THE CLAIMS OF LOVE AND LUCRE.

The instance are very rare in which two strong wills can harmonize in close companionship.

Most young men study the character of women but little, because they have but little opportunity.

A brilliant match, in the eyes of the world, atones for low morale congenial tastes, and lukewarm hearts.

A woman possessing the best elements of womanhood cannot be happy with a man who has not a sound character.

It is hard to examine character, and profit by the study, after the heart has become the seat of an absorbing passion.

Wealth in hand, without business habits, business tastes, and business interests, is the most unreliable thing in the world.

"Love in a cottage!" is laughed at by very "judicious people" but it is a very sweet thing by the side of indifference in a palace.

Good business habits, good character, enterprise, ambition—all these combine—are almost sure to secure competence and success.

There is nothing more disgusting in all the world than that mercenary tie, which, under the name of marriage binds a woman to the bosom of one bought her with his money.

The wild cockatoos of Queensland, when plundering a cornfield, post sentinels to give an alarm. If one bird is shot, the others, instead of at once taking to flight, hover screaming over their dead comrade until many of them share his fate.

People who believe they are in the right are liable to insist too strenuously on their point of view. Thackeray says: "I believe it is by persons believing themselves in the right that nine-tenths of the tyranny of the world has been perpetrated."
