C. N. R. MALE CHOIR GIVES CONCER

Program Is Presented by Thirty Talented Artists Last Night.

FIRST OF SERIES

Thirty talented members of the well-nown C. N. R. Male Choir presented a oncert of extraordinary merit, consist-ag of seventeen popular and old-time concert of extraordinary merit, consisting of seventeen popular and old-time songs, last night at the C. N. R. Campbell street library. The choir itself a group of perfected singers, conducted and trained by Charles Foulkes, rendered five selections which brought many encores from the large audience.
Every member of the cast was dressed in white concert uniform, arranged on the library platform in circular order, with Charles Foulkes, the conductor, in the center.

with Charles Foulkes, the conductor, in the center.

The program was interspersed with several individual selections by members of the choir. Many comedy artists provided a humorous touch which added to the evening's brilliant program. M. Summerfelt, the well-known local instrumentalist, played several solos on the violin, mandolin, banjorine and tenor banjo. Mr. Summerfelt, who halls from Holland, and is spending his time in this country learning the language, is a great musiclan. Although versatile, his best accomplishment is the violin, his best accomplishment is the violin, and his solos on that instrument, "Eng-lish Glee" and "Negro Spiritual," brought forth rounds of applause from the audience, and encore after encore was asked for. Mr. Summerfelt is a musician nad composer of extraordinary ability, and appreciation of his selecdon't was shown by the enthusiasm with which he was received.

George Garrow, Scotch comedian, dressed in the native/costume, sang several popular Scotch songs in a manner worthy of the great Harry Lauder himself. "A Wee House 'Mang the Heather," and "On the Road to Inverie" were two numbers which had 500 people

The Advertiser has been definitely formed that, until yesterday at least, no definite price had been sub-mitted by the company to Sir Adam Beck, directed by the city/council to secure the same.

In the interim it would appear, however, that Sir Adam is still conducting his negotiations from time to time. The feeling is becoming prevalent, however, that no price will be forthcoming from the company and that it will be imperative to buy the road by arbitration Report Assured.

This has always been the conten-tion of the street railway authorities -that the city and company should arbitrate, in accordance with the proarbitrate, in accordan visions of bylaw 916.

There is no doubt that Sir Adam will have a report for the council, whether the company proffers any definite price or not. His engineers have surveyed the road and tendered a price which they feel would be fair and reasonable to all parties inter-

Vancouver, Oct. 18.—E. Norman Smith, editor of the Ottawa Journal, and president of the Canadian Press, arrived here yesterday on a visit to the coast. Asked for his opinion on the fact that the Panama Canal has divided Canada into two transportation areas and into two trading areas, Mr. Smith replied:

"Thanks to the Canadian Press, Canada is still one news area. So long as Canadian newspapers stick together and maintain that single press wire from Victoria clear across the Dominion to Halifax ticking with Canadian sentiment and Canadian news, we do not need to worry how many areas our transportation and trades are divided into so long as the divisions are economically sound.
