Just Hold the GILLETTE Naturally

Shaving with the GILLETTE is not a fine art, nor does it require skilled labor.
You may be "no good with tools," yet you can shave yourself easily and well with the Gillette Safety Razor.

Hold it lightly, as illustrated, and it falls naturally into the right shaving position, blade edge just touching the skin. Then draw it across the face, not hoe fashion, but with the Angle Stroke shown, and the keen GILLETTE blade will cut smoothly in any direction—with the grain, across it, or against it.

If you want a light shave, or if your skin is tender, screw the handle tight.

If you want a close shave, loosen the handle about a quarter turn. This allows the blade to spring away from the guard a little and take more hold. Buy a GILLETTE and forget your shaving troubles.

Standard Sets, $5.00. Pocket Editions, $5.00 to $6.00. Combination Sets, $6.50 up.
At your Druggist's, Jeweler's or Hardware Dealer's.

XI.—FACTS AND FIGURES.

We have to face the fact that in England about eight million persons exist always on the borders of starvation; about twenty million are poor.

While among the upper class 18 per cent of the children die before they reach five years of age we find that fifty-five per cent or more than half of the children of the working class die before the same period.

Out of forty million only one and a half million earn as much as fifteen dollars a week.

In London over a third of the population get less than five dollars per week per family, and one out of every four will die in some public institution.

There are in Scotland 560,000 persons who do not know the decency of even a two-roomed home.

In the British Islands no less than 4,280 workmen are killed and 20,000 permanently or partially disabled every year, which is as high as the average casualties in the Boer War.

In the Stats the New York Commissioner of Labour shows that even in prosperous times a population of four and a half million are permanently in want owing to unemployment. Half the adults earn less than $500.00 a year and nine-tenths earn less than $800.00, so that in wealthy U. S. A. there is but one-tenth of the adults earning more than $800.00 per year.

Can you imagine what a struggle is continually going on among these nine-tenths in order to keep their heads above water? Even here do we not feel that the struggle for bare existence takes all our time and energy. We cannot live by bread alone, and how much honour, culture, pleasure, rest or love fall to the lot of the wives and children of the poor. What sort of a life must they live in the great cities— is it any wonder that when a spare hour comes it is spent in cheap pleasure and exaggerated forms of enjoyment— anything that will take their minds from thoughts of existence and how the rent is to be paid next day. Rising when he has work at six in the morning and returning, many of them, not till six at night, seeing so little of his children that they hardly know him, and all this the product of our glorious (?) civilization!

And when one thinks of the few who hold millions upon millions of the filthy lucre, it is difficult to write calmly. There can be nothing but condemnation for them. How they can pile up untold wealth beside such suffering and need, and how the Church can passively uphold them are questions which puzzle the ordinary mind. The only consolation of the common individual is that the Great Judge of all will level things.

Just imagine, the dividends that flow from the wealth of South America into the pockets of British investors in one month exceed in amount the total expenditure on evangelical missions in that continent in a hundred years!

F. D. Smith of the Men and Forward Religious Movement says it is suicide if we do not get the limit this time in social betterment and the industrial situation; if the churches do not prove their sincerity and fearlessness on industrial wrongs this time, the door will never again be open to them.

J. P. Morgan's message is "Competition is Suicide," and he forewarns us that if we do not get the limit this time in social betterment and the industrial situation; if the churches do not prove their sincerity and fearlessness on industrial wrongs this time, the door will never again be open to them.

Which is the better master? The Democratic State or a combine of millionaires?

Don't you think it time that something was done? and don't be satisfied to call the bare means of physical existence, necessities. Sanitary dwellings, schools, books, art and religious communion are as much necessities as wholesome food and pure water.

Socialist doctrines are in evidence all over the world. Our factory laws, our co-operations, the activities of our municipalities and our wage clauses in public contracts are Socialist doctrines without our knowing it.

Lloyd George's National Insurance Bill and also that of Germany are great steps; profit sharing in many industries in England are in vogue.

and the profits of Municipal trading for the last two years show a mean trading profit of nearly five per cent. on capital. The City Council of Glasgow supply the people with water, gas, electric light, electric cars, telephones, theatres, parks, bath and wash houses, fruit and vegetable markets, cattle, cheese, old clothes, four slaughter houses. They own some 3,000 municipal houses, several hundred shops, warehouses and work-shops, a dozen halls, two churches, two hotels, a theatre, a studio, laundry and bake house. They farm a thousand acres of land producing hay for their horses as well as other crops and in many other ways does Glasgow benefit its people by co-operation.

Russia, Germany, Italy, Belgium, Denmark, Australia and New Zealand own their railways.

Under private control the Italian railways were starved, but on the Government taking them over the revenue was increased by £1,500,000 in the first year. Belgium's fares are about one quarter the average rate; Denmark, finding her railways floundering in private hands, bought them up, built more, and by cheap rates gave her dairy farmers that pre-eminent place which they hold in the markets of Europe. The lines of Australia are able to point to a revenue of £12,000,000 a year, out of which a clear £500,000 goes to the relief of taxation. New Zealand's trains are all excursion trains, double journey for single fare. They carry children free to the nearest school and the Government are able to inform the British Government that "nothing has done so much to develop the Dominion and to make New Zealand prosperous as comparatively cheap railway rates to the people of the whole country. In Germany one can travel for about half the fare charged in England.

In Italy just a month ago the State took over the monopoly of all Life Insurance.

So is the Socialist State coming slowly at first, but ever gathering momentum in this fast-moving age. Is it not a movement which you should be interested in?

The vote in Germany represents 25 p.c. of the total electorate, and in addition, the Social Democrats have 194 representatives in the State Legislatures. The U. S. A. also has 23 representatives in 5 Legislatures.

This means a vote altogether of about ten million or a family of say forty million.

So that Socialism must mean something when you find forty million people upholding it.

In Milwaukee recently when the overthrow of Socialism took place—according to the reports—the actual fact is that the Socialists increased their vote of 22,000 two years ago to 39,000 this year. This does not seem much of the backward movement and even their opponents there while dis-

The Churchill Estate.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Since the beginning of the investigation of the above estate by the Halfyards and Bolands, it has been the means of causing quite a commotion, and there are a number of people who say they have a prior claim to the Halfyards and Bolands.

We would like for those people to come forward and prove their claim. For the benefit of such if they would come to me I would read them a copy of Nicholas Churchill's will. If this does not satisfy them, they may apply in person to the Prerogative Court of Canterbury in Devonshire, England, and by paying the customary fee, receive a copy of the original will of Nicholas Churchill.

I imagine the claim of these people to be like a chain in several pieces, and the connecting links are not to be found.

It is not so with us, we have a chain with every link connected and certified from Nicholas Churchill down to the present generation.

We, the claimants, have been told by several that we should not try to disturb the people who are living on the said property. For the information of those we would like to say that we are not going to have anything to do with disturbing or removing them. We are going to disturb the man who betrayed the trust which was handed down to him by the executors of Nicholas Churchill's will, for the love of filthy lucre.

We are not going to be fooled like our father's before us were fooled, two or three years after the death of Miss Elizabeth Churchill, the last of the Churchill family. They raised funds for an investigation, paid it to certain lawyers, and after a while these lawyers informed the claimants that nothing could be done, simply because their fingers were greased better than our fathers could grease them, but these men are not with us to-day. Their office chairs are vacant.

We have behind us five organizations, two in the United States and three in Newfoundland.

We are prepared to take our case to the Highest Courts under the British Crown.

We have the information necessary, and we also have the men and means to fight our case to a finish.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your very valuable space.

I remain, yours in all civility,
JOSEPH D. HALFYARD.
