WAS VALET IN DAYTIME AT NIGHT HAD SIDE LINE

Man Who Worked in Rich Homes
Possessed a Kit of Burglar's Tools.

Philadelphia, Aug. 11.—John William George, who was formerly a valet for Alfred G. Vanderbilt and E. C. Swift, and who has been acting in the same capacity for George D. Widener, confessed to-day that while he was so employed by day, he worked for himself at night as a masked burglar.

He operated with a full kit of burglar's tools and was masked so as to preclude being detected. His operations were mostly confined to the homes in which he worked.

George, who has been in the employ of Mr. Widener since October, 1904, was arrested on the charge of stealing money and jewelry from the Widener home.

When searched $25 of marked money, stolen from Mr. Widener, was found in the valet's possession. For some time money, jewelry and other valuables have mysteriously disappeared from the Widener home. An investigation was ordered and two men were detailed on the case. After questioning the various servants the men watched the valet's movements. After having him under surveillance for some time the detectives confronted him with the charge. At first he emphatically denied all knowledge of the thefts, but on close examination he broke down and made a full confession to eight robberies.

A search thru his room revealed a black mask and blackjack. These are now in the hands of the police, and will be used as evidence against him. George was taken to North Toronto last night, and at a hearing this morning Justice of the Peace Wood held him in default of $2000 bail.

George came from England four years ago, and was first engaged by E. C. Swift and later by Alfred G. Vanderbilt. For reasons unknown to Mr. Vanderbilt, George left his position on excellent references from his last employer got employment in the home of Mr. Widener. He soon gained the favor with Mr. Widener, and, being chief valet, had access to the entire home. At first small trinkets and various sums of money disappeared, of which no account was taken, but when he applied his operations to the servants' rooms the investigation followed which led to his arrest. All the thefts took place during the night.

George is engaged to wed Miss Hilda Peterson, a pretty Swedish girl, and from time to time made her the recipient of handsome gifts. Some of the presents amounted in value far in excess of what his salary warranted. The diamond engagement ring alone was valued at $200. Upon hearing that his fiancée was under arrest she collapsed. When asked if she had any knowledge of the valet's operations, she said she did not believe the young man guilty of any such deeds.

One instance of such deeds was shown when Mattie Carpenter, a servant, sent by mail $15 to a Boston rubber company. After sending the letter and placing it in the family's register box she requested the carrier to register the letter. George saw this particular box and abstracted this particular letter. After taking out the contents of the envelope he remailed the letter to the Widener home, and, writing as follows: "I found this in the street and kept the contents of it as my reward."

To Remind Him of Duty.
P. C. Marshall got married last night. His comrades in No. 1 division presented him with a handsome clock.

THOS. R. PARKER BACK FROM CUBA TALKS ABOUT INTERESTING TRIP

Prominent London Business Man Who Went South to See the Island is Greatly Impressed With It—Tells of Its Advantages and Prospects.

"Hadn't anything particular to do when I sold out my interest in the London and Petroleum Barrel Co. and retired to take a well-earned rest, so I decided to take a trip to Cuba. I found that the place really was like, as they fully remarked Thomas R. Parker of London, Ont., last night, at the Queen's Hotel, where he has been stopping since he arrived in Toronto for the past quarter of a century.

"What were my impressions of the place? Well, I was first impressed with the size, beauty, cleanliness and climate of the cities, the large number of Canadians and Englishmen there, and the splendid stores and houses, for now the suburbs of the city are filling up with Americans, who stay there all the year round, and have done much to enhance the living conditions and the beauty of the place.

"On board the steamer and in Havana I had heard much of the eastern end of the island," continued Mr. Parker. "I was told it contained the best land, and was in many ways preferable to the rest of the island. It is a grand place, liberally patronized by tourists, delightfully cool, even on the warmest of days, and its arrangements of big open-air halls, leading to a large courtyard, are such as you won't find elsewhere, and make most comfortable surroundings.

He visited Bartle.

"I was most interested in the stock. The cattle ranches are very fine, and a large business is done in the export of cattle. Going further east, along the Sir William Van Horne Railway, I looked over the land at Bartle, which struck me as an ideal place for a colony, being in the line of the Cuba Railway, which runs into the town site.

"In talking over the matter with a gentleman, who seems well posted in Cuban matters, I find it costs about ten dollars per acre to clear the land, and an extra twenty dollars will not only clear the land, but will plant it with sugar cane, the first cutting of which will take place a year from planting, and will more than pay clearing and planting. I understand, in such virgin soil as is found at Bartle, re-planting will be found unnecessary for from ten to fourteen years. It costs about $10 per acre to cultivate, and the first year, the average product, per acre in a cycle of eight years, is, over and above all expenses, $85 (some claim, several times that sum), which is considered a very conservative estimate, based upon actual figures of last year's crop.

"As to fruits, vegetables, coffee, tobacco, etc., profits vary according to location, soil, etc., but it has been demonstrated that the cultivation of all these articles is profitable.

"To build a cottage suitable for these articles, with a veranda and a large open-air hall, leading to a large courtyard, is such as you won't find elsewhere, and make most comfortable surroundings.

ALCOHOL MAY KILL BOYS.

Little Chaps Eat a Whole Jarful of Cherries They Were Soaking in It

Yonkers, Aug. 11.—Bennie Goldstein, aged 6, and his brother Able, aged 3, of 11 Yonkers avenue, were in a room on the ground floor of their home playing about 4 o'clock today, when Goldstein heard their mother crying. He found them writhing on the floor. The boys had discovered a large jar containing cherries, which were being soaked in alcohol. They had eaten almost the entire jar, and the mother, who had just returned from work, found them in this condition. It is said they may recover, although they are in a very precarious condition.

WHAT MONROE DOCTRINE IS ROOSEVELT EXPLAINS IT

Cannot Be Made Excuse for Aggrandise-ment of U. S. at Expense of Others.

Chautauqua, N.Y., Aug. 11.—President Roosevelt arrived here this morning, and delivered an address before the Chautauqua Assembly. He said, in part:

The Monroe doctrine is not a part of international law. But it is the fundamental feature of our entire foreign policy, so far as the Western Hemisphere is concerned, and it has more and more been meeting with recognition abroad. The reason why it is meeting with this recognition is because we have not allowed it to become fossilized, but have adapted our construction of it to meet the growing changing needs of this hemisphere. Fossilization, of course, means death, whether to an individual, a government or a doctrine.

The Doctrine Explained.

It is out of the question to claim a right and yet shrink the responsibility for exercising that right. When we announce a policy such as the Monroe doctrine we commit ourselves to accepting the consequences of the policy and these consequences from time to time may be of a serious nature.

Let us look at an excuse for what the Monroe doctrine really is. It forbids the territorial encroachment of non-American powers on American soil. Its purpose is partly to secure this nation against seeing great military powers, and partly to secure to our own people a peaceful and secure life without being oppressed or conquered by non-American powers.

As we have grown more and more powerful our advocacy of this doctrine has been received with more and more respect. But what has tended most to give the doctrine standing among the nations is our growing willingness to say and do what we mean, and to mean what we say. We mean to recognize our obligations to foreign people no less than to insist upon our own rights.

Its Object.

We can not permanently adhere to the Monroe doctrine unless we succeed in making it evident in the first place that we do not intend to treat it in any shape or way as an excuse for aggrandisement on our part at the expense of the republics to the south of us; second, that we do not intend to permit it to be used by any of these republics as a shield to protect their public from the consequences of their own misdeeds against foreign nations; third, that we do not intend to interfere with the course of events in any country, in good faith, try to help those of our sister republics which need help, upward toward the goal of their own independence.

I do not want to see any foreign power take possession permanently or temporarily of the customs houses of an American republic in order to enforce its obligations, and the alternative may at any time be that we shall be forced to do so ourselves.

Freight is Ditched.

Switch is Being Laid Around Wreck to Let Express Pass.

Huntsville, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—An accident to the G. T. R. extra way freight a quarter of a mile north of Huntsville at 6 o'clock this evening probably will hold up No. 5, which left Toronto at 1:45 p. m., two hours or more before it was expected to arrive.

North Bay for mail makes connections at Huntsville, and being part of the 286 of a freight train from South River struck the wreck of a switch, and is now lying ditched, while a freight car is also off the tracks.

Assistance was sent up from Bracedown, and a switch is being constructed around the obstruction to enable the express to pass. A few hundred dollars will cover damages.

Great Northern Earnings.

New York, Aug. 11.—Preliminary estimates of the net income of the Great Northern Railway Company for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, after the effect of the fixed charges, indicate a sum not less than $2,500,000, as compared with actual earnings of the year before of $1,802,784. That is an increase approximately of $700,000. The gross earnings for the twelve months have already been stated and are $4,994,084, against $4,962,197 for the previous year, an increase of $31,887.
