BUTTER WRAPPERS!

The cost of Vegetable Parchment from which Butter Wrappers are made has more than doubled in price since the war started. Previous to August of this year used in America was imported from France and Germany where it was made by secret process. Since the war the source of supply is completely cut off and the only imported butter paper available since has been the stock that was in hand at the time.

An inferior quality of parchment is now made in the States and imported into Canada under a duty of 37 1/2%.

Needless to say the price of Butter Wrappers has come away up. Plain wrappers today cost only a mere trifle less than the printed ones the law requires.

Fortunately we have still on hand a good supply of the imported stock. This is 6 1/2 inches in size and will wrap a fat of a square brick. The American wrappers are fat and not large enough to wrap a fat brick. Our prices are as follows:

100 printed "Butter Butter"	30
100 " "	$1.20
100 printed "Butter Butter" and with maker's name and address	50
250 ditto	1.00
500 ditto	1.50
1000 ditto	2.50

Wrappers will be sent prepaid anywhere within Carleton or Victoria Co. on receipt of price.

We can also supply the trade with imported wrappers at less cost than wholesale grocers are doing.

STRANGE STORY OF FREEMAN NADEAU

There is reason to believe that Freeman Nadeau, the notorious Maine outlaw, who escaped from the Bangor State Hospital last month, has made his way into New Brunswick. Nadeau has kept the people of Aroostook and Upper Penobscot counties in a state of semi-terror for a long time. Nadeau was arrested last winter by assaulting his wife and child at their home near Patten, Me. During the fracas the dwelling was burned, Mrs. Nadeau and children being obliged to seek shelter with her relatives.

Nadeau was indicted by the grand jury in February, but was not brought to trial, the Maine authorities deciding to send him to the State Hospital for observation. Nadeau is a French-Canadian and it is supposed he has been able to cross the border into Madawaska County. During the past few years he has been charged with smuggling, poaching and other offences. A deputy sheriff of Aroostook County, who was on the trail of Nadeau a year or two ago, was never heard of afterwards. The Maine officials were never able to connect the Canadian with the deputy's disappearance, although he was held for a time. Since his last arrest Nadeau is alleged to have attempted suicide.

The latest report concerning Nadeau's wanderings since taking French leave at the Bangor State Hospital has all the semblance of truth and plausibility. It has been suggested as probable that Nadeau was to make his way to Canada in order to get beyond the immediate jurisdiction of the Maine authorities, and if the story is correct this is exactly what he has done. The last heard of him he was within a few miles of the Canadian border and it is likely that he is now in New Brunswick.

It appears that a man who was in charge of a sawmill at Nigger Brook pond, a few miles from Fort Kent, was resting one night recently about 10 o'clock, blissfully unconscious that there was a human being within a mile of him, when the door opened without ceremony and there appeared a man fully armed. He had two guns and a cartridge belt strapped around him.

His first question was: "Are you all alone here?" Receiving an answer in the affirmative he appeared to be much relieved and made himself at home, giving his enforced host a casual bit of advice to the effect that if anyone came to the camp he would do well to seek the inner room and lie down flat as there would be some shooting going on around there, and if he (the host) didn't want to get in the way of a stray bullet or two he would be safer lying low than in any other way.

The intruder further stated that before he would "be taken" he would use up all his ammunition—and he had plenty of it and to spare. He added that he was going to kill just three men and one woman if he had a chance before coming to a sudden end.

He demanded food of the man in the camp, but would not let him prepare it, doing all the cooking himself, evidently being suspicious of any attempts to poison him or make him sick and disabled. He had all the appearance of a desperate man and one who would carry out the threats in which he had indulged.

It is believed by those who have heard the story that the intruder may have been Nadeau. He did not explain who the woman was whom he was anxious to kill, but it was inferred that he was referring to his wife.

When their home was burned Nadeau's family nearly perished in the flames. Nadeau was arrested and was committed to the county jail in Bangor. At the February term of supreme court he was indicted by the grand jury, but was not brought to trial, it be-and deemed best to commit him to the Bangor State Hospital for observation.

At the hospital Nadeau was kept under close scrutiny, but in some way he secured possession of a key which unlocked the door of his room, and he made his escape when the attendants were occupied with other matters. Since that time he has been seen in a number of different places, but none of the stories has been received with a great amount of credulity.

The story printed above is vouched for by reliable persons and is stated in such a complete and circumstantial manner as to leave little doubt of the entire sincerity of the man directly involved in the encounter with the supposed, and real Nadeau. The man in the camp did not hesitate to state that he was thoroughly scared of the intruder, and he said he "took mighty good care not to cross him in any way."

After staying at the camp all night the unwelcome visitor took his departure early the next morning.

FLORENCEVILLE NEWS

Mrs. Eva Leck of Truro has secured the Dr. Ross house and is equipping it for a private hospital. Mrs. Leck is a trained nurse and her home was formerly in Sumnerfield.

Rev. G. A. Ross left Monday for Summerside, P. E. I., where he attended the Methodist conference. The Presbyterian General Assembly meets in Winnipeg this week and Rev. M. H. Mandel, Florenceville, Rev. W. K. Reid, Grand Falls, and Rev. G. C. Pringle of Kincardine left this week to attend this Assembly. Rev. E. C. Jenkins, East Florenceville will address the United Baptist Sunday School, West Side St. John, on Sunday afternoon, June 18, it being the occasion of its seventy-fifth anniversary. Mr. Jenkins is a former pastor of that church.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Merrill of Boston, Mass., was burglarized last week and about $500 worth of jewelry and other valuables taken. Mrs. Merrill was formerly Miss Amy Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Ross of Florenceville.

Prospects were never better for a record crop in Carleton County. It has been a perfect spring for seeding. The ground was dry and the weather cool, so the horses could be worked at full capacity. Grass and grain are making rapid growth. The potato crop is quite up to the average acreage in this vicinity, but fertilizers without potash have been used and a smaller yield is anticipated.

The tail of the drive passed Florenceville Monday, May 5. There has not been so many logs as usual pass this year. About half the logs on the Quebec-St. John waters have come out. Frazer's Smoky River drive is hung up, but St. Francis river logs are in safe waters. This operation, consisting of two and a half million, will be sawed at a new mill being now constructed at the foot of the unsplendable lake into which the St. Francis flows, J. F. Murdoch, Hartland, is in charge of both rivers.

Humor and Philosophy

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

SOME persons rank high in their ability to take care of themselves by reason of their nerve, which permits them to let their friends take entire care of them.

When a man feels that he is quite able to take care of himself he goes out and proceeds to get into all sorts of trouble.

The things we are going to do seldom bear the slightest relation to the things we execute.

When you hear a woman say she hasn't a thing to wear it is a sign that she expects to surprise you by the magnificence of her apparel.

Undoubtedly the wise came by their wisdom through a multitude of errors and mistakes, and cannot feel that they are ever done with them.

A pessimist is a man who has a grudge against himself and wants to transfer the ownership.

It is a game thing to be a good loser, but most of us would rather be game on the other side.

Being satisfied is desirable, but it is not a condition that is attained by a wave of the hand.

The Scrapper.
Jim Terries looks a bold and sees a chap who does not aim to please. Who threatens he will come across and show which color is the boss. Who has a scheme cooked up to tag the honors and the jury swag, and who his way the thing to do will open up a box of tricks.

Jack Johnson, he's the one who looks and all this looked air consumed. And what is wanted to the ear of Jack Johnson the atmosphere? Well, nothing much, but just the claim that he will quite forget his name and be so quickly made to quit. He will not know where he was hit. Each claims to be the big surprise as back and forth the language flies. Each claims to have a punch on hand by which the other will be canned. And each is certain that his style will carry off the major pile. The while his victim will remain too broken hearted to explain.

And then each slugs in advance holds pity for the other's chance. While on the air their boasts are tossed. The advertisement isn't lost. For neither knows he has a class. The prize at one fell swoop to finish. That each keeps bragging day and night that they may make more suckers bite.

Brazen.
"You say he is financially embarrassed?"
"Yes."
"Well, well! I am surprised."
"Why are you surprised?"
"Well, I never knew him to get within a thousand miles of any sort of finance and never knew him to be embarrassed by anything."

Poor Fellow!
"Do you think you can manage me when we are married, Edith?"
"Manage you?"
"Yes; I am an awful fellow sometimes, I tell you."
"Are you?"
"I am indeed."
"Well, if I can't I'm sure mother can."

Just Like a Woman.
"What did your wife say she wanted for a birthday present?"
"Guess."
"Oh, I can't."
"Just one of those expensive little things."
"What was it?"
"A slice of ham."

Rescued.
When first the comet wandered pale it gave us some concern. We thought that it had lost its tail, but it has tail to burn. With what expense is now in view it wouldn't miss a mill or two.

A Woman, of Course.
"He is a smart man."
"What is smart about him?"
"He speaks many tongues."
"I know some, one who can beat that."
"How many?"
"Just one."

"It is a good thing; Christmas doesn't come in the spring."
"Why so?"
"My wife would be sure to give me a lawn mower."

Couldn't.
"I have here a rain check."
"What?"
"Rain check?"
"Then I wish you'd use it."
"Use it?"
"Yes; to check the rain."
Fooled.
"A fool can't be this money."
"Oh, yes, I know all about that."
"—are easily spent."

Free gasoline for thirty-three hundred miles—the Ford owner's saving in one year

The light, economical Ford with its smooth running engine averages about twenty-five miles on a gallon of gasoline.

Compare this with the gasoline consumption of the Sixteen-Miles-to-the-Gallon Car. Then figure the difference, having an eye on the present price of gasoline.

Six thousand miles is a fair season's travel. The Sixteen-Miles-to-the-Gallon car, going six thousand miles, burns up one hundred and thirty-five more gallons of gasoline than does the Ford going the same distance.

This means that the Ford owner saves enough during a single season to pay for his gasoline for an additional thirty-three hundred and seventy-five miles.

You can travel a year and a half in a Ford for what it costs you to travel one year in the Sixteen-Miles-to-the-Gallon car.
