Britain Marches Steadily Onward.

STILL CARRYING TORCH OF CIVILIZATION, SAYS CANON CODY.

Rev. Canon H. J. Cody was in his best vein recently when he addressed a large gathering of members of the Canadian Club in the ballroom at the King Edward Hotel. Canon Cody drew largely on the incidents of his recent trip to England, and while at times his hearers were in roars of laughter, there were other occasions when he touched the deeper of pathos...

FRANCES W. H. TAFT.

Proceedings, Canon Cody touched on various aspects of his trip, and said that the passage fare to England was a great obstacle in the way of drawing nearer to the Motherland. The third-class now was as much as the first-class before the war. He travelled over with William Howard Taft, whom he described as one of the greatest international factors in the world to-day, and a man who was doing more than anyone else to promote a better understanding between Great Britain and the United States.

IN WESTMINSTER ABBEY.

Canon Cody described his experiences when he preached in Westminster Abbey, and said that although he was a Canadian born and bred, yet, on entering the Abbey he felt as if he were coming home. On viewing the monuments to the illustrious dead he said: "I felt that I, too, was of the blood and that I would try to be worthy of these great men whose voices seemed to be calling me from the past."

Spectacular Settings in "Gilded Lily."

MAE MURRAY SCORES AT THE NICKEL.

The principal attraction at the Nickel Theatre last night was "The Gilded Lily" featuring Mae Murray. The picture, depicting life as it is lived by a certain element of the Times Square mob, is shown with a great deal of veracity in this Paramount release. The types of Broadway rounders are faithfully and amusingly portrayed and the production has a fine setting without resorting to freak effects.

Household Notes.

If the children's coats have little inside cuffs, which can be pulled up by a string, their little arms will not get cold. As soon as meat arrives from the butcher it should be wiped off well with a clean cloth and put into the refrigerator.

Must do the duties of a friend. I've told it often to the boy, When trifling cares and tasks annoy, There is no idler's road to joy.

Nothing, however small it be, Can come to us without its fee, From toil no hand is wholly free.

Life grants no favors. As we grow, This we shall surely come to know— Evil or good, we make it so.
