

ILLUSTRATING THE ATONEMENT.

DR. TALMAGE GLORIES IN THIS RELIGION OF BLOOD.

He Explains the Theory of Vicarious Sacrifice—The Blood of Christ—Cases of Substitution—Life For Life—Suffering For Others—A Frequent Occurrence

Rev. Dr. Talmage on Sunday preached from the text Hebrews ix, 22, "Without shedding of blood is no remission."

John G. Whittier, the last of the great school of American poets, died in the last quarter of a century brilliant, and in the prime of his life, one morning after a walk in the woods.

He died in the prime of his life, one morning after a walk in the woods. He was a poet, a man of letters, a man of high character.

He died in the prime of his life, one morning after a walk in the woods. He was a poet, a man of letters, a man of high character.

He died in the prime of his life, one morning after a walk in the woods. He was a poet, a man of letters, a man of high character.

He died in the prime of his life, one morning after a walk in the woods. He was a poet, a man of letters, a man of high character.

so to the front and why did those young men, postponing the marriage day, start on a hazardous journey, collecting and bringing back? For the country they died, life for life. Blood for blood.

But we need not go so far. What is that monument in Greenwood? It is to doctors who have died in the great epidemics. Why go? Were there not enough sick to attend to these northern latitudes? Oh, yes! But the doctor puts a new medicine in his valise and some vials of medicine and leaves his patients here in the hands of other physicians, and takes the train.

Before he gets to the infected region he passes crowded rail trains, regular and irregular, and he sees the faces of the populations. He arrives in a city over which a great horror is brooding.

He goes from couch to couch, feeling of the pulse and studying symptoms and prescribing day after day, night after night, until a fellow physician says, "You had better go home."

You look miserable. But he cannot rest while so many are suffering. He goes on until some morning finds him in a delirium in which he talks of home, and then rises and says he must go and look to his own family.

He goes on until some morning finds him in a delirium in which he talks of home, and then rises and says he must go and look to his own family.

I mean, that is what all those who have ever had their heart changed mean by "blood." I am thrilled as I see the suggestive color in sacramental cup, whether it be the blood of the Eucharist, or the blood of the martyr, or the blood of the man who has died for his country.

Now I see why the destroying angel passing over Egypt in the night spared all those houses that had blood sprinkled on their doorposts.

Now I know what Isaiah means when he speaks of "one that is not afraid of the sword." He is speaking of the man who has died for his country, and whose blood is sprinkled on the ground.

Now I know what Isaiah means when he speaks of "one that is not afraid of the sword." He is speaking of the man who has died for his country, and whose blood is sprinkled on the ground.

Now I know what Isaiah means when he speaks of "one that is not afraid of the sword." He is speaking of the man who has died for his country, and whose blood is sprinkled on the ground.

Now I know what Isaiah means when he speaks of "one that is not afraid of the sword." He is speaking of the man who has died for his country, and whose blood is sprinkled on the ground.

ALL UPSET.

What's the home-coming lot? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the country comin' to? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

What's the world a-comin' to? Poverty or riches? Men ain't no more, say, 'Twas all upside down, Husbands got 'em, 'Twas all upside down, Women wear 'em bloomers, 'Twas all upside down, Men wear 'em dikes—Ever see the likes?

of skirts and a ripple of tongues had taken its place. "Eva—Eva—the last time, perhaps," she turned again, laughing. "Quick!" she said; "some one will see."

A woman may forget many things, but no woman ever forgets the first time she was around her young man and a lover's lips upon her own. And as Eva sat in the corner of a third-class carriage in the London train next morning, looking forward to the career before her, the remembrance of the support of Allan's arm persisted in obtruding itself.

Such small success as may come to the inexperienced girl upon her first mention into literature came to Eva. She lived sparingly, refused hard, and never made the mistake of working her fingers to the ground for work.

She had not forgotten, Eva picked up the letter from the hall table, looked quickly round at the door, and at the closed dining-room door, and at the balcony door that led to the kitchen.

It was not as though Allan Craig had never kissed Eva Norrington. She opened the letter—cutting the envelope with her nail scissors. For a moment she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter.

It was not as though Allan Craig had never kissed Eva Norrington. She opened the letter—cutting the envelope with her nail scissors. For a moment she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter.

It was not as though Allan Craig had never kissed Eva Norrington. She opened the letter—cutting the envelope with her nail scissors. For a moment she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter.

It was not as though Allan Craig had never kissed Eva Norrington. She opened the letter—cutting the envelope with her nail scissors. For a moment she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter, and then she looked at the letter.

SPECIAL VS. GENERAL FARMING.

The Farm and Home Price Easy on Which Pays the Better.

At first thought it would seem that the man who does special farming has a better chance for success than his neighbor who raises a little of everything, but in the long run this is not true.

The special farmer must have much more surplus of money for his general expenses than the general farmer. The special farmer is apt to look on many things, especially fruit, as a needless expense, but the general farmer knows that the best of everything for one's family and in many cases out of ten there will be plenty to sell.

Mixed farming pays best year in and year out and he who follows this occupation has all seasons for his crops. You will find him reaping a steady harvest from garden, poultry yard and fields.

As a rule the men who do all sorts of farming are honest and contented. They are not so much interested in the profits as the men who do only one thing. They are more interested in the work itself.

Cattle Individuality. Cows have their individuality somewhat as people have theirs. Some require a little more of one thing and others of another. One cow may be more fond of green grass than another, or of food of another kind, than can another cow.

Pushing Early Lambs. The principal object to be secured in raising early lambs for market is to mature a fine animal of good size and good quality.

Corner Drug Store. We have a full line of the leading English, American and Continental Trunks, many with a large stock of our own make.

Our Store is filled with Bargains. HERE ARE A FEW: Men's Strong Tweed Suits $2.69. Youths' Suits, same as above chest 33 to 35, $2.49. Boys' Blue Serge Sailor Suits 65c. Men's Strong Tweed Pants, 3 Pockets, 59c. Boys' Short Pants 25c. E. F. WATERHOUSE MAKING GOOD BUTTER.

Mr. F. A. Leighton, formerly dairy instructor at Ames, Iowa, says: "One butter maker will win the sweepstakes at a convention, but he does not do it the second time. Why? Because he don't know how he did before, and when he comes to make a second tub-like the one that he won with at the previous show, he is entirely in the dark."

Below will be found the only complete weekly up-to-date record of patents granted to Canadian inventors in the above countries, which is furnished us by Messrs. Exporters, K. H. Office, Canadian Bank of Commerce Building, Toronto, Branch Office, Montreal, from whom all information may readily be obtained.

INGERSOLL MARKETS. Table listing various market prices including wheat, corn, and other commodities.

RUPTURE CURED at Small Cost. By feeding the ewes liberally so that they can supply plenty of milk, and feeding the lambs liberally, a good growth can be readily secured.