THE DEPARTURE OF ERIN

John Bull (to Erin) Well, good-bye Erin: and I hope you'll be happy with him. -From London Opinion.

DON'T TAKE WOUR TROUBLES TO BED

If you stop to think of it, you will realize that the city man and woman are far more concerned with what happens to the forest than the farmer or the mountaineer. It will be the city people, not those who live under the shadow of the trees, whose standard of living will first suffer from the lack of wood. It takes more wood, used in more ways, to feed, clothe, and house the city dweller than those who live where the food and the lumber come from. For after the raw material is produced it must be shipped, manufactured, and distributed, and all these are impossible without wood.
