fooling amounts almost to excitement. In Glasgow the price has run up to 60s., and a very firm trade has been done during the week. Mr. Houston writes me from Glasgow that there is a good demand for good Canadian cheese, which is scarce, and 60s. is readily paid. From all appearances there will again be a warm finish to the scaron, with every probability of higher prices than last year, which should allow the first consignments of the next season freet play. It must not be forgotten, however, that buyers have to contend against the unwillingness of retailers to go above a certain value, and with the necessities of cutting as low figures the 60s. limit is not easily passed. A large wholesale house here who also retail tell me their counter customers are kicking because they have been compelled to raise prices to le. per lt. f. Canadian cheese, which even then does not leave them much margin."

Eage are still rather scarce here, and the local demand for good, fresh near-country produce in this line is brisk. A Montreal report is —"The movement in eggs was only fair. Montreal limed are steady at 14c. to 15c. The Eastern American markets held up well to the great advantage of this market, as many of the Western eggs now going 'n New York and Boston would, under ordinary circumstances, come to Montreal to compete with local stocks. Shipments are still being made from here to Boston." A London writer says.—"Eggs are a better trade this week, supplies being shorter and demand awakening. Retes range from 5s. for German up to 10s. Cl. for ex-selected French per 120. Canadians are quiet in Liverpool and Manchester at 5s. to 8. A little while back I had something to say about the difficulty of disposing of pickles, buyers hawking them about at ridiculous prices, and still failing to effect sales. The condition now is even worse than when I wrote, and will, if possible, be more so with the advent of fresh stock in quantity. It is said that contracts at 8s. to 8s. 6d. still in force are bringing ruin on the contractors, who am, at the outside, do no better than 7s. 6d. for their best lots, while rough stuff is being given away as low as 3s. 6d. This is simply terrible, and it is doubtful whether contractors ever before in the history of the trade met with such disastrous reverses. The lesson to be drawn from this is a serious one for Canadians, who should pause before they embark on the pickling business for export on the scale which I understand is contemplated for next sesson in Ontario. Eggmen here weep at the word pickles."

Sugar has been a slow market here during the past week owing to the great uncertainty that prevails as to price in the future. A war has been organised in Montres!, Quebec, Toronto and other Canadian cities between the "grocers' guilds," who are united to advance the prices of manufactured sugar, and independent wholesalers who have combined to knock them down. Both sides are reported to be well prepared for the fight, which the general public will watch with much interest. Meanwhile the Montreal Trade Bulletin reports as follows:—"Some heavy transactions have of late taken place in raw sugar for account of Montreal refiners, the total value of which is estimated at within the vicinity of $2,000,000. The purchases consist of East India, Java, Brazil and beet produce, part of which has been bought in the English market and part direct from points of production. Considerable beet and Java sugars have been contracted for, as well as Cuba centrifugals, which latter are largely used in the manufacture of granulated, but comparatively little Brazil, owing to the short crop of the latter and the fact that the Brazilians now refine much of their raw product, leaving them comparatively little to axport. The trade here anticipated a largely in creased consumptive demand during the coming season, owing to the low price of the refined article, and consequently a heavy importation of raw, both beet and cane, may be looked for. There appears to be a complete absence of speculation in this market, although a fair movement is in progress, sufficient to supply legitimate requirements; but beyond this dealers do not feel inclined to go at present."

Molasses.—The local demand for molasses continues slow and the supply is small—in fact it is said that there is little or none now in first hands. Of the new crop the Montreal Trade Bulletin reports as follows:—"The season for Barbadoes molasses opened on Monday last at the Island at 20c. f.o.b. or equal 15½c. per gallon first cost and about 35½c. laid down here. The opening price last year was 15c. first cost. The new season opens with comparatively light stocks in Montreal, although it is claimed that they will be ample for all-consumptive wants between now and the arrival of the new product. Considering the low prices of American syrups, the value of Barbadoes molasses has kept up remarkably well, which demonstrates that French consumers will have the genuine Barbadoes, despite the chezpness of substitutes. It would therefore seem that Barbadoes molasses may always be depended upon as a staple article of consumption in this Province, the cheaper imported substitutes such as New Orleans and other kinds, being used chiefly in Ontario. Advices from the Islands indicate a fairly good crop of both sugar and molasses in contradistinction to the short yield of last year, and consequently prices should be reasonable."

Tea.—The market here remains in pretty much the same condition as last week and there is nothing of interest to report. Still there has been a rather improved enquiry which will probably develop into business.

a rather improved enquiry which will probably develop into business.

Coffee —There is very little locally to report, but certain lines have a little higher tendency. In the London and New York markets, all coffees have advanced since last week from ¿c. to lc. per lb., No. 7 Rio spot being now held at 14 ic. to 15c. in New York, and Santos sympathizing with it. Maracaibos have advanced ¿c. since the previous steamer, good Cucuta being sold in invoice lots at 21 ½c. Mochas are also held at about ½c. higher. Advices from Rotterdam state that an advance of 3 phennings per kilo (equal to 1½c. per lb) has taken place in Javas in that market.

John O'Brien, Esq., Antigonish writes: -"I have been a sufferer from dyspepsia for some years, and not so bad it was impossible to attend to my work, vomiting almost everything caten. Having heard of K. D. C. I was induced to make a trial of it, and was astonished to find that after a few doses find ould be retained on my stomach and after following the directions carefully for a few weeks the pain and distress known the well by dyspeptics, gradualty left me. Am now able to attend to my work, and in good health."
