General Hughes to the Reporters
(Special Wire to the Courier)
TORONTO, Nov. 25.—Major General Hughes, Minister of Militia, arrived here this morning from London. His coming was eagerly awaited at the exhibition grounds camp, but he proceeded to inspect an armored car.
At 12.15 p.m., the minister left for Hamilton. He announced his intention of returning here this evening for the particular purpose of reviewing the home guard and will leave to-night for Ottawa. He told the newspaper men en-entment was "going along fine."
"We have already 108,000 men in training and we can supply all that Great Britain will need."
When question as to the remark imputed to him that he would himself go to the front if the war was not over in the spring, Gen. Hughes said that he knew nothing about it. He was ready to talk about the work of enlistment, and the equipment of the troops, but he quickly shut them out when they asked him to answer questions about panics, shotguns and resignations. He never read newspaper criticisms. When the reporters pleaded that they felt awed in the presence of a major-general and sought to excuse themselves on the ground of the nature of their questions, the minister said:
"Will, boys, you need not feel strange. I am still the same old two and sixpence."

SOUTH AFRICA
enemy. This message was brought to DeWet, who was furious, and sent six men to bring him (the magistrate) by force, and if necessary drag him up. The men again entered the resident magistrate's office and laid hands on him, pulling him out of his chair. The resident magistrate thereupon said that if they were going to take him by force he would go, and walked with them. He faced DeWet with a defiant air.
TALKS TO MEETING
"General DeWet, after employing some abusive language to the magistrate, addressed the meeting as follows: Ladies, Gentlemen and Burghers, I have asked you to come together here to explain to you my position. Then turning to the magistrate, he said: 'Magistrate, I want you to get a shorthand writer to take down every word that I am going to say, because whatever I may do in the future I can never commit a greater act of rebellion than I have already committed. I am charged before him with the crime of going through to Maritz, where we will receive arms and ammunition, and from there I am going to Pretoria to pull down the British flag, and proclaim a free South African Republic. All those who side with the government must go to them. I signed the Vereeniging Treaty and swore to be faithful to the British flag, but we have been so down-trodden by the miserable and pestilential English that we can endure it no longer.'
"His Majesty King Edward VII, promised to protect us, but he has failed to do so, and I am charged by the people to place over us (he is one of the pestilential English) who is an absolute tyrant, and has made it impossible to tolerate it any longer. I was charged before him for beating a native boy. I only hit him with a small shepherd's whip, and for that I was fined 5s."
CORNED BY MAGISTRATE
"Here the magistrate interrupted DeWet, and asked whether he did not plead guilty. He admitted that he had pleaded guilty, and ordered the magistrate to keep quiet and he would allow him to say as much as he liked when he had finished speaking, and if he would not hold his tongue he would make him hold it."
SOME PERSONALITIES
"But," continued DeWet, after the magistrate had delivered his judgment, instead of reprimanding the boy and ordering him in the future to be obedient and do his duty, he looked at the native as if he would like to give him a kiss. The magistrate was a brother-in-law of a man he had the greatest respect and who was very dear to him (President Steyn) and for that reason he would give him another chance, otherwise he would have taken him prisoner and gone and handed him over to the Germans. The magistrate's father of the Church, and if he were alive to-day he would be heart and soul with him in this movement and condemn the dastardly act of general robbery which the government was going to commit. The ungodly policy of General Botha had gone on long enough, and the South African Dutch were going to stand as one man against this scandal. Some of his friends had advised him to wait a little longer until the English had received a bigger knock, but it was beneath him and his people to kick a dead dog."
QUITE A FIGHTER
"Proceeding, DeWet said—'England has got her hands full enough. I hate the lies that are constantly being spread to the effect that thousands of Australians, Canadians, and Indians can be sent to fight us. Where could the English get them from? She has not enough men to fight her own battles. I am going through the town to take the following six articles, namely, horses, saddles, bridles, halters, arms and ammunition, and if anybody shows me any of these articles, I will give him a thrashing with a sjambok. I now order the storekeepers to go and open their shops, and I will select men to go round and take whatever I require apart from the above articles, and they will give receipts for what they take, and if they do not open their shops willingly, I will open them in another way.'
" My advice to you English is to remain quiet in your houses and not interfere with my men. If you do not, beware when I come back. I have got my eight sons and sons-in-laws here with me, and the only people left on my farm are my wife and my daughter. Anybody can go and see if they like, and request the magistrate to give them any help they may require, if they will do so.' "

CRUISER BULWARK
An inquiry will be held tomorrow, and the Admiralty believes that it may throw some light upon the occurrence.
Mr. Churchill, speaking in the House of Commons concerning the disaster, said: "The loss of the ship does not sensibly affect our military position, but I regret the loss of life, which was very heavy. Only twelve men were saved. All the officers and the rest of the crew, which I suppose amounted to between seven hundred and eight hundred, perished."
The British battleship Bulwark, 15,000 tons displacement, was laid down in 1899 and completed in 1902. She was 411 feet long, 75 feet wide, and drew 29 feet of water. Her armament consisted of four 12-inch, twelve 6-inch guns, sixteen 2-pounders, six 3-pounders and four submerged torpedo tubes. She had a complement of 750 men.
Sheerness is on the Thames, at the mouth of the estuary of the Medway. It is 35 miles down the river from London.

Elm Avenue Sunday School Is Prospering
There was a record attendance at the Elm Avenue Methodist Sunday school on Sunday afternoon, some 135 scholars being present. Miss Verna Heaman sang in her usual excellent voice the beautiful song, "More Like the Master, I Would Be." A piano solo was given by Misses B. Johnson and J. Whitney, "The Palms," which was very much appreciated. A young ladies' class was organized with eight members, with Mrs. R. M. Deyereux as teacher.
The school is fortunate in having such a splendid orchestra under the leadership of Mr. John Huffman, to help with the musical part of the services.
It is with regret that the Sunday school is to lose A. Westbrook and family who are moving to Langford, Mr. Westbrook has proven himself a very earnest and efficient teacher in the Bible Class and one who will long be remembered by Elm Avenue Sunday school.
"We also feel that your removal from Echo Place will not only be a distinct loss to Elm Avenue Sunday School and Church (where you have labored for the past year so faithfully and unselfishly), but also to the community as a whole, in the interests of which you have always taken an active and fearless stand for all that was right and for the general betterment of mankind."
By your unvarying kindness and courtesy, you and the other members of your family have won a large place in our hearts.
In conclusion, we trust that every happiness and prosperity may attend you and yours in your new home."
Signed on behalf of the congregation: Pastor and Chairman of the Trustees Board, Rev. T. E. Hoising; Superintendent of Sunday School, J. L. Barnes; Ladies' Aid Society, Mrs. J. W. Grummett."
Mr. Westbrook made a very feeling reply, thanking the members of the class from the bottom of his heart for the kind words, and for the friendship they had made during their short stay at Elm Avenue Sunday school.
Light refreshments were served and after singing many patriotic songs, and "Blest Be the Tie that Binds" the gathering dispersed.

FALSE NEWS.
LONDON, Nov. 26, 12.48 p.m.—Telegraphing from Amsterdam, the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram Company says "The Belgians have published a despatch from Constantinople to the effect that 2,000 Russians have been massacred at Tazir by Persians.
The British official press bureau, while assenting to the publication of the above despatch says it appears to be false and to have been spread under German instructions.
