

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE TONIC AND Stomach and Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.
It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar.
It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous derangement.

CHAMBERSVILLE, IND., AUG. 20, '86.
To the Great South American Nervine Tonic Co.:
I have suffered for many years with a very serious disease of the stomach and nerves. I tried every medicine I could hear of, but nothing doing me any appreciable good until I was advised to try your Great South American Nervine Tonic and Stomach and Liver Cure, and also using several bottles of it I must say that I am such a fan of this wonderful remedy as to cure the stomach and nerves of my family, and also to give the value of this remedy as I do you would not be able to supply the demand.

A SURE CURE FOR ST. VITUS' DANCE OR CHOREA.

My daughter, eleven years old, June 22, 1887, was afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and only one great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unalarming disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

HARRIS E. HALL, of Wayne, Ind., says: "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, indigestion, nervous prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Stomach. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to build up the whole system in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the weak. You do, you may meet the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use the great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.

REFINED AND TASTEFUL.

A Handsome Design in the English Style.
Can Be Built For $3,500.
Copyright, 1887, by American Press Association.

The plans and perspective view here shown illustrate what can be done by the careful and judicious expenditure of a modest sum. The design is somewhat after the English style of architecture, with a hipped roof prettily broken by gables and dormer windows. Although quite simple in outline and details, the open timber cornices and heavy projections give a strong effect of shadows which are most picturesque. A veranda extends across the front of the building, with a handsome gabled porch to emphasize the main entrance. The open balcony above in the second story affords a pleasant view in the summer time.

The special features of this plan are the very convenient arrangement of the principal rooms and the location of the bathroom. From the porch you enter the staircase hall, which communicates directly with the dining room, parlor and library. Underneath the stairs is a closet, which is indispensable for coats, etc. The parlor and dining room are separated by sliding doors, and the library is reached by an opening which is intended to be hung with heavy portieres, or if desired, with a little extra expense, sliding doors could be furnished. The principal rooms can on state occasions be thrown open as one large room. From the dining room you pass through the pantry to a fully equipped kitchen, with all necessary plumbing fixtures, store closet, stairway to the cellar and back porch complete. In this case the bathroom is off the kitchen and has the usual fixtures. Some might object to having the bathroom in the first story on account of its not being so private nor convenient as it would be to place it in the second story, as is the usual case. The arguments in its favor are that it costs much less, it is easily kept warm, clean and comfortable and is more easily supplied with water in cases where there are no regular waterworks.

FIRST STORY.

In the second story are three splendid chambers, with ample closet room, and a neat and cozy dressing room adjoining the front chamber.

In the attic of this house one room only is finished. The remaining space is left for storage. The cellar floor is concrete; foundation walls of stone laid up in cement. The chimneys are of hard brick. Above the foundation walls the building is of wood, balloon framed, walls and roofs sheathed and covered with waterproof paper, and clapboarded in the first story and shingled above the belt courses; all outside woodwork of white pine. The inside walls and ceilings are hard finished on two coats of brown mortar. The ceilings in the principal rooms are ornamented with hand-some center pieces and plaster cavities. The woodwork of the stairs and hall is of red oak; all other inside finish of the first story of California redwood, all filled and varnished and rubbed smooth; all woodwork in second story and attic of white pine painted in two coats.

SECOND STORY.

The exterior of the house is painted in two coats; the roof is left a dark slate color, with shingles and clapboards on the sides a light brown, with dark brown trimmings; moldings picked out in black. This building would be very suitable for a doctor's or lawyer's residence, in which case the library could be used as an office and the parlor as a reception room. The building is heated by a furnace and can be erected for about $3,500.

If you are free from indigestion you need not fear cholera. If you are not free, you are in danger. K. D. C. will free you from indigestion and cholera.

FRUIT FLOWERS

STRAWBERRIES.

Treatment During and After the Fruiting Season.

In a bulletin issued from the Rhode Island experiment station L. F. Kinney, the horticulturist, advises, when practicable, that on the approach of the fruiting season the soil about the strawberry plants be stirred with a light hoe and a coating of wood ashes, ground bone, well rotted compost or other fertilizer scattered among them. Even if the land is already rich, such a treatment will increase the quantity and improve the quality of the fruit. In the latter part of May or the first of June the paths should be mulched to keep the soil moist and the fruit clean. The fruit is in best condition to be picked in the morning of the day it is to be marketed, but if picked in the afternoon and stored in a cool place over night it can be sold in good condition the following day. If allowed to stand in the sunlight, the fruit is soon injured.

After fruiting, the mulch in the paths should be removed and the ground thoroughly worked. If the plants are thick, the beds are improved by thinning. A coating of fertilizer can be profitably applied at this time. It insures a vigorous growth of the plants and the formation of strong crowns for the next season's fruiting. Every strawberry bed should bear at least two profitable crops of good fruit. The first crop is usually the larger, but requires a somewhat greater outlay to produce it than the second.

In setting out new beds, Mr. Kinney does not advise the average planter to employ a large number of varieties. He says: "Three or four kinds are enough for ordinary purposes, and those that are the most desirable at the present time we believe to be the Babcock, Charles Downing, Gandy and Haviland. These are all productive varieties, which, when well grown, bear fruit of rare excellence."

Sweet Peas.

As soon as sweet peas are well above ground the plants ought to be staked. This is an important point, and here are some directions from Vick: Give preference to new twiggy sticks undressed. The delight and beauty of the sweet pea is to ramble and hang from the points of the twigs and therefore should be allowed to ramble at will, and what is of the last importance is a much of some light material. Should the weather be dry and hot, and any refuse, such as well decomposed leaf mold, spent hops or horse droppings well broken, will answer this purpose, or all these mixed together would form an excellent dressing, and this to the sweet pea, and indeed to everything else, is of infinitely more importance than watering, beneficial as this is in some cases. The stakes should be put in with the crowbar and made thoroughly firm.

The Gladiolus.

The cultivation of the gladiolus is very simple. It thrives in any ordinary garden soil. Planted from the last of April to the middle of June in the eastern states, and correspondingly in other sections, it always flowers. It is one of

THE SNOW WHITE GLADIOLUS, the most useful and showy of cut flowers for house decoration. The bulbs should be lifted after the frost has wilted the foliage in the autumn.

There are many varieties of this flower, but the one depicted in the cut, it is claimed, is the best white gladiolus ever grown. Another variety worthy of special mention is the gladiolus childi. This new strain, which represents all the colors known to the gladiolus, is said to be stronger and more vigorous than many other kinds. Lemot's new hardy hybrid gladioluses, with their odd and fanciful markings and graceful shapes, are attracting deserved attention and must be seen to be fully appreciated. These last named are early and hardy.

Propagation by Layers.

All vines and plants that have runners or slender shoots that fall to the ground may be multiplied readily by layers. The blackcap raspberry is an instance. It is only necessary to secure the tip by a slight covering of earth to produce strong plants. In many cases it is necessary to lay down the branches and to cover them. When rooted, these layers are severed from the parent. The strongest plants, as a rule, are obtained by securing only one plant from a shoot. This is done by covering with earth at one point and over a bud. Generally speaking, the best season for working layers is when the leaves are forming in the spring, though soft and growing shoots may be layered in the summer and hardy shrubs in the fall.

"August Flower"

"I inherit some tendency to Dyspepsia from my mother. I suffered two years in this way; consulted a number of doctors. They did me no good. I then used

Relieved in your August Flower and it was just two days when I felt great relief. I soon got so that I could sleep and eat, and I felt that I was well. That was three years ago, and I am still first-class. I am never

Two Days, without a bottle, and if I feel constipated the least particle a dose or two of August Flower does the work. The beauty of the medicine is, that you can stop the use of it without any bad effects on the system.

Constipation While I was sick I felt everything it seemed to me a man could feel. I was of all men most miserable. I can say, in conclusion, that I believe August Flower will cure anyone of indigestion, if taken
