

Right intent, integrity of purpose, high manufacturing ideals—these things have helped to put the Mason & Risch Pianos far to the fore—old fashioned virtues all, for which the world has not yet found a substitute—nor never will.

Strict adherence to these ideals has inspired us from the very first, with the inevitable result that the Mason & Risch Piano has been an instrument of reputation for over forty years, and is an instrument of reputation To-Day.

This reputation has become wider every year—but it's the same reputation.
