Athens v. Merrickville.

What was generally voted a good exposition of the American national game was witnessed at the driving, track here on Saturday last, the game being between the Athens team and the Tuscaroras of Merrickville. How Spools Are Made.

Considering that there are a fifteen or twenty millions of people in our country who use thread more or less, tis a parent that the making of the spools upon which it is wound must be of itself quite an industry. These are made of hard wood, birch, being preferred and generally used. The material is first sawn into sticks four or five feet long and seven-eighths of an inch to three inches square, according to the size of the spool to be produced. These sticks are throroughly seasoned. They are sawed into short blocks and dried in a hot air kilm. At the time they are sawed, holes are bored perpendicularly through each block, which is set on end under a rapidly proviving, long-shanked augur. Next, one whirl of each little block against some little knives that are turning at lightning speed, fashion it into a spool according to the pattern desired, and that, to, at the rate of one a second for each est of knives. A row of small boys feed the spool-making machines by simply placing the blocks in a spout, selecting the best and throwing out the knotty and defective stock. The machine is automatic, but there are some things which it cannot do, hence the employment of the small boy above mentioned. After the spools are turned they are placed in a large drum and revolved rapidly until they have taken on a fine pollsh. For some special purposes they are dyed yellow, black or red, according to taste. When one sees a spool of thread marked "900" or "300 yards," it does not signify that the thread has been measured, but that the thread has been measured, but that the thread has been measured, but that the spool has been measured. The usual cheers for the competing teams and umpire closed what was a highly satisfactory game to spectators, victors and vanquished.

A TERRIBLE CYCLONE.

Many Persons Killed, and a Vast Ameunt of Property Destroyed.

New York, July 14.—The first cyclone in many years struck New York and vicinity yesterday afternoon, killing several persons and wrecking a large amount of valuable property. The cloud, when first seen, was funnel-shaped, and hung very low, near the ground. At the upper end was a red spot that appeared more like an incandescent light than anything else. As it moved on in its course, trees were torn down, telephone, telegraph, and trolley wires demolished, and houses unroofed or tota ly weeked.

At Cherry Hill, a small village a few miles from Mt. Hackenack, N. J., it developed cyclonic fury, attended by the demolition of the village and a number of deaths. Within a minute after the storm broke twenty-seven houses, nearly the entire

Within a minute after the storm broke twenty-seven houses, nearly the entire number in the vilage, were wrecked. The cyclone made a clean path through the centre of the place, carrying everything b fore it. Houses were unroofed or thrown down; trees were uproofed, and the crops in fields levelled to the ground. At the present time it is known that five are killed, and the injured are numbered by scores, many of them, it is believed, fatally.

sores, and the injured he halloced the scores, many of them, it is bolieved, fatally.

Great masses of wreckage were carried through the air by the gale, adding to the destruction. Among the buildings wrecked was the Dutch Reformed church, a brick structure recently created. Three large beams, picked from the wreck of other-buildings by the wind, were borne, end on, against the side of the church, and they went through the walls like cannon balls. The depot, standing between the tracks of the New York and New Jersey rallroad, was demolished. The freight depot was also wrecked, and the big platform carried several hundred feet from its place. The cyclone wrecked thirty houses at Woodhaven and a very large schoolhouse there. There were twenty residents of Woodhaven injured by the cyclone, and two deaths. Several people were picked up by the wind and carried a block or two. Trees and chimneys sailed through the air as if they were no heavier than feathers.
