DEALERS ARE NOT IN FAVOR OF ADVANCING MILK PRICESLeading Milk Men Talk of the Proposal to Raise Price of Milk to Eight Cents per Quart.A report that the price of milk would be raised from the present rate of seven to eight cents a quart, has been the subject of considerable comment, and from what has been gathered it is evident that the advance is being advocated by the Milk Producers' Association.Some of the farmers say an additional charge of a cent a quart would be fully justified on the ground that feed and labor are higher now than at this time last year, but some of the dealers contend that local dealers do not favor the idea of putting the price of milk up another notch, and do not purpose to submit to it without more than an ordinary protest.Rupert W. Wigmore, manager of the Sussex Milk and Cream Company, says that his firm do not favor any such change in figures, and points out that some of the members of the Sussex Milk and Cream Company are producers as well as dealers, and these contend that if they can produce milk and send it to the city at the present price and make a satisfactory profit on it, other producers should be able to do the same.Mr. Wigmore adds that without drawing on outside resources, the Sussex Milk and Cream Co. could supply only about one half their customers, and should the farmers on whom they are depending go back on them they would be forced to charge an extra cent a quart. This, they do not anticipate, as they have just taken on two more supply men at the old rate.Mr. Wigmore says he understands that a man at Bloomfield, is agitating among the farmers for higher figures for milk, presumably in the interests of the Milk Producers' Association. It is clear, however, from statements made by Mr. Wigmore, that the Sussex Milk and Cream Company will fight the advance, and are confident of coming out on top.Asked as to what the farmers at Sussex, Bloomfield and other places along the line received from the dealers for their milk, Mr. Wigmore said 37 cents for an eight quart can, and when landed here the milk cost them within a fraction of five cents a quart. Mr. Wigmore thinks that seven cents a quart is all that St.
John people can really afford to pay for milk.A. E. Macaulay was also communicated with and said that if the price of milk advanced a cent a quart it would cost St.
John people an extra $50 a day for the 5000 quarts that came over the I. C. R. line. Asked how much milk would be lost in St. John every day, Mr. Macaulay estimated about 10,000 quarts. Mr. Macaulay also said that the milk when landed here stood the dealers slightly over 4 1/2 cents a quart. This, of course, would include icing and freight. He had heard farmers speak of a higher figure, giving as reasons that labor cost more and feed was 83 a ton higher than last year. Mr. Macaulay said he did not advocate any further advance in the price of milk.H. M. Floyd, manager of the Clover Farm Dairy, says that he has also heard farmers say that they should get more for their milk, and has heard it stated that feed has advanced from $6 to $7 a ton since last year. He says, further, that he is told that where help cost $20 a month last year, it is difficult to obtain now, and costs about $10 a month more.
Relative to the price of milk to the dealer, Mr. Floyd quotes slightly less than five cents a quart, and says that the dealer is justified in asking an extra cent a quart as he must have a profit for handling it.A prominent local dealer when seen this morning informed the Times that previous to last September, when the price of milk was raised to the present figure, farmers received from the dealers 20 cents per eight quart can, or 2 1/2 cents per quart, during the summer, and 25 cents per can, or 3 1/8 cents per quart in winter.
This was raised to 25 cents per can for four months, and 30 cents per can, or 3 3/4 cents a quart for the other eight months.
If the proposed advance goes into effect, the farmers will receive 32 cents a can, or 4 cents a quart for nine months and 25 cents a can for the remaining three months.The same dealer adds that with the yearly expense for cans (which he declares in his own case averages about $200) and the requirement of the Board of Health relative to the cleansing of cans, will, if the price is advanced, mean that the people of St. John will be obliged to pay eight cents a quart for milk, instead of seven as at present.The dealer referred to has received a letter in behalf of the farmers of Bloomfield, stating that in view of the already high price of feed and the prospect of a still further advance, together with the scarce-ness of help, that they feel it will not be possible for them to sell their milk for less than 32 cents a can for nine months, and 25 cents a can for the remaining three months.The gentleman to whom the letter just referred to is addressed, adds that he does not favor an advance in the price of milk, but expects that some action will be taken by the farmers about the latter part of this month.HALIFAX FIREMEN
