

All-Out Clinic Campaign

Over 300 Donors Needed for Intercollegiate Blood Donor Trophy

The Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic will once again be at the University of New Brunswick next week. And, once again, U.N.B. will be out to try and wrest the Intercollegiate Blood Donor Trophy from its current possessor, the University of British Columbia.

The response to the Clinic last spring was gratifying, for some 240 donations were made, but if we are to compete for the Trophy at least 300 donations are required to put us in the running. It was felt by many last spring that had the Clinic been open for two days much more blood would have been collected. As a result of this Mr. C. H. Foss, Director of Blood Donor Panels in New Brunswick, has made arrangements to have a two-day Clinic on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, October 14 and 15.

On Tuesday, the Clinic will be open in the Lady Beaverbrook Gymnasium from 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. and on Wednesday from 3:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. However, if there are a number of people waiting to give blood at 7:00 o'clock on Wednesday, the Clinic will remain open until all donations are in.

The aid of the Ladies' Society at U.N.B. has been solicited to help out on such odd jobs as making coffee, opening "Cokes", looking after rest beds, washing cups, and so on.

An attempt will also be made to canvass the U.N.B. Law School and have all the donations from that source added to the grand total.

Everyone on the campus, students and staff as well as the families of those who are married, as long as they are between the ages of 18 and 65, are asked to give blood. The fact that the honour of U.N.B. is at stake should be sufficient incentive for everyone to turn out, but if that isn't enough, be reminded of the almost fantastic amount of blood that is required in hospitals throughout New Brunswick each day. Keep in mind that one of these days you may be in need of a blood transfusion and be forced to depend on the generosity of someone, just like yourself, who was determined to help out his neighbour.

The Clinic personnel can handle fifty donors per hour. How about making them work overtime?

Art Centre Offers Creative Course; DaVinci Exhibition

Miss Lucy Jarvis, Director of the U.N.B. Arts Centre, announces that at present there is an exhibition in the Centre of some of the paintings and sketches of the immortal Leonardo da Vinci. These sketches and paintings have been supplied through UNESCO, one of the cultural branches of the United Nations Organization, to celebrate the 500th anniversary of the birth of da Vinci, one of the foremost of 11th century artists. This exhibition is well worth seeing since da Vinci was more than just an artist in the sense we know the word. His work shows a keen knowledge also of architecture and engineering.

Every Thursday evening from 7:30 to 9:30, under the supervision of Miss Jarvis, a non-credit course in creative art is being held. This course will consist of exercises in pictorial expression interspersed from time to time with concerts. It is actually a practical course in aesthetics which is designed to bring out the artistic talents of individuals and lead to an appreciation of art. For students who have attended for four years there will be issued a certificate of proficiency and understanding that has been reached. Anyone interested in taking this course should register as soon as possible.

Miss Jarvis also invites anyone who wishes to, to come up to the Art Centre—it is open from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm daily—and browse about, listen to recorded music and generally participate in the Arts in some form or another.

Debate Contest Plan

The U.N.B. Debating Society at its first meeting of the current season appeared headed for a very good year. Under the able leadership of Bob Sansom the Society hopes to widen interests in debating on this campus through the introduction of inter-club and organization debates. The idea is that each club will form a team and after a competition has been run off, a prize, in the form of a cup will be presented the winners. The Brunswickan has it on good authority that this cup will not be empty, either. There will be no need for comprehensive research and great expenditure of time in preparation of these debates since the topics will not be announced until fifteen minutes or so before the debate is scheduled to commence. Letters containing details of this competition will be mailed out in the very near future to the presidents of all groups.

This year the Society will participate in two debates away from home on the Inter Varsity level as well as one Up the Hill. U.N.B. will be guests at King's College and Acadia and play host to St. Francis-Xavier.

The officers of the Society are Bob Sansom, President, as already announced; Bill Reddin, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Barwick, manager. The post of vice-president is vacant at the moment but it will be filled by election at the next meeting.

Antics, Alleys, Anger Mark Frosh Week

Registration of new students this year took place in the Arts Building on the eighteenth and nineteenth of September. At this time the caps and general programmes of Freshman Week were issued and the wheels of the ensuing week began to grind with the Freshmen making their signboards and deciding which two colors of socks they were going to wear. Much to the dismay of the male members it was noticed that the co-ed enrolment was very small, therefore the "clashing ribbon tied under the chin was not very obvious to those who were interested.

On Monday morning the Freshmen wrote their introductory tests in the Memorial Hall under the direction of Doctor Snodgrass of the Psychology Department. Later on, during the afternoon, the were given a talk by Doctor Traeman, who spoke of the necessity of tradition and its appreciation on the U.N.B. campus. The address was well received, not only by the Freshmen, but also by others who had assembled especially to hear the President give his address.

At six-thirty the Annual Freshman Banquet was held in the Ping Pong Room of the Gymnasium. The Banquet was attended by approximately one hundred and forty people including most of the new students and the heads of the various Faculties. Those sitting at the head table were Doctor Traeman, Miss McLeod, Doctor Turner, Doctor Gibson, Doctor Toole, Mrs. Trueman, Peter C. Kelly, Robert Spurway, Dave Fair, Betty Lou Vincent, Don Shorten, Noel Gaspar and Don Merrill. At this time words of welcome were given by the representatives of the various Faculties and organizations present. Thanks

One-Acts Scheduled for October 30-31

Reeling from a successful 1951-52 season—when accomplishments matched the pinnacles attained in earlier days of U.N.B. drama history—amateur actors and actresses are again donning the make-up and warming up to new character parts.

Once more small groups of enthusiastic workers are designing sets, costumers are planning wardrobes, stage-hands setting to, directors plotting the courses of their productions, actors and actresses memorizing lines, ticket salesmen devising new ideas on how to sell tickets and publicists new ideas on how to sell the productions.

For the second consecutive fall, under the guiding hand of Prof. Alvin J. Shaw, faculty advisor and senior director of the Drama Society, the one-acts will be presented.

Professor Shaw, responsible for the direction in An Inspector Calls, last year's major effort which came so near to copping the winning trophy for the best play in the New Brunswick Regional Drama Festival, will direct Press Cuttings.

This play by Playwright George Bernard Shaw, is an example of Shaw's humour. He attacks, in humorous vein, everything and anything which happens to fall in his way. The leading characters are thinly veiled interpretations of General Kitchener and Prime Minister Asquith. Apparently one would gather from the play, G.B.S. detested both. Shaw's unsympathetic attitude towards all women in general is also obvious in Press Cuttings.

One of Noel Coward's plays, Fumed Oak, will also appeal to the public for its wit and humour. The unique feature of its Fredericton presentation, however, is the direction by a third-year Arts student, T. Robert Sansom. Bob the young director of the Coward Play

MY FELLOW STUDENTS:

Next Tuesday and Wednesday we at U.N.B. have an opportunity. We can share in Canada's most humanitarian work, the Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service, and we can demonstrate to other universities that U.N.B. students have plenty of good red blood in their veins.

I can only appeal to you to give blood on the grounds that you will be directly helping your fellow man. The Red Cross furnishes and maintains a supply of blood for the benefit of the ill and the injured, and provides it without charge to all who require transfusion. You can't BUY blood in Canada. For these reasons the Red Cross depends entirely on volunteer donors like ourselves.

To stimulate interest in this appeal U.N.B. has also entered friendly competition with other Canadian universities to achieve the highest percentage of donors. The University of British Columbia presently holds the Red Cross trophy with a 54 per cent turnout. In order to capture the trophy we need 300 blood donors next week. Every person on the campus over 18 and in good health is eligible to give.

The decision to contribute to this human service is a personal one, which each student should make for himself. Our campaign to enrol donors is designed to inform you about the clinic, and about the vital need for its success. Please do your part. And remember, your blood will help to save a life.

Sincerely,

BOB SPURWAY,
President, S.R.C.

Committee to Investigate Frosh Week Damage

The first meeting of the Students' Representative Council for the 1952-53 season saw approximately twenty of the Council members present.

Council President Bob Spurway welcomed the Council members back and expressed the wish for better attendance of meetings this year. He reminded the members of the S.R.C. Constitution ruling which states that any member who is absent for three consecutive meetings shall be dismissed from his post.

The Council was informed of the death during the summer of Freshman Science student Roger MacDonald and all those present observed one minute silence as a token of respect.

Nominations were called to fill the position of Honorary President of the S.R.C. and in subsequent voting Gleaner Publisher, Horace M. Block, B.A., M.S., was elected to fill this post. Associate Professor William Y. Smith was elected to the post of Faculty Advisor to the S.R.C.

Vice-President Ian Whitcomb gave a report on Freshman Week and with the exception of the unfortunate incidents on the night of the Parade and Street Dance it was agreed that the week had been quite successful. The matter of the damage done to the Brunswick Bowling Alleys was the next item on the agenda. After much haggling over the legal and moral aspects of where the responsibility lies for the action of the group of individuals who did the damage, it was decided that a committee be set up to investigate the matter fully. A Junior, Intermediate, and Senior Representative together with the Faculty Advisor and the President of the S.R.C. will sit on the committee. The Reps who will work with Professor Smith and Bob Spurway are Bob Hatcher, Laurie Coles and Bill MacNamara. This Committee will also be asked to enter into a complete investigation of all Freshman Week activities as they are carried out on other camps across Canada. It is felt generally that there could be some improvement in the type of events planned and the way in which they are carried out.

Certain applications for positions on Varsity committees and teams were considered and approved or will be investigated in the near future. The following

Forestry Week October 18-24

The Forestry Association started its 52nd - '53 season with a meeting last Monday in the Hadley-Videto Memorial Reading Room. Members welcomed the freshmen foresters who were present at the meeting, and then the conversation settled down to the event dearest to the forester's heart . . . Forestry Week.

Final plans set the date from Oct. 18 - 24, inclusive, while the highlight of the U.N.B. social season, the Hammerfest, is to be held on the 18th, under the direction of Al Huggill and his committee (most of whom will probably have to be held on the nineteenth). Committees were also set up for the Forestry Brunswickan, which will appear on Oct. 30, the Social Night, Field Day and advertising.

The programme, although traditional, is bound to be one of the main entertainments offered on the campus this year, if it is carried off with the usual Forestry finesse and enthusiasm.
