

Mrs. Kate Berg, Secretary Ladies' Auxiliary of Knights of Pythias, No. 58, Commercial Hotel, Minneapolis, Minn., After Five Years Suffering Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: - Whatever virtue there is in medicine seems to be concentrated in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I suffered for five years with profuse and painful menstruation until I lost flesh and strength, and life had no charms for me,

Only three bottles of your Vegetable Compound cured me, I became regular, without any pains, and hardly know when I am sick. Some of my friends who have used your Compound for uterine and ovarian troubles all have the same good word to say for it, and bless the day they first found it."-MRS. KATE BERG. $5000 FORFEIT IF THE ABOVE LETTER IS NOT GENUINE.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such supptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "allgone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine for you need the best. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address Lynn, Mass

A SHOPPING BAG.

Directions For Making a Pretty One of Knotted Shoe Laces. The following instructions for making a shoestring shopping bag are printed in the Shoe Retailer from directions furnished by J. K. Krieg & Co.: A lace must not be too wide or narrow for making the bag, because the bag when finished will be in proportion to the lace of which it is made To make the drawing strings tie two laces over the back of a narrow backed chair; have one knot at each side of the chair back; tie sixteen laces to the draw strings on each side of the chair, front and back, in the following manner: Place the lace over the draw strings and tie a horse knot; then pass the short end of the lace back under the draw string, over and down through the cross loop X as shown in cut 1; have the tip end of laces about two inches long.

Take two laces, as shown in cut 2; the left side (lace A) is held straight, while the other one, B, is looped over it (after looping this lace twist the loop over, as shown in cut at X); hold these in place firmly with the left hand, and with the right hand take lace A, weave it over 1, under 2, over 3, under 4 and over 5; draw it up loosely, and you have the knot as shown in cut 3.

You may readily follow lace A by the white line; now draw the knot up and turn the laces until you have acquired the perfect oblong knot as seen Take the next two st and proceed in the same way until you have used all the laces. Then take lace B of the first knot and lace A of the second and keep on until you have woven twenty-one rows. Sew the bottom together, line with satin, sew satin to draw string knots, and the bag is complete. Twenty 4-4 625 laces will make a nice opera glass bag. Do not tie the knots too tight and use good Simple Bath Test. An old physician told the writer of a case he had with a delicate baby. One day he called to find the little one with a heavy cold. "Did you give it a bath yesterday at the temperature I ordered?" he asked the mother. She had given it the bath, but of temperature and thermometers she was blissfully ignorant. At last the doctor extracted the information that her test of temperature was, "if the baby grew blue, the bath was too cold; if it grew red, it was too hot." "If one cannot afford a thermometer," said the physician in conclusion, "you have a sure enough one in a bare elbow. The hand, inured to all degrees of heat and cold, perhaps calloused with hard work, is no fit critic of anything so delicately important as the temperature of a baby's bath. If the water is of a comfortable temperature to one's bare elbow, the baby will grow neither red nor blue, but find real enjoyment in his bath."-Good Housekeeping.

Dressmaking by Weight. We hope that there are few ladies who have cause to suspect their dressmaker of keeping back portions of the material intrusted to her care for making up. None the less an interesting precaution extracted from a letter written about 1730 is amusing.

The plan which the lady set forth was "to buy everything that goes to the making of a costume, even to the tape and thread, and when they are delivered out they are all together weighed before the needlewoman's eyes, and when she brings home the costume it is again put into the scale with the shreds of every sort, and it is expected the whole shall answer the original weight."

A Window Retreat.
With but little expense an ordinary window can be made quite a delightful retreat. Festoon the upper part of the window with yellow china silk having rosettes to match. A thin brass rod and rings hold the little half curtain of white silk, scattered with yellow flowers. In the recess before the window place a settee upholstered in yellow and white cretonne, with cushons to match.
