Sir Arthur Currie,

February 12th, 1925

You will have got the notice calling the next meeting of the Committee for Friday the 20th. An earlier date had been suggested, but Dr. Rexford was absent from Montreal and as the meeting had to be called by his directions, the 20th was the earliest possible date.

When an earlier date was in mind, Mr. Cameron told me that you wished an afternoon meeting. There will be business enough for the whole day, but if you have morning engagements there will be no difficulty in holding this matter over for consideration until two - thirty or three in the afternoon.

I have not received the report of the sub-committee that was appointed to confer with you and some other McGill representatives, but if one reaches me in time I will send copies to all the members before the meeting.

Yours very truly,

Secretary
