

ATTACK ON COURT BY SENATOR

American Legislator Violently Condemned Government Judiciary—Radical Resolutions at A. F. L. Convention.

Hoots, jeers and hisses greeted the name of Chief Justice H. Taft of the United States Supreme Court, at Cincinnati on Wednesday, in the convention of the American Federation of Labor, which by scenes of wild demonstration, approved a stirring address by Senator R. M. LaFollette attacking and condemning what he termed the "judicial oligarchy."

Hailed by Samuel Gompers as "the tribune of the American people," Senator LaFollette was greeted with a storm of applause and cheering when he appeared before the convention as the principal speaker at the "child labor protest session." Delegates stood on chairs, pounded tables and shouted at the top of their voices as the senator launched forth in his assault on the federal courts, which he said "wrested the sovereignty from the people."

Time and again he was interrupted by demonstrations in which his powerful voice filled the big auditorium, which was jammed with the representatives of labor and spectators. His suggestion of a congressional veto on the decision of the Supreme Court was wildly acclaimed and will probably receive the support of organized labor of the United States. Thus for more than two hours labor tendered its ovation to the man who is expected to lead its cause on Congress for the next two years, and at the conclusion of his address unanimously ordered that it be printed for nation-wide distribution.

Assailing the decision of the Supreme Court in the Colorado coal case and in declaring unconstitutional the child labor law, Senator LaFollette turned to some federal judges who, he said, had shown themselves to be petty tyrants and arrogant despots, naming Judge Anderson of Indiana and Judge McClinton of West Virginia.

"We have created, or at least have suffered to grow up within our land, a Frankenstein which must be destroyed or else it will destroy us," shouted the speaker, as he offered for the approval of labor a proposed constitutional amendment to curb the powers of the Supreme Court and federal courts and "restore their government to the people."

The convention, upon conclusion of LaFollette's address, decided to organize a special committee to consider all the decisions of the Supreme Court and federal courts affecting labor and draw up a protest and outline a campaign to remedy the situation. "The best minds of labor," it was said, "will be drafted for membership on this committee."

SUMMONS SERVED AS SHE STEPS FROM BATH

Mrs. Robert W. Chambers Has Intruder in Home Arrested.

New York, June 17.—Mrs. Robert W. Chambers, wife of the novelist, was confronted by a precess server as she was stepping from her bath in the Chambers residence at 43 East Eighty-third street yesterday. The man, who was arrested later on a charge of grand larceny and disorderly conduct, was David Hartman of 1710 Union street, Brooklyn. A pearl necklace, valued at $2,765 was missed immediately after Hartman had served his summons on Mrs. Chambers in connection with a suit begun by the guardians of a boy struck by the Chambers automobile in March.

According to the story told by Mrs. Chambers to the police, Hartman, who denied having removed the necklace, rushed passed the maid in the hallway of the residence and began a rapid ascent of the stairs just as she was emerging from her bath. The screams of the maid drew Mrs. Chambers' attention, but before she knew what had happened the intruder burst into her room.

His conduct was menacing, Mrs. Chambers said, that she feared she was confronted by a madman. After thrusting the summons in her face, however, he turned abruptly, she said, and left the house. The necklace was on a table near the door of the library.

Gibbs in the Bronx County Court to serve not less than ten and not more than twenty years in Sing Sing prison. Liddle pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the first degree last Wednesday.

"This is one of the most heinous crimes ever brought to my attention," said Judge Gibbs in passing sentence. "It was the case of a deliberate murder and a most extraordinary instance of the disregard of human life, for here is a man who murdered his own child."

BURGLAR WHO SHOT OWN SHADOW GETS 15 YEARS IN SING SING

New York, June 17.—Patrick Lynch, nineteen, who shot at his own shadow while attempting to rob the home of Edward H. Jewett, a broker, at 245 East Sixty-first street, on the night of May 10, was sentenced to fifteen years in Sing Sing by Judge Johnstone in General Sessions. Lynch was released from Elmira Reformatory only a few weeks ago.

Seeing Lynch enter the room Mr. Jewett thought it was his son, and spoke. The intruder ran upstairs. As he reached the top floor the moonlight streaming in through a skylight threw his shadow against the wall. Lynch thought Mr. Jewett was pursuing and fired. Lynch was captured on the roof by a policeman.

He had entered the house through the skylight by means of a rope ladder. He pleaded guilty several days ago to burglary in the first degree.
