Wedding Bells.

HEARTY—BISHOP.

Yesterday morning, in the little Chapel of Our Lady of Mercy, Military Road, Rev. Fr. Pippy of St. Joseph's parish, performed a quiet and very pretty wedding, uniting in the holy bonds of matrimony Elizabeth Nora, youngest daughter of Frederick and Mrs. Heartry, Bonavista, to Monroe, youngest son of Hon. R. K. Bishop. The bride, who wore a brown broadcloth travelling costume trimmed with brown beaver and hat to match, was attended by Mrs. J. C. Perez, who wore a brown crepe de chene dress and brown hat. The groom was supported by Fred J. Shortall. After the ceremony the party motored to the home of Mrs. J. C. Perez, where with only a few intimate friends a light lunch was served, after which the wedding party motored to Kelley's Hotel, Seal Cove, where a sumptuous repast was partaken of. The bride, who was formerly head operating Sister at the General Hospital, and the groom were the recipients of many valuable presents including cheques and congratulatory telegrams showing the esteem in which they were held by their friends. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque, to the bride a gold piece, and to the best man a gold filled fountain pen. That the sea's of matrimony will ever remain smooth and sparkling in the dazzling sun for Mr. and Mrs. Bishop is the sincere wish of all their friends.—Com.

Denny's New Role "Sporting Youth"

HAS WONDERFUL "HE-MAN" ACTION.

Life, love, a chauffeur's uniform and the thrill of the "roaring road" are the interwoven elements of drama and subtle comedy in "Sporting Youth," Reginald Denny's new Universal starring feature, which comes next week to the Star Theatre, with a bang full of thrilling tricks.

It is Denny's first multiple reel feature since "The Abysmal Brute," the Universal screen version of the famous Jack London novel.

The sporting youth is the youth of strenuous activities, always anxious to do something daring, whether it is racing in a five hundred horse-power aeroplane, tearing up the asphalt with a motor car, or climbing endless glaciers in search of the North Pole, barrier poles for example, are to be found along Main Street.

Never once does the picture degenerate to the level of showing the lower level of what is commonly called "sports," in any other light but the truth.

Denny was selected to play the stellar role of "Sporting Youth" because of the success he achieved for Universal on the screen in "he-men" roles such as "The Kentucky Derby," "The Abysmal Brute," and "Leather Pushers" series. His fame as an athlete preceded him from the land of his birth, England, and almost immediately after he landed, Karl Laemmle signed him for big roles.

The picture is literally crammed with thrills. The big annual Labor Day road race at San Luis Obispo, California, was filmed in connection with the making of the picture and several natural accidents add to the spectacular action of the race staged by the Denny company.

Harry A. Pollard, who guided the making of all the famous "Weather" series, in which Denny was starred, directed Denny in "Sporting Youth."

The Great Production To-Morrow

"NANOOK OF THE NORTH" OPENS TO-NIGHT.

When you will see "Nanook of the North" creep upon the mighty and dangerous walrus, spear him, slay him, and Nanook, his wife and tiny children eat him raw, you will be surrounded by the comfort and luxury of the Nickel Theatre, where this marvellous, true life story of the barren snowlands will be shown to-night.

But the first time this thrilling episode in the story of "Nanook of the North" was ever projected on a screen and witnessed by an audience was 800 miles north of civilization, on the east coast of Hudson Bay. The theatre was a shed belonging to a fur post. It was about forty feet long. On the walls and rafters hung bear and fox skins to dry; deer horns and dog harness. The odor would nauseate the unaccustomed.

On the rough wooden floor squatted Eskimos—men, women and children. The projection machine was not in a fireproof booth—it was a portable machine set upon a table. It was run by a gasoline engine. The noise was appalling.

It was the first time the Eskimos had ever seen a motion picture. But it was not the fact that they were witnessing anything so novel as a reproduction of themselves in action that interested them most, as it was the walrus hunt itself. They forgot it wasn't real, and shouted directions and warnings to their pictured selves.

EUGENE O'NEILL'S Great Play

Which Thos. Ince paid $100,000 for the Screen Rights.

A Drama that won the Pulitzer Prize as the Greatest American Drama for 1922, and a Play that took New York and London by storm. Interpreted by a splendid caste, including Blanche Sweet, William Russell, George Marion and Eugene Bresser.

Look! Who's Coming, Reginald Denny in Sporting Youth. Charlie Chaplin and Jackie Coogan in the Million Dollar production -- THE KID, in 5 Acts. Admission 20 cts.

Fashions and Fads.

A tube-like frock of ottoman has a triple hem of very shallow, square-cut scallopes. Metal paillettes and brilliantly beaded fruits seem extremely novel on serge frocks. For afternoon are some lames in small patterns suggestive of Persian influence.

"St. Elmo" Well Interpreted at Casino

YOUNG-ADAMS CO. SCORE IN POPULAR PLAY.

The ever popular play "St. Elmo" was beautifully interpreted by the Young-Adams Co. in the Casino last night. Mr. Young has undertaken to bring to life Augustus Evan's novel and has done it successfully. St. Elmo's love for Agnes and Murray, his bitterness upon discovering their falsity; his and Edna Earle's efforts to fight against their love, are made real, and enthralled the audience. H. Wilmot Young gives a masterful interpretation of St. Elmo and his performance was indeed sincere. As Edna Earle, Marjorie Adams lives the role every moment she is on the stage, and the character seems to have been made especially for her. Another outstanding role is that of the Rev. Alan Hammond, which is impersonated very capable by Edward H. Stauffer. Marguerite Young as Gertrude gives a faultless characterization of a part that suits her charm and grace. Edgar Jason was particularly good as Aaron Hunt as also was Alfred Stretton in the role of Dr. Harding.

Magnificent settings, clean, honest acting and clarity of enunciation all form an attractive ensemble. Last night's large audience, judging from the enthusiasm displayed, were of the one mind, namely that they had witnessed the magnificent presentation of a wonderful play. To-night, this play will be repeated, so we will refrain from divulging the plot here, and advise all who love and admire clean drama not to miss the Young-Adams Co. production of "St. Elmo." Go and witness this play, it's a panacea for gloom, and the music by the Orchestra together with the peppy vanderbilt between the acts will further help to roll the clouds away.

The play for Friday and Saturday will be "The Great John Ganton," a bill that you owe to yourself to see. "St. Elmo" will be repeated for the matinee performance on Saturday, for which tickets are already selling at Hutton's Music Store.

A button trimmed, double-breasted coat with the tiered cape and high waistline marks the Directorate influence.

An afternoon frock of black rep is trimmed with red straps, silver buttons and pleated chiffon. It is absolutely necessary to the chic of the very plain frock that it be of the best cut material. A blouse of thin, white broadcloth is worn with an ensemble costume of heavier woolen material. The very chic evening gown is a tube-like affair, quite short and with an extremely low decolletage in back.
