THE SUBURBAN
Ten minutes late was the record of the combination freight-suburban this morning from Hampton over the I. C. R. There were no complaints at this delay which is ordinary but suburbanites are not planning to take any chances on the train on a very cold or stormy morning as they expect the schedule to be sadly broken.

He asserts that his arrest was illegal and he contemplates taking action for false arrest against those involved in the matter, in order to protect his own reputation.

BOYS HAD GREAT TIME
One hundred and twelve boys, with nearly as many tin horns, made merry between the city and Brookville last night. They were members of the Every Day Boys' Club, and to be sure that they were members each showed his membership ticket before passing out of the hall into two big sleighs, which were crowded to their capacity. While they were away a strong committee of ladies and gentlemen made coffee in large boilers on two stoves, placed long lines of chairs down the hall, cut numerous cakes provided by generous ladies, and on their return the boys filed into their places and received their fill of refreshments. The cheers they gave for the Women's Canadian Club and for others made the ladies put their hands to their ears. A more favorable night for the drive could not have been selected, and one hundred and twelve happy boys were safely at home before ten o'clock.

Attacked By Man In Street

Young Woman Mistreated by Scoundrel—She Succeeds in Escaping After Hard Fight—Second Case in Which Apparently Same Man Figured

There was a very serious case of attempted assault upon a young lady in Paddock street last evening about ten o'clock.

She was going down Paddock street from Coburg, and when passing an alley a big good looking man, smooth shaven, and wearing a heavy overcoat which was open, stepped out quickly and seized her. His motive was not robbery. The young lady, who is active and vigorous, struggled bravely against him. Her coat was nearly torn from her back, her blouse was torn, and she bears on her wrist the mark of a large ring which the man wore on his hand.

She got her hand free, pulled out her hatpin and stabbed at her assailant with it, kicked vigorously and finally broke away. She had, fortunately, but a short distance to go, but left behind her hat and a new silk muffler. As soon as she went in and told her story two men went out and searched, but could find no trace of the assailant or the lost articles. Some change, amounting to nearly a dollar, loose in her pocket, was scattered and lost in the struggle. Although it was only about ten o'clock, no one was in sight as the street at that place is a quiet one, and there was also considerable fog. The case has been reported to the police. The man seemed to be between thirty and forty years of age.

This is the second young lady he has attempted to assault at the same place, but the first one also escaped after a brief struggle.

PADDOCK STREET IS SCENE

MONEY, REVOLVERS AND CARTRIDGES STOLEN

Break at Emerson & Fisher's Looks Like Work of Boys

A bold robbery which is thought to be the work of boys was committed on Thursday evening when the hands of Emerson and Fisher, Ltd., in Germain street were entered and some goods were taken. It was found that about $1 in change had been taken from the cash register which was broken open that several revolvers had been stolen, as well as several pieces of cartridges.

The city was made by means of a window in the rear of the building. As far as is known by the members of the firm no other goods were taken.

GIVEN INCH; TOOK ELL

The Experience of Lady Who Helps Down-and-Out Lad

Just after the burning of the Metropolitan a lady took pity on a mere youth who had been staying at that shelter, and gave him a meal, telling him he might return whenever he was hungry, but warning him not to tell the others about it, as she did not care to have visitors of that sort in numbers and at all hours.

The youth returned for quite a number of meals, for a week or more, and then ceased. Others, however, came in his place, and it was evident that before leaving the city, which he probably did, he had passed the word around that there was fairly good provender at such a number in such a street. The lady now regrets her willingness to open her door to the first comer.
