Premier Laurier on the Momentous Events of Sixty Years.

The Opposition Leader Joins in the Felicitations.

Commons last night, Hon. Mr. Laurier moved that the House consider the address to her Majesty, which had been passed by am sure the House will appreciate the language of that address. It seems to me to convey in very felicitous terms some of the splendors of what would be known in future ages as privilege, and I may say a privilege which will be more and more appreciated as time goes on, to live under what is certainly one of the most illustrious reigns in all historyertainly the most glorious of British history. In many respects the reign of her Majesty Queen Victoria re-sembles, and in other respects sur-passes the reign of Louis XIV. of France. In the number of years the reign of her Majesty approaches, though it does not yet equal, the reign of Louis XIV. In many respects it equals and in some other respects it surposses the reign of the French monarch, in the development of arts, and in literature it may be perhaps truly said that it is equal, if not whereas in the application of arts and ciences, to the comfort of mankind, and to the utility of the human race, it surpasses not only the reign of Louis XIV., but all other periods known to history. It was the misfortune of Louis XIV. that his reign was cursed by war, whereas the long reign of her Majesty has been comparatively free from that mighty scourge. Wars have been few, hapabove all this there has been the personality of the sovereign herself, and the personality of the sovereign herself, and plate with renewed satisfaction the fact that your Majesty is still the head

It gives me operation to have an opportunity of seconding this address to have a second necessary and the second er Majesty from the Parliament of anada. After the eloquent words to which we have all just listened with motherland. ter, no poor words of mine are required to commend this address to take the opportunity of expressing the satisfaction I feel that this tribute of the Parliament of Canada will be laid at the foot of the throne by one so well calculated in every way to represent this Dominion. (Cheers.)

The honorable mover of this address the cheedy attack that the Victorian Facebase and peoples owing fealty to the British Crown.

"We trust that we and your Majesty's subjects in other parts of the empire may continue for many years to come to enjoy the benefit of your facebase and peaceful rule, and we has already stated that the Victorian era will be one that will shed a luster on the world. He has referred to the fact that as a woman, as a wife and as a mother, her Gracious Majesty has presented an object of admiration and a model for the read admiration and a model for the read and the read an tion and a model for the women of every country and clime of the globe. The condition of the court over which her Majesty has presided has never in the history, certainly of this empire, been excelled, or I may say equaled. In everything that has con-tributed to elevate the tone of public sentiment, her Majesty has contrib uted in no light degree as a sover-eign. Her Majesty, although admin-istering a system of parliamentary government, which, during her reign, has probably reached the highest point that parliamentary government has every attained in any country, has yet, by her great ability, by her devotion to her public duties, ex-ercised a most potent influence on the administration of the affairs of the empire, and, as has already been mentioned, we have every reason to pelieve that on more than one occasion the voice and influence that her Majesty has acquired with the ministers of all parties has been such as to determine the fate of the nation towards peace rather than towards

THE GREAT ACHIEVEMENTS of her Majesty's reign, as far as we concerned, is the fullness with which the great principle of self-govrnment the great principle of self-gov-rnment has been conferred upon the utonomous colonies. bringing about a condition not only of complete and thorough devotion to the crown and to British institutions, but has resulted in the happiness, prosperity and well-being of all those great portions of the empire. Reference has been made, and properly made, in this adress, to the union of this Dominion, and the following words have been used: 'Your Ma-jesty's colonies in North America have with but one exception been gradually consolidated into a united Dominion, the people of which, we believe, will continue to be amongst the most loyal of the races and peoples owing fealty to the British crown. We all not only concur in that sentiment, but I think we will one and all agree that there will be no exaggeration in stating this, that not only is this a united Dominion, but it is a Dominion which is at this moment HAPPY AND PROSPEROUS as is to be found in any portion of th world. I trust that her Majesty wi still live to see a great confederation not only of Australasia, but of South Africa—(hear, hear)—and that thos great outlying portions of the empire, being thus reconsolidated, as the Dowould be known in future ages as minion of Canada has been in their the Victorian era. It has been our progress and prosperity, will become still more able and capable of strengthening the hand of the Imperial Government and increasing the greatness this great empire. In that prayer for long life and happiness of her Majesty we will be joined, not only by the people of all climes and by the peoples of all colors, and the peoples of all sections of the British Empire, but by every good man and woman throughout the world, who will wish long life and happiness to her Majesty the Queen."
