- - - AUGUST 14, 1884 The Picnic Boy. The Sunday school-house-pic-nic boy Is on the war-path now, With malice prejense in his heart Defiance on his brow; We know, yes, well we know he is, Alack-a-day! alas! We found it out the other day, When sitting on the grass With raptured thoughts of heav'n born bl And hearts surcharg'd with mirth, And not a single thought be twixt Ourselves and mother earth, As suddenly we rose and found, With sad and angry hearts, By that cub's undermining tricks We'd squashed a plate of tarts; And when we turn'd to drown our grief, We felt at once that he Had placed a pinch of horrid salt In each one's cup of tea, Exasperating way, Abut our looking the last of the heart of the weather that the heart of the same that the asperating way, it our looking "bully cheap, d" how's yer purp to-day?" 'ran to catch him e'er he fell," t only tore our clothes,

His finger at his nose.

But punishment o'ertaketh guilt,
And has done since the fall,
"The mills of gods grind slowly,
But they grind exceeding small,"
And this young, risinz, Christian boy,
Who goes to Sund; y school,
Is no—sweet heav'n be prais'd and thank'd
Exception to the rule;
For, shortly after, prowling round
Anidds some stumps of trees,
He poked and stirr'd, midst other things,
A nest of bumble-bees;
Oh what an active Band of Hope
He suddenly became!
Such howling, acrobatic feats,
Would add to Barnum's fame:
He rubb'd, and scratch'd, and raced areund,
A sort of "as you please"
Whilst, putting in a pile of work,
Those pious busy bees
Rebuked in sharp and stinging terms
That low blaspheming lad,
Whose sentiments were more than strong,
And less refined than sad.
O! kindly fates, who curs'd us with
The school-boy's baneful glee.

The Weak and the Impure. The merry little mountain brook, as it lightly dances over the rocks and sparkles in the sunshine on its way down to the river, is pure and clean. It is active; therefore, it is healthy. It is vigorous; But the sluggish pool, where the current is not strong enough to keep the water in motion, is stagnant and foul. Dirt and rubbish are thrown into it, and stay there. Impurities and vile odors make it a breeder of disease and an object to be avoided. When the blood is strong and rich and to wet a cloth in boiling water and wrap veins, the system is hearty and healthy. When the blood is thin and poor and weak, impurities and defilements creep into it, and it has no strength to cast them out. Then the system runs down. Shaker Blood Syrup purifies and enriches
