grave and serene as that of a man writing in his own library. He stood there amid the crack of rifles and the whistling snarl of the bullets and wig-waged without heeding anything but his business.

By C. L. Gilman. Signaling or "wig-wagging" is a mighty important part of scouting.

When the U. S. Army in Cuba was fighting the Spaniards near Guantanamo, it became necessary to send a message for assistance from the shore to one of our warships by wig-wag.

You may never be called upon to stand up and wig-wag messages with the enemies of your country shooting at you.

PORKY FLYNN NEW FACTOR

Boston Man Won Decision Over Sandy Ferguson's Conqueror in 12-Round Bout—A Great Surprise.

Porky Flynn jumped into the limelight Tuesday night at Boston by gaining the decision over Jim Barry of Chicago in their twelve round bout at the Armory A. A. There were times when it looked very rocky for Flynn but he weathered the onslaught and, displaying unusual nerve, laid such good work that the referee pointed to him as the winner. In view of the past performances in the ring of both men, it looked to the majority of the fans that it was a cinch for Barry, not only to win, but to do the trick before the limit was reached.

PROPER SPHERE OF ATHLETICS

President Cutten in Address at Acadia Tells Students That Games Should Not Interfere With Studies.

Wolfville, Nov. 3.—President Cutten gave an interesting address on Athletics to the students of Acadia College yesterday morning.

In speaking of college athletics in particular, he remarked, "All of the students of a college cannot be on the various athletic teams, thus only the choicest athletes are chosen to represent the institutions, and this does not give the other students a fair show.

There is too much ill feeling among colleges because one institution has better athletes than the other. There is, however, never any ill feeling because one college has better students than the other.

Dr. Cutten said that he did not want too much time taken up with athletics at Acadia. He wished the college athletes success, and wanted them to do their very best and to go into the struggle whole souled, determined to carry Acadia's colors to victory.
