Huge Building Suddenly Hurled to Pieces From Some Un-Kaown Cause.

Fire Adds to Terror of Scene Wild Excitement

It is Supposed That at Least Thirty People Lost Their Lives.

New York, Oct. 29 .- The big building of Tarrant & Co., makers of medicinal specialties, standing at the northwest corner of Greenwich and Warren streets, and filled with chemicals, took fire in some way that, may never be known, at about 12:15 clock. One fire company from Station 60 had just arrived when a terrific explosion occurred and threw the entire engine crew down the stairway. The avenen, real-izing the danger of their position, rushed explosion had filled the street in front with a shewer of falling glass and small lebris, which sent the crowd that was already gathered on the opposite side-walk fleeing for safety. The second explosion occurred about The second explosion occurred about five minutes after the first, from the accounts of winesses. The building seemed to leap into the air, and in a moment masses of brick wall, timbers and stone were falling into the street. The force of the explosion tore away the walls of the big commission storehouses fronting on Washington street, and caused them to collapse, falling all at once in a mass of timbers, boxes and barrels, from which the fiames burst out from the Tarrant building like the belching of a cannon, at once broke forth.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The official announcement of the total population of the United States for 1900 is 76,295,220, of which 74,637,907 are contained in the 45 states, representing approximately the population to be used for apportionment purposes. There is a total of 134,158 Indians not taxed.

The total population in 1890, with which the aggregate population of the present census should be compared, was 63,039,756. Taking the 1890 population as a basis, there has been a gain in population of 13,225,464 during the past ten years, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent.

The tabulated statement shows that the population of New York state is 7,288,009, against 5,997,853 in 1890.

The number of Indians in the state not taxed is 4,771.
