'Oh no,' said Kate, giving her maid only assurance when it was so much too late! Just at this moment Mrs. Growler came into the kitchen, and Kate's promise and her sister's cautions were for the moment silenced.

'How we're to manage to get the dinner on the table, I for one don't know at all,' said Mrs. Growler. 'There's Mr. Bates 'll be here; that will be six of 'em; and that Mr. Medlicott will want somebody to do every thing for him, because he's been and got himself smashed. And there's the old lady has just come out from home, and is as particular as any thing. And Mr. Harry himself never thinks at all. One pair of hands, and then very odd, can't do every thing for every body.' All of which was very well understood to mean nothing at all.

Miscellaneous.*A Triumph of Oratory.

At a meeting of the Literary World, which he witnessed at a meeting of Dr. Guthrie's school, the Duke of Devonshire was present. To announce that it must be re-organized as a literary club, the Duke came to the close of his speech by saying, "I am not a literary man, but I am a Duke." The Duke's speech was a triumph of oratory.

The Honorable Richard Hutchinson, of Miramichi, formerly member of the House of Commons for the County of Northumberland, New Brunswick, and at one time a member of the Hon. A. J. Smith's Government of New Brunswick, arrived in this city yesterday, and had interviews with the Prime Minister, and with several other members of the Government. He had also a lengthened interview with the Minister of Marine and Fisheries during the day.—Ottawa Times, March 30.

A strong water alum is sure death to bugs of any description. Take two pails of pulverized alum, and dissolve in three quarts of boiling water, allowing it to remain over the fire until thoroughly dissolved. Apply while hot with a brush, or what is better use a syringe to force the liquid in the cracks of the walls and day bedstead. Scatter also the powdered alum freely in all places, and you will soon be rid of those insect nuisances which fill one with disgust.
