place has doubled in population. He speaks in glowing terms of that part of Colorado for its stock and vegetable raising. Potatoes are an abundant crop, a twenty-acre field yielding a neighbor of his a little over $4,400, he having picked up one weighing five pounds. The locality is also noted for its stock-raising. Mr. Adcock will remain in the city until after New Year. There are several Canadians in the vicinity of Greeley. He is one of the steady, industrious young men who go out and grow up with anew country and become large owners.

Presentation to Superintendent Tait.

Mr. Thomas Tait has been presented with a very handsome testimonial on the occasion of his marriage. The gift was a sterling silver salver and a tea set, consisting of coffee pot, tea pot, sugar bowl, cream jug and bowl—all chased by hand and quite a work of art. The salver bears the following inscription: "Presented to Thomas Tait, general superintendent Ontario and Atlantic division, Canadian Pacific Railway, by the officers and employes on the occasion of his officers and employes on the occasion of his marriage, Dec. 10, 1890." Mr. Tait is one of the ablest as well as the most popular of Western railway men.

Narrow Escape from Death.

When Mr. James McKee, of Talbot street, came to his senses this morning about 10 o'clock he experienced a most painful and giddy sensation in the head, and at the same time became conscious that the house was filled with noxious gasses. Thoroughly alarmed he sought to rouse his wife, but was unsuccessful as she was completely asphyxiated. He then made his way with difficulty to the door, and being too weak to call for assistance he threw several pieces of coal against one of his neighbor's houses, and finally succeeded in attracting their attention. As soon as they were made acquainted with McKee's predicament the neighbors telephoned for Dr. Jones. The doctor was at his surgery and lost no time in making his way to the house. Mr. McKee was soon revived but his wife will not be able to leave her room for several days. A neglected coal stove was the cause of the mischief.
