After thirty hours incessant efforts, the Dutch lifeboatmen rescued ten survivors of the steamer Berlin, near the Hook of Holland on Friday last. Though buffeted and driven back many times on Saturday, the Dutchmen refused to relax their attempts to rescue the shipwrecked persons and launched their boat repeatedly.

Two steamers wrecked, were reported to London at a late hour last Friday night. One was off Flamborough Head, in the North Sea, and the other off Beachy Head, in the British Channel. The names of the vessels were not known and no details had been received. The weather was stormy, especially in the North Sea.

The British Embassy at Washington is now the best paid post in the British diplomatic service, the salary of the Ambassador having been raised with the appointment of James Bryce to $50,000 per year. Mr. Bryce is also given $10,000 to pay the expenses of installing himself in the Embassy.

The snow storm of Monday caused quite a blockade to traffic. No trains reached the city yesterday from Souris or Tigris. The Murray Harbor train came somewhat behind time, and the train from Georgetown arrived about noon. A train arrived from Summerside late in the evening. The steamers are stuck in the ice since Monday. No mails Monday or yesterday.

The hardest task experienced by Capt. Dalaney in running the steamer Bruce was encountered on the trip from Port au Basque Nfld., to North Sydney, on Thursday last. From five o'clock Wednesday morning until noon Thursday the steamer was battered with ice packs extending from off Cranberry Head to the terminus wharf; but the Bruce was successfully docked at North Sydney.

The steamer Berlin, with passengers and crew, numbering one hundred and forty-one persons from Harwick to the Hook of Holland, was wrecked off the Hook of Holland Thursday morning. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was moved by Very Rev. Mgr. Gillis supported by several other and tendered the lecturer.

The sad intelligence reached here by wire a few days ago, of the sudden death of Mr. John G. McCormack at Houghton, Michigan. Deceased was the eldest son of the late Daniel McCormick, St. George's of this city. Deceased leaves to mourn one son, who was with his father at the time of his death, and two daughters, attending school in San Francisco, besides an aged mother, five brothers and four sisters. Particulars of his death will be furnished later.

The second of special Lenten sermons in St. Dunstan's Cathedral was preached on Sunday evening last, by Rev. Dr. MacLellan. His theme was the rule of faith, and his text was from the first Epistle of St. Peter, 1st. Chapter and 25th verse: "But the word of the Lord endureth forever, and this is the word which by the gospel hath been preached to you." The Rev. preacher pointed out the value of faith. A first cause can be proved by human reason alone; but belief in God, almighty, all-powerful, infinite, is an act of divine faith. The nature of a principle is reflected in the action flowing therefrom. God is an infinite being, infinite in intellect and intelligence, and our knowledge of infinite attributes are made known to us by Him. He alone can do this. Through his own goodness He has deigned us for supernatural aid. He has left us as the laws and the means of attaining thereto.

The Rev. preacher here referred to the rule of faith. The Bible is held by some to be the only rule of faith. He then enumerated many of the great qualities of the Bible. In the book of Genesis are narrated the great events pertaining to the creation of the world and of man and other great events connected with the beginning and early history of the human race and God's relation thereto. Likewise the New Testament gives us an account of the founding of the Church, and gives a history of the Sacraments. These Testaments are inspired. How do we know these scriptures are inspired? The Church has so answered. In the beginning of the church the Apostles were sent out "to teach all nations." They were not told to write or distribute Bibles. The New Testament was not yet written, so for many years afterwards. From this the Rev. preacher went on to show that something more was needed to complete the rule of faith. That additional something is divine tradition. The Bible and Tradition constitute the whole and only safe rule of faith. Adherence to this rule of faith is the only safe guide and by it alone can we work out our eternal salvation.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.
Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Assembly.
I most heartily welcome you on the occasion of your Conference for the performance of your Legislative duties, and congratulate you and the Province upon the general prosperity which has been vouchsafed to us through Divine Providence.

I am happy to inform you that an Inter-provincial Conference was held at Ottawa in October last, called by the Prime Minister of the Federal Parliament, to consider the terms of the financial subsidies paid to the Province, at which Conference my government was represented by the Premier of the Province and by Hon. Mr. Hughes. I have reason to believe that the deliberations of the Conference will result in the payment under the terms to which this Province, of a largely increased subsidy for the support of its Government and Legislature, thus putting the Province in a position to improve the public service without necessitating any increased taxation, and without rendering the Province liable to any deficit between revenue and expenditure.

I am also pleased to say that negotiations are in progress by my Government with the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa to have an Experimental Farm established on the Island. These negotiations, I trust, will soon be satisfactorily concluded, and the necessary legislation for carrying this object into effect will be submitted for your consideration.

My Government has also under consideration the question of the affiliation of the Prince of Wales College with the University of McGill at Montreal, which I have reason to believe will result in great benefit to our Island students. The necessity of building a new Jail and Poorhouse will be brought to your attention, the present buildings which are used for these purposes having become entirely unsuitable and unsanitary.

Measures regarding our Stock Farm will be submitted to you.

Negotiations are still in progress between my Government and the Federal Government with regard to the Fisheries; which question I trust will shortly be amicably arranged to the advantage of the Province.

Other matters of importance to the Province will also be submitted for your consideration.

The Public Accounts for the past fiscal year will be laid before you, and the Estimates of the Legation and Expenditure for the current year will be submitted. I feel assured that you will find the Estimates of Expenditure have been prepared with due regard to economy and the requirements of the public service.

I now invoke for your labors the blessings of Divine Providence, in the firm conviction that your efforts will result in great benefit to our Province and people.
