PARTING GIFT RECEIVED BY W. M. GEORGE

PRESENTATION OF RING EMBLEMATIC OF MASONIC ORDER TOOK PLACE AT BANQUET AT INGERSOLL INN THURSDAY NIGHT—LEFT FOR GALT TODAY

The presentation of a ring emblematic of the Masonic Order to Mr. W. M. George, as a parting gift, took place at a gathering of about twenty-five of his friends at the Ingersoll Inn Thursday evening.

Amongst his numerous friends the feeling was general that he should carry to his new sphere some tangible recognition of the esteem in which he is held here, and although the time was limited in which to complete arrangements for the banquet the event was a credit to the promoters and all who assisted with the details.

During the several years that he was identified with the Bank here Mr. George constantly added names to his list of friends and in leaving for a larger field he carried with him the well wishes of all for continued success and prosperity.

The banquet Thursday night was a tribute to his popularity. The gathering was presided over by Mr. H. P. Stoneman, who in discharging the duties of toastmaster called upon all in the room in turn for short addresses. Solos were contributed by R. W. G. Bloor and Mr. Alderson and Prof. Brown presided at the piano to the delight of all.

The accompanying address was read by Mr. W. H. McCreery and the presentation was made by Mr. R. Mc-Niven.

Mr. Wm. George. Dear Friend "Bill"—Having learned that you find it necessary to leave our midst, we feel that we would have failed in our friendship toward you had we not made a combined effort to bid you farewell and to wish you God-speed in your new field of labor.

"The loss that your absence will cause among us will be keenly felt by all; nevertheless, we rejoice to know that with your removal from Ingersoll goes promotion to a larger field of labor to which will be added greater responsibilities and opportunities, and which, we trust, will bring to you an abundance of happiness and prosperity.

"We beg that you accept this gift as a slight token of our esteem toward you at all times and may it ever serve to remind you that you have left behind in Ingersoll many who wish you every success in your new home, and who will be pleased to hear of that success in your business, financial and social world."

Mr. George replied in appropriate terms.

At a meeting of the Public Library Board held Friday evening it was moved by Mr. J. L. Paterson, seconded by Mr. John Shea that the Board place on record its appreciation of the gift of pictures by Mr. Harry Sutherland, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. Sutherland.

These two pictures of Queen Victoria and the Prince Consort arrayed in their Coronation robes will be a very valuable addition to the pictures now owned by the Library.

Miss McKellar was appointed representative of the Board at the Library Institute meeting at Galt on July 6.

WENT DOWN LIKE HEROES.

Particulars of the Death of Pte. Galpin, Who Fell at Langemarck.

In a letter received recently by a Hamilton officer particulars of the heroic death of Pte. Galpin, of Dereham, who fell at Langemarck were given. The letter in part is as follows:

"I am sorry to tell you that on April 23 Baillie and Galpin were killed in an attack on a German position by our regiment. Butler and T. Graham were wounded while Crossan, Wright and myself are without a scratch so far. Baillie was shot in the head and through the heart. Galpin, I could not say where, but Crossan saw him go down and found he was dead. Butler has two bullets in one leg and one in the arm. Graham is wounded in the legs also. I do not know how I escaped I'm sure, I was expecting it every minute. Probably skimming the ranges in Hamilton in the competitions learned me how to take advantage of cover. Any way I did not get a scratch and a medal to be able to write and tell you that our men went down like heroes."

LUCID STORY OF FIGHTING IN TRENCHES

BY MAJOR SUTHERLAND AT MONSTER DEMONSTRATION AT WOODSTOCK MONDAY — THE DEFEAT OF THE GERMAN DRIVE AT YPRES—THE HOSPITAL SERVICE.

Woodstock, June 28.—The city of Woodstock and Oxford County made welcome to Major Donald Sutherland who recently returned from the front on a three months' sick leave, having been wounded at the battle of St. Julien, and paid tribute to the late Lieut. C. A. James, who was killed in action on June 15, and to those other men who are now representing this county with the Canadian contingents in France and Belgium, when a big demonstration was held in the local arena to-night.

A monster procession, preceded by the 22nd Regimental Band and including the officers and men of the regiment, and about fifty gaily-decorated automobiles, was formed at the armories and proceeded to the Arena, where a capacity house greeted the guest of the evening. The program carried out included short addresses from Col. McMullen, Rev. R. B. Cochran, chaplain of 22nd Regiment, who led in prayer; Col. Mayberry, of Ingersoll; Major Sutherland; song by Mrs. Smith; speeches from Donald Sutherland, M. P.; E. W. Nesbitt, M. P.; V. A. Sinclair, M. P., and Col. John White interspersed with musical numbers from the band.

Vivid Account of Battle.

Major Sutherland, in an interesting address, gave an account of the incidents leading up to the time of the arrival of the 1st Battalion on the firing line, following this up with a lucid story of trench life, and the subsequent movements of his company and their participation in the defeat of the German drive on Ypres, in which he paid a glowing tribute to the gallant conduct of Lieut. James formerly of Woodstock, who was under his command, declaring that no more competent officer there was with Canada than Lieut. James. With minute detail, he described the advance of the Canadians in their counter-attack on the Germans, following the use by the latter of the asphyxiating gases, up until the time he was wounded, having his elbow shattered by shrapnel and receiving a wound in the head.

Major Sutherland proceeded then with a descriptive account of the hospital service, dealing with work of the stretcher-bearer corps, up until the wounded arrived at last in the modernly-equipped hospitals in England. His address was listened to by a crowd of about 3,000 people, who cheered him to the echo when he had concluded.

Following the program, those on the platform, together with Major Sutherland, were the guests of the officers of the 22nd Regiment at luncheon.

The Fee of Indigestion.—Indigestion is a common ailment and few are free from it. It is a most distressing complaint, and often the suffering attending it is most severe. The very best remedy is Parnee's Vegetable Pills taken according to directions. They rectify the irregular action of the stomach and restore healthy action. For many years they have been a standard remedy for dyspepsia and indigestion and are highly esteemed for their qualities.

DEBATE AT MEETING OF THE LEAGUE

MANY STRONG ARGUMENTS ADVANCED IN DISCUSSING SUBJECT "RESOLVED THAT JOHN WESLEY DID A GREATER WORK THAN MARTIN LUTHER."

The Epworth League, under the manhood department, Clifford Healy being vice president, conducted an inspirational debate Monday evening before a fine audience in the Methodist church. The Rev. Mr. Hill, who presided, conducted the devotional exercises and called the debaters to their appropriate places. The affirmative debaters were Mr. Wesley Manzer and Miss Caddy. The negative, Mr. Clifford Healy and Miss Stella Walker. The judges were Mr. Wally, Mr. Campbell and Mr. Roy Russell. The subject of debate was:

"Resolved that John Wesley was a greater man and did a greater work than Martin Luther."

At a glance it was seen that there came under review two great men of history—the one a great Englishman, Wesley, appraised by historians, beloved of his nation and honored with a tablet in Westminster Abbey; the other, Luther, a great German, honored by the fatherland and justly accorded a place of honor among great religious leaders.

The affirmative debaters opened their case by presenting the state of English society when Wesley began his work. The worldliness of the clergy, the oppression of ignorant miners, the drunkenness, blaspheming and even coarseness of the upper classes given to the race-track, hunt and gambling. Wesley's spiritual work was the silver lining on the dark cloud. The negative opened up their case by reproducing the religious state of Germany at the time of Luther. They portrayed the ignorance, superstition and cruelty of the Germans; the Roman priesthood was arrogant and tyrannical, dominating the private conscience, and monopolizing the right to interpret the Holy Scriptures. The abuse of indulgences had gone to shameless lengths and Luther nailed his thesis to the door of the Wittenburg chapel and began his reform. The contention was that as Protestantism is a larger and mightier movement than Methodism therefore Luther was the greater reformer. Wesley preached the forgiveness of sins and the internal witness of the Holy Spirit to the fact. Luther preached justification by faith, a doctrine which he found in a Latin version of the Bible in the library at Erford—being twenty years of age before a copy of God's work came to hand. Luther insisted on private right to interpret the word of God. He held that all ecclesiastical institutions, sacraments, the Bible and all else were aids to man who was greater than all these appliances. The church was not an end in itself but a means to help man into sunshine to God. It was claimed that Luther laid a larger foundation than Wesley. Comparing the men, it was shown they were both from poor houses, Wesley being a child of the rector at Epworth. They each had fine intellectual endowments. Each became a fine scholar, Wesley graduated in Oxford and became a Fellow. Luther likewise mastered the curriculum, became a philosopher, theologian, professor, singer and poet. Each was possessed of rare physical beauty. Luther by literary genius popularized the German language and placed the nation his debtor for ever. Their courage was compared, and their organizing powers, wherein Wesley the Englishman was the greater, self-denial, broadmindedness, progressive, vision, zeal, love of men and God came under historic review. The long drawn out shadow of the great Englishman and the great German leader attest their greatness before the world.

The judges having taken copious notes of the arguments and counter-arguments retired and after due deliberation returned when Mr. Wally delivered the verdict. He said they had carefully noted the varied arguments concerning the characters and achievements of these great historic individuals; they had due regard to the logic marshalling of facts, the rhetoric, attitude, manner and method and concluded that by a very narrow majority the negative had won.
