

EBEN HOLDEN

By IRVING BACHELLER

THE BOOK OF THE YEAR

In Its 55th Thousand.

"Way and way ahead of David Harum. Eben Holden is simply adorable."—Mary E. Wilkins.

"It brightened several hours of my recent illness."—Hon. John Hay.

"As pure as water and as good as bread."—William Dean Howells.

"'Eben Holden' is a noble creation. I have been wondering if I ever read so vivid and breathless a battle scene."—Harriet Prescott Spofford.

"I have read it with great interest in the honest and homely character which it describes with so much humor and naturalness."—Hon. John D. Long, Secretary of the Navy, United States.

"It is as far above and beyond 'David Harum' as noonday is above dawn."—Amelia E. Barr.

"Delightfully fresh and original."—Sarah Orne Jewett.

"The best story I have read in a long time. . . It photographs Horace Greeley to the life. . . You have represented the spirit of 1860 as correctly as if you had carried a torch in the Wide Awake processions."—Rossiter Johnson.

"The most vivid battle scene since Victor Hugo's description of Waterloo."—Dr. Louis Klopsch.

"A forest-scented, fresh-aired, bracing story of country and town life."—Edmund Clarence Stedman.

"The volume supplied me with several good laughs, as many sighs and sundry stray bits of philosophy which I seized upon."—Elbert Hubbard.

"It is sweet with the smell of the balsam. Whenever one finds a real book he or she owes it to the rest to tell them about it, that they may read and enjoy it, too. So I pass the word along, Read 'Eben Holden.'"—Margaret E. Sangster, in Collier's Weekly.
