The club decided to hold a public meeting in the York Theatre in the near future, the speakers on that occasion to be members of the club. The object of this is to incite a keen interest among the young men of this city. That indeed is the object for which the club was organized. It has been felt for some time that the young men, on whose shoulders practically rests the destiny of this country, should be taken more into the confidence of the directors of public affairs and made acquainted with the conditions which go to make and support good government. It was the unanimous feeling that the organization should be called the R. L. Borden Club, and its members will unquotheelly in their future.
