HIGH COST OF LIVING

The Budget, a fortnightly published in New York, to encourage, as its sponsors say, "sane thinking on national issues," has adopted the question and answer style as one means of presenting its views. In a recent issue the high cost of living is one subject considered in this way. The question is: Is there any real remedy for high cost of living other than for governments to adopt the policy of strictest economy and prompt liquidation of war indebtedness and for every individual to work and save to his utmost capacity?

Every time a purchaser of a government bond who has borrowed money to pay for it or is using it as security for a loan pays off indebtedness, credit is by so much deflated and downward pressure brought upon prices.

Upon the speed with which the world as a whole can pay off the indebtedness occasioned by the war depend the return of prices to normal. Inasmuch as this indebtedness can be paid only from savings, the whole question of the high cost of living reduces itself to the ability of the world to work, save and pay off.

Even the individual who is not personally in debt contributes to or retards the progress of liquidation of war debt and the consequent reduction of prices according to whether or not, and the extent to which, he produces more than he spends. The indolence and extravagance which have been indulged in by so many since the close of the war is keeping prices up — is even raising them higher. Every man or woman who fails to work and save is adding to the burden of high prices and scarcity of necessities for which the world is suffering so acutely.

The men under whose authority this answer is given are men of prominence in the political, business and financial world. The Budget numbers among its directors W. H. Taft, Alton B. Parker, Paul M. Warburg and other equally prominent and distinguished men. The moral is plain. It is the duty of communities and of individuals to bend all their energies to the reduction of the individual, the community, the national debts, and thereby lighten the task the country faces in meeting its obligations. — (St. John Globe.)

Maritime Province
Fishery Service
Re-Organized

The fisheries of the three Maritime Provinces have been included in one division for administrative purposes by the fisheries branch of the Naval Department, and have been placed under the direct supervision of Mr. Ward Fisher, as chief inspector of fisheries. The department anticipates that the organization will result in a good service the object of which is to bring the Government into close touch with those engaging in the industry. Mr. Fisher was for some years district inspector of fisheries in Nova Scotia. He was later transferred to headquarters where for nearly five years he was assistant to the superintendent of fisheries.

In the past there has been a large number of poorly paid men employed as local fishery overseers. There were eighty such positions in the district. This number has been decreased to forty-four, but the officers are now paid reasonable salaries. Previous to installation these men were given a course of instruction. Yearly courses of instruction will be provided for officers.

A Wonderful Fishing Region

THE rivers and lakes in the vicinity of Cranbrook, British Columbia, on the Nest line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, are happy and prolific haunts for lovers of fishing. All these waters are well stocked with mountain or cutthroat trout, rainbow trout, Dolly Varden trout, bull trout, landlocked salmon, Kamloops trout. Excellent fishing is made in the fishing season. The most amongst the fishing waters of this region are: St. Mary's Lake and river, Kootenay River, Moyle Lake and river, Gold Creek, Cherry Creek, Perry Creek Lake, Doyle's Lake, and Premier Lake. Perhaps the favorite rendezvous is Premier Lake. This lake is situated about thirty-eight miles from Cranbrook. It is three and a half miles long and one mile wide. Mountains surround it on every side, and it is very deep. There is no visible outlet for the waters. Springs that rise adjacent to the lake and streams from the mountain sides gush to rest in its placid bed.

On August 12th, 1915, the Game Conservation Board of the Eastern District of British Columbia furnished Premier Lake, along the Kootenay Central Railway, a branch of the C. P. R., with 10,000 Kamloops trout fry, each one being about three-quarters of an inch long. A prophecy was made that the fry within four years would develop into fish weighing between twelve and thirty pounds. The accompanying illustration shows some of the fish caught when three years old.

Realizing the sporting possibilities of the Cranbrook region some of the residents met in Cranbrook on November 17th, 1917, and formed the Cranbrook District Rod and Gun Club. A hatchery was started in Cranbrook; 300,000 eggs were brought in and incubated. The enterprise was a huge success, and fry were distributed: 10,000 in St. Mary's Lake, 12,000 in Doyle's Lake, 10,000 in Premier Lake, 50,000 in Moyle Lake, 2,000 in Doyle's Lake, about 1,000 in Perry Creek Lake. These fish will season at the age of three years.

when they begin to multiply in the natural way it is certain that Cranbrook will be one of the finest fishing districts in the world. The best season for fishing these waters is from May to September. The best time to go is generally with a trolling will bring good results in St. Mary's, Moyle and Premier lakes.

Distances from Cranbrook to the different fishing waters vary, but none of the lakes and rivers is difficult of access. Good automobile roads radiate in all directions.

The Cranbrook District Rod and Gun Club is a great body with splendid fishing. The fisherman will bring home with him the memory of a landlocked salmon as big as the one shown in the illustration.

Presentation to
Mrs. A. Kulinder

On Friday evening the ladies of St. James' Church Young Women's Club, gathered at the home and presented Mrs. A. Kulinder, on the eve of her departure to her old home, in Sweden, with a beautiful Sunburst of Pearls, accompanied by an address Mrs. Kulinder was taken completely by surprise and in a few well chosen remarks expressed her deep appreciation to the Club for their kind remembrance. Mrs. Kulinder has been Vice-President of the Club for the past two years.

Mrs. L. H. MacLean very acceptably acted as hostess of the evening and the members were provided with a dainty luncheon.

The club also held a rehearsal for the play which they purpose giving soon and it was the unanimous opinion that the parts were well taken by all.

The following is the address presented to Mrs. Kulinder.

Dear Mrs. Kulinder:
In parting with you, The Young Women's Club of Saint James' Church would like to express our friendly feelings towards you, and also our regret in losing one of our most valued and kindly members.

Our associations with you have always been of the most pleasant nature. Your whole-hearted interest in the aims and objects of the Club, your unobtrusive but effective support in all our efforts, and above all, your cheery and friendly habit of mind, word and action have all endeared you to your fellow-members and we realize to the full that we are parting with a friend.

As a memento of our happy associations and a token of our appreciation we would like you to accept this gift of friendship, believing as we do that it will always recall friendly faces and bring kindly remembrance of your sojourn in Miramichi.

We wish you and Mr. Kulinder a safe journey and a happy home-coming to your native land, and we hope your future will be filled with all good things. On behalf of the Club,

(Sgd.) M. Edith Thompson MacLean,
President
(Sgd.) Elizabeth M. MacTavish,
Secretary

It must have been an awful strain on Solomon's veracity when all his wives asked him at the same time how he liked their new spring hats. March 2, Mary Pickford was divorced; March 5, she announced that she would not marry again; March 25, she married Douglas Fairbanks. Mary is a dainty fiber.
