

PARALYSED AND COULD NOT WALK

"Fruit-a-lives" Completely Restored New Brunswick Merchant To Health.

MR. ALVA PHILLIPS

BRISTOL, N. B., July 25th, 1911. "I am unable to say enough in favor of 'Fruit-a-lives' as it saved my life and restored me to health, when I had given up all hope and when the doctors had failed to do anything more for me. I had a stroke of Paralysis in March, 1910, and this left me unable to walk or help myself, and the Constipation of the bowels was terrible. Nothing did me any good and I was wretched in every way. Finally, I took 'Fruit-a-lives' and cured me of that trouble but gradually this fruit medicine toned up the nerves and actually cured the paralysis. Under the use of 'Fruit-a-lives', I grew stronger and stronger until all the palsy and weakness left me. I am now well again and attend my store every day and all day."

ALVA PHILLIPS. "Fruit-a-lives" is the only remedy in the world that is made of fruit juices and tonics. See a box, 6 for $1.50—trial size, 5c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

An Evening Prayer.

Forgive us for the smiles we failed to give. Smiles on which saddened hearts may live. And yet—and yet we failed to give. Forgive us for the words we've left unsaid. Words that feed hungry hearts like bread. And yet—and yet were left unsaid. And for the little deeds we've left undone. Forgive us, Thon who knowest us so well. That we have failed our love to tell. By smiles and words, and deeds so well.

'If I Could Only See My Mother!'

'If I could only see my mother! Again and again was that yearning cry repeated.

'If I could only see my mother! The vessel rocked, and the waters, chased by a fresh wind, played musically against the side of the ship.

The sailor, a second mate, quite youthful, lay in his narrow bed, his eyes glazing, his limbs stiffening, his breath failing. It was not pleasant to die thus in this shuddering, plunging ship; but he seemed not to mind bodily discomfort. His eyes looked far away, and ever and anon broke that grieving cry: 'If I could only see my mother!'

An old sailor sat by a Bible in his hand, from which he was reading. He bent above the young man and asked him why he was so anxious to see his mother, whom he had wilfully left.

'Oh, that's the reason!' he cried in anguish. 'I've nearly broken her heart, and I can't die in peace. She was a good mother to me—oh, so good a mother! She bore everything from her wild boy; and once she said to me: 'My son, when you come to die, you will think of this!'

'Oh, if I could only see my mother. He never saw his mother. He died with the yearning upon his lips, as many a one had died who slighted the mother who loved him.

Boys, be good to your mother.

A widower by the name of Cletto, who has lately died in Sicily, left $10,000 to promote the women's rights movement in Italy, and $4,000 as a legacy to the first woman to be elected to the Italian Parliament.

They Make You Feel Good. The pleasant purgative effect produced by Chamberlain's Tablets and the healthy condition of body and mind which they create make one feel joyful. For sale by all druggists.

What is a 'Lady'?

The question, 'What is a true lady?' is discussed by Mrs. R. Neish in a contemporary. 'No woman is a true lady,' she writes, 'who is a snob—neither one who spes her betters, nor she who despises those beneath her, and boasts of her rich or titled friends, or keeps her humbler acquaintance in the back ground, or from your knowledge altogether. No woman who does these things, be she great or small in society's eyes, is really and truly a lady at heart. A true lady should be a 'gentlewoman.' Gentle and womanly, pure and fearless. I can pick her out from among the best of women I love—a woman before whom men of all and every class instinctively remove their headgear, and to whom they speak with deference and courtesy.'

Just Like a Saloon.

(Henry Mayer, in 'Person's Weekly'). In catching wild monkeys, a lump of sugar is placed in an unopened glass bottle, and the latter left underneath the tree in which the chattering simians are perched. Presently down comes the whole troop to inspect.

One, greedier than the rest, thrusts his arms into the bottle, and grasps the coveted sugar. He screams with rage and struggles, but (ridiculous as it may seem) has not the sense to unclasp his fist. To do so would necessitate dropping the sugar, and to that his greedy little soul cannot consent.

Encumbered with the bottle, he is easily captured with a net or stuned with a club. Curiously enough his fellows, though they have witnessed the whole affair, fail to profit by his example, and a round dozen or more will be trapped in the same way, by the same bottle, under the same tree.

A Weak Heart.

When the heart is weak or irregular in action when the blood is thin and watery, remember the blood-forming qualities of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and try its use. The system with rich red circulating blood. This is nature's way of curing weakness and disease. It is the only way to ensure lasting benefits.

Geraldine—'You haven't been to see me since you asked my father for my hand.'

Gerald—'No; this is the first time I've been able to get about.'

A Year Indoors.

'For thirteen months I was so bad with chronic indigestion that I could not get out of doors. My nerves were unstrung, the heart had a smothering feeling came on till I thought I would choke. Doctor's treatment failed me, so I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, which I thank for my present good health. I am now doing my household work and have a family of ten.'

Newlywed: 'You are not afraid of the lightning are you?'

Mrs. Newlywed: 'No, darling; not when you have your arm around me.'

A Sensible Merchant.

Dear Sirs—Your traveller is here to-day and we are getting a large quantity of your MINARD'S LINIMENT. We find it the best Liniment on the market making no exception. We have been in business 13 years and have handled all kinds, but have never dropped them all but yours. The sells itself; the others have to be pushed to get rid of.

Maid—'No, mum; they haven't drunk all as they've got.'

WOMAN IN TERRIBLE STATE

Finds Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cape Wolfe, Canada.—'Last March I was a complete wreck. I had given up all hope of getting better or living any length of time, as I was such a sufferer from female troubles. But I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and today I am in good health and have a pair of twin boys two months old and growing finely. I surprised doctors and neighbors for they all know what a wreck I was.'

'Now I am healthy, happy and hearty, and owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's remedies. You may publish this letter if you like. I think if more women used your remedies they would have better healths.'—Mrs. J. T. COOK, Los No. 7, Cape Wolfe, P.E.I., Canada.

Because your case is a difficult one, and doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has remedied many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backaches, and it may be exactly what you need.

The Pinkham record is a proud and peerless one. It is a record of constant victory over the obstinatest women's ailments that deal out despair. It is an established fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored health to thousands of such suffering women. Why don't you try it if you need such a medicine?

Headaches and Heart Trouble

Nervous Prostration of Three Years' Standing Cured a Year Ago by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Anyone who knows the discouragement and despair which accompanies the helplessness of nervous prostration will appreciate the gratitude felt by the writer of this note.

Mrs. H. C. Jones, Scotch Lake, C. B., writes: 'I suffered from nervous prostration for nearly three years. I had frequent headaches, had no appetite and was troubled with my heart. After consulting two doctors without obtaining satisfactory results, I began the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and was completely cured by this treatment. It is nearly a year since I was cured, and I want others to know of this splendid medicine. I now attend to my household work with pleasure and comfort, and am glad to have the opportunity of recommending Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.'

A Good Example.

There died last month in Chester field, Eng., a man familiarly known by a wide circle of friends and supporters, as 'Honesty Jimmy,' whose life should furnish an example and an inspiration to the young people of every land. He was the son of a coal miner, and at the age of eleven years was sent to the pit to work twelve hours for ten pence. For twenty-nine years he worked in different capacities at this employment, sometimes escaping severe accidents in a wonderful manner, as, for example, on one occasion when twenty-five men working near him were drowned by an inrush of water. But, he did not like any of his companions, in youth and early manhood, spend his spare moments in idleness or frivolity. He betook himself to reading and study, attended night school, sought to acquaint himself with the industrial problems of the day, and general history, and identified himself with the Christian church. In process of time he began to be recognized as a man of intelligence and good judgment; a man of opinions and able to support them by well expressed reasoning; a man not adverse to taking the unpopular side of a question when to do so might endanger friendships which he would like to retain. Thus he became known by the sobriquet of 'Honesty Jimmy.' Finally, he was elected to Parliament and served his native Division as its representative until his death.

The news, 'Jimmy is dead,' quickly circulated, and the funeral services were accompanied by very marked demonstrations of general respect and regret. Flags in all the public buildings were raised half-mast, and all classes of the community assembled in large numbers and lined the streets all the way from the home to the cemetery.

Many a boy, of natural abilities just as good and educational opportunities far superior, has made a failure of life because the spare hours of youth were spent in pursuits which furnished a momentary attraction and gratified the baser side of human nature, but furnish no sure foundation for usefulness and real success. The great difference between men are not so much differences of natural endowments as differences in determination to use the passing moments in the development of such endowments as they possess, whether they be small or great.

One ship sails east, and another west, By the very same winds that blow. 'Tis the set of the sail and not the gale Which determines the way they go. Like the winds of the sea are the ways of men As they journey along through life. 'Tis the set of the soul that determines the goal, And not the calm or the strife.

Lawyer, to prisoner—'So you want me to defend you? Have you any money?'

Prisoner—'No, but I've got a horse, and a few chickens, and a pig.'

Lawyer—'They will do. Now, let's see what they accuse you of stealing?'

Prisoner—'Oh, a horse, and a few chickens, and a pig!'

Leading Question—'She—if you could have only one wish, what would it be?'

He—'It would be that—that—oh, if I only dared to tell you what it would be?'

She—'Well, go on. Why do you suppose I brought up the wish thing subject?'

Charity.

Two curates, one good-natured, the other opposite. Hired together.

The good-natured one went for a walk and met a poor man who asked him for assistance. The curate said he was only a poor man himself, but if he had a coin in his pocket the man should have it. Lo! and behold, when he pulled his hand out of his pocket he showed half a dollar which he did not know about and gave it to the man, thinking he had done an act of kindness. When he got back to his lodgings he told his fellow curate of his experience. His fellow curate heard the story and then said: 'You have got to be surprised at all; you have got my trousers!'

The First Candlestick.

The first candlestick was a boy. He sat in the corner of a Scottish kitchen holding a piece of fir candle to his hands, from time to time cutting and trimming it to make it burn brightly. The fir candle was a length of wood cut from a kind of fir tree which is found embedded in the peat. This kind of candle is still used in some parts of Scotland. It usually fell to the lot of the 'herd-bairns' to get the part of the candlestick; but should a beggar ask for a night's lodging he was expected to relieve the 'herd laddie' of his duty. A candlestick is still called in Aberdeenshire a 'pair man,' or a 'poor man.'

My little boy had a marvelous escape, writes P. F. Bostman of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. 'It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of cough. As luck would have it, I had a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger.'

'So you regard Stowton as the centre of the universe?' asked the visitor.

'Yes; we appear to stand still and everything else moves around us,' explained the native.

Chronic Dyspepsia. The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: 'I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else,' says W.
