

OLD AGE PENSION

Premier Asquith Outlines Scheme for Providing for the Aged Poor.

London, May 7.—Premier Asquith produced the budget today before a densely crowded house. The galleries allotted to peers and strangers were filled to overflowing. The House is always filled on budget day, but today's gathering was abnormal, the magnet being the anticipated announcement of old age pensions. The budget provides for pensions of £1.25 per week for all persons over 70, excepting criminals, lunatics and paupers. It is estimated that the maximum number of pensioners is not likely to exceed 500,000, and the cost must not exceed $30,000,000 any one year. Married couples are to have £1.50 weekly between them. The charge for pensions is to be a national, not a local burden. The scheme is not to be operative until January 1909. No one in receipt of more than $2.50 a week income will be admissible.

The sugar duty is reduced from four shillings two pence to one shilling two pence per hundredweight. The duty on marine insurance policies is reduced from 8d to 1d. There are no other reductions in taxation and no new imports. The revenue from wines and spirits during the past year decreased £151,000.

As the prime minister began to unfold the pensions scheme the House listened in the tensest silence. Mr. Asquith warned his hearers that the plan was merely a beginning and more or less of an experiment. His calculations were largely conjectural. He said he anticipated probable criticisms and was of the opinion that the labor party would think the scheme did not go far enough, to which the labor members immediately assented. He reminded them that it was only a beginning, yet it made immediate provision for half a million aged persons otherwise dependent on charity funds or the poor law for relief. The scheme, Mr. Asquith declared, would be attacked as Socialistic, but he added, if this were Socialism both parties in the country were responsible for it. It stands in principle exactly on the same footing as free education. Then it would be called a return to protection because it would be argued that under free trade sufficient revenue would not be forthcoming. He repudiated this entirely. He would not buy even this boon at the cost of free trade but it was perfectly possible to carry out the scheme without departing a hair's breadth from the present fiscal policy.

The House listened without displaying anything but keen interest, and though many are prepared to criticize the scheme, none was started into immediate hostility. The fact is, opponents of pensions found the scheme less drastic than they anticipated, while the dissatisfactions of the Socialists at what they regard as its insufficiency is mitigated by recognition of the fact that they got something.

Subsequent discussion in the lobbies developed strong disapprobation in many directions. The Conservatives entirely distrust Mr. Asquith's estimate of the cost of pensions. They point out that with the ever increasing expenditure, especially for the navy, there will be enormous difficulties in the future in finding the money. They spoke with some bitterness of the coming Conservative government, which they believe is bound soon to replace the present Liberal government. The Laborites criticized the plan on the ground that the age limit was far too high, and the income limit quite wrong. They contended that the latter puts a premium on reckless living and penalizes thrift. The Laborites urge that the age limit ought to be reduced to at least 65 years. They point out that very few men work over live to anything near 70, the average, indeed, being considerably below 60. This scheme will only benefit rural workers.

It is significant that Mr. Churchill addressing a meeting of workmen at Dundee this evening, awakened derisive laughter when he stated that the age limit was 70.

The Moderate Liberals received the scheme with enthusiasm. They regarded it as based on sound finance, and believe it confers an appreciable benefit on the aged poor to whom it brings a message of hope and happiness. This view is voiced by the Liberal press. The advanced Radicals, however, regard the plan as presenting a stumbling block, as do the Laborites.

Minard's Liniment used by physicians "Fighting Bob" Resigns

San Francisco, May 10.—Echo braying guns resounding over the water announced to the city and the world this morning that fighting Bob Evans had relinquished control over the Atlantic fleet. Admiral Evans' farewell was read to the officers and men in full dress uniform on the middle deck of the Connecticut. Tears were seen on many faces. The time honored custom in the navy, that the admiral haul down his own flag by his own hands was dispensed with owing to the Admiral's absence on account of illness.

475 MILES

That is all the Railway that Requires to be Built to connect with Hudson's Bay.

We have on several occasions dealt at some length on the advisability of building the Hudson Bay railway at the earliest possible date. Only 475 miles of Railway is required, and that through a country not difficult of construction, and then the major portion of western Canada would be 1,000 miles nearer the ultimate market for farm produce. Just imagine what a saving that would be to farmers. Fort Churchill and Fort William are about the same distance from the centre of the wheat districts, and the distance from Liverpool to Fort Churchill is about the same as from Liverpool to the Atlantic sea ports. This would mean a saving of about 15 cents a bushel on wheat, which would mean an annual saving of $2,000,000 on the export of twenty million bushels. The saving on cattle would be about 80 per head and that on last season's export would mean approximately $450,000, or about 20 per cent. of the total selling price, besides the great advantage which 1,000 miles less railway haul would mean from the standpoint of reduced shrinkage and improved quality.

The Hudson's Bay is the commercial artery of the west, as it reaches almost to the heart of the grain field and stock country. The country over which the proposed line would run is rich in agriculture, timber and other resources; then in the region tributary to the Bay the mineral resources are known to be of immense value. The rivers flowing into the Bay are reported to abound with salmon and other valuable fish, and when the proposed railway is completed which indications seem to point will not be long, it will rapidly develop all these latent resources, and, besides, greatly facilitate in alleviating the annual grain blockade.

The scheme has found favor in the motherland. All western members of the Dominion House, irrespective of politics, favor the route. Both the premier and the Leader of the opposition speak strongly in its favor, so

BLOOD MAKING TONIC TREATMENT

A Cure for Anaemia That is Showing Remarkable Proofs of Cures in Stubborn Cases.

When the body becomes weak and run down, either from overwork, worry or severe illness, an examination of the blood would show it to be weak and watery. This condition is called anaemia, which is the medical term for "bloodlessness." The common symptoms are paleness of the lips, gums and cheeks, shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart after the slightest exertion, dull eyes and loss of appetite. Anaemia itself is a dangerous disease and may gradually pass into consumption. It can only be cured by treating its cause—which is the poor condition of the blood. The blood must be made rich and red, thereby enabling it to carry the nourishment to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest medicine in the world for making new, rich blood and they have been curing anaemia and other blood diseases for nearly a generation, and are now recognised the world over as an invaluable household remedy.

Mrs. D. Estabrook, Brooklyn Road, N.B., says: "My daughter Gertrude, who is now in her sixteenth year, was sickly from early childhood, we were constantly doctoring for her, but it did not seem to help her in the least. In fact as she grew older she seemed to grow weaker. She was always pale and listless, suffered from headaches, dizziness and palpitation of the heart. She did not rest at night, and would often toss and moan the whole night. Finally she had to discontinue going to school, and as she was continually taking doctor's medicine without benefit, I grew discouraged, and feared we would lose her. Friends urged us to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I finally decided to do so. By the time she had taken three boxes there was an improvement, and a little later she was able to return to school. From that on she grew stronger, had an excellent appetite, slept well at night, and is now as healthy a girl as you will see. I believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life, and as a mother I would recommend these pills to every family in which there are young girls."

All medicine dealers sell these pills or you can get them by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Experience and real estate booms are great teachers.

PROVINCIAL NEWS

The services of doctor, lawyer and police were summoned by wire on Tuesday, from Bielefeld. It was thought that nothing short of murder was committed, and details of the tragedy were anxiously waited. On the return of the scientists it was learned that the commotion was the result of a row in a hotel kitchen, in which one gladiator hit another on the nose with a hammer. The affair was argued out before Sam Fielding J.P., who adjusted differences with a fine of $2 and costs.—Estevan Mercury.

An evangelist is stirring up the dry bones at Weyburn these days. According to report he is putting the fear into the people at such a rate that there is standing room only at the penitentiary bench.

Last Sunday evening George Collins, unconsciously played a very dramatic part in one of the church services. The light switch was turned on before the service commenced, and in due course the minister mounted the pulpit and gave out as his text, "The Lord thy God shall make thy darkness to be light." At that moment the power was turned on at works, and a flood of light filled the sacred edifice, to the momentary surprise of both the minister and people.—Estevan Mercury.

Saskatoon, May 7.—About noon today the last beam dropped into place on the C.P.R. bridge across the Saskatchewan at this point, and the immense structure was declared practically completed. The result of the completion of the bridge is that material will be rushed out to Asquith to enable the work of laying steel west to be commenced. Supt. Millarg was down to Lanigan today seeing about the moving of sixty carloads of steel, which were down there.

Prince Albert, Sask., May 7.—The case of Fish vs. Bryce is now in progress. W. R. Fish of Winnipeg is suing Dr. Bryce and others representing the home mission board of the Presbyterian church, to recover certain valuable property in Prince Albert, which Mr. Fish claims to have purchased, and which was afterwards sold by the board to other parties.

Yorkton, Sask., May 7.—There is nothing new in the Doubtful situation, and it would look now as though the town had them on their hands for an indefinite period. Two mounted policemen have been sent here from Regina to assist in keeping them in order. A large supply of peanuts have been ordered for their consumption. A movement of Doubtfuls started today, when ninety men with horses and wagons drove to Broadview to take the train. They are also shipping three or four cars of effects from Yorkton.

C. A. Mellicke of Hanley has invented an interest calculator.

A very sad incident occurred at Davidson on May 5th, a young man named Ross Boyd losing his life in a well near that town. Messrs. Thompson & Heinrich's machine was boring for water at Mowry's, about three miles from town, and Boyd was with the machine along with Heinrichs.

Boyd went down the well which was about 100 feet deep, and all appeared to be all right for a few minutes when he called to be pulled up, which Heinrichs immediately proceeded to do. About half way up the rope caught, from what later turned out to be the cross bar on the rope swinging and sticking into one side, and Boyd fell back into the hole.

Heinrichs having no assistance near him to Mr. Smith's about a quarter of a mile, and got Mr. Fothergill, who at once started down the well with Heinrichs at the crank. He got down as far as where the rope was caught, and released it, but failed to be pulled up at once, and by the time he was got out he was unconscious. He soon recovered, however, and was immediately sent to town for further assistance. It was fully an hour before the body was recovered with grapples from the hole.

Mr. Birkeland, owner of the Hanley townsite has given a block of 29 lots to that town to be used for park purposes.

PIONEER WOMAN GONE

Fishing Lake, Sask., May 7.—There recently died at Fishing Lake the wife of Edward Field, at the age of 55 years. Mrs. Field was an old inhabitant of this country. She was a daughter of the late Allan McIver, of the Hudson's Bay company, who came from Scotland by way of Moose Bay some 70 years ago. Mrs. Field was born at Port Pelly, Sask., and moved with her parents to Killdonan and later to Portage la Prairie, where she married Edward Field, of the Hudson's Bay Co., of that place, in 1871. On leaving the Hudson's Bay Co. they settled at Weyburn and lived there two years and then moved out to Big Point on Lake Manitoba, near Wild Oak, being again the first settlers there.

In 1880 they moved out to the Shell river district, now Russell,

Man., being the pioneer settlers there, the nearest town being then Minnedosa. In 1888 she again moved with her husband and family and stock and all belongings to where Togo is now and wintered there one winter and then moved to Fort Pelly, her birthplace.

But in 1892 still another move was made to their present residence on the south shore of Fishing Lake. She was widely known and highly respected. She leaves a sorrowing husband, six sons and two daughters to mourn her loss.
