

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD.

The Jury Decides That the Colonel Pay $1500 and the Inspector $500 for Their Inconsiderate Action.

In his address to the jury yesterday afternoon in the Gordon v. Denison and Stephens case, Judge Rose cautioned them to consider the evidence calmly and not to assume anything. If they found that the Magistrate had acted hastily and without due consideration it could be construed into an improper action.

A number of questions were then submitted to the jury. After being out for two hours the following answers were returned to the queries:

Was the defendant, the magistrate, actuated by any improper or indirect motive in granting the warrant in question?—We think not.

Was the defendant, the magistrate, acting in the supposed performance of the duties of his office and in good faith to enforce the attendance of a person he believed to be likely to give material evidence for the prosecution and that probably would pel to do so?—No.

Were such facts and circumstances brought to the knowledge of the magistrate as made it reasonable for him to believe that the plaintiff was such a person?—No.

Was the arrest on the 16th for the purpose of giving evidence on the 21st necessary or reasonable?—It was not either.

What damages do you find reasonable to be paid by the magistrate for the arrest under the warrant and also for the treatment of the plaintiff after his arrest? Find separate damages as to each.—£1000. 2s. 6d.

In directing the examination, search and imprisonment of the plaintiff or anyone of the three was the inspector actuated by any indirect or improper motive?—Yes.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?—No.

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to so believe?—No.

Was it necessary or reasonable under the circumstance for the inspector to order the examination, search or imprisonment, of any one of them?—It was unnecessary and most unreasonable.

What damages do you find unreasonable?

In directing the examination, and under the impression of the plaintiff or anyone of his associates, the inspector acted by any indirect or improper means to obtain the office?—No.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?—No.

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable to believe that the inspector was not?—No.

Was it necessary or reasonable under the circumstances for the inspector to order the examination of the plaintiff's papers, or of any one of them?—It was unnecessary, or not reasonable.

Did you find it unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and imprisonment—Five dollars?

A question has been raised by the defense as to whether the jury were not asked to decide upon the propriety of the search and argument in reference to the query which will be held this morning.

The following is the substance of the testimony of the witness in reference to the treasury of the Administration of Justice and not out of the private purses of the individuals who were there, as was said by Mr. Justice of the Peace Baxter.

In the case of Sheppard v. Ross, where

In directing the examination, search and improvement of the plaintiff for anyone of the three was the inspector actuated by any improper motive?

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to so believe?—Not so, if necessary or reasonable under the circumstances.

Was the examination, search or improvement, or any one of them?—It was unnecessary and improper.

What damages do you find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and improvement?—Five hundred dollars.

A question has been raised by the defence as to whether the jury were not asked to decide upon the facts, and the evidence and argument in reference to the question will be held this morning.

It is the duty of the Attorney General of the treasury of the Administration of Justice and not of the private purses of the members of the House of Commons, at least so says Mr. Justice of the Peace.

In the case of Sheppard v. Roas, where the plaintiff sued for damages on account of the search and seizure of his property, he was in the employ of the defendant, the jury found a verdict in favor of the latter. The defendant's argument may result in a new trial.

In directing the examination, search and imprisonment of the plaintiff for anyone of the three was the inspector actuated by any sinister motive.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to so believe?—No.

Was there any special circumstance or circumstance for the inspector to order examination, search or imprisonment, or otherwise?—It was unnecessary and most unreasonable.

What damages do you find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and imprisonment?—Five hundred dollars.

A question has been raised by the defence as to the propriety of the jury deciding questions of law instead of evidence and argument in reference to the query whether the plaintiff was injured.

The damages will come out of the treasury of the Administration of Justice and the Government will be liable to the Colonel and the Inspector, at instance to say Mr. Justice of the Peace Baxter.

In the case of Sheppard v. Ross, where the plaintiff was injured by the defendant in injury sustained by his hand while in the employ of the defendant, the jury returned a verdict for the plaintiff and the outcome of the argument may result in a new trial.

Dr. G. S. Ryerson on Canada's Future.
[From a letter to "The Washington Post," dated 11th March, 1898.]

Dr. G. S. Ryerson, a leading American statesman, writes to the Washington Post, "The United States is an 'evangelical' country," for reasons, which are: First, sentimental—that is, national sentiment; second, commercial. In considering the sentimental sentiment one must bear in mind that your race are not sentimentalists, that you have learned to regret events that they esteem, that to become American citizens is to become sentimentalists. Therefore, we are proud and add a history in which we have no part.

There are three reasons against annexation, that it would ruin our infant manufactures, would embarrass our wholesale trade, and would upset our commercial system that chaos would follow for years thereafter. The long and short of the whole matter is—the Canadian people do not want to be annexed, and they will with their lot, and any attempt for

In directing the examination, search and imprisonment of the plaintiff for anyone of his kind was the inspector actuated by any inducement.

There was acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office.

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to act as believed?—No.

Was the testimony of the plaintiff in any circumstance for the inspector to order the examination, search or imprisonment, or, if not, was the testimony unnecessary or more unreasonable.

What damages will the jury find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and imprisonment—$1000 or a hundred dollars.

A question was then raised by the defence as to whether the jury were not asked to decide questions of law instead of evidence and argument in reference to the question of damages.

The damages will come out of the treasury of the Administration of Justice and the Government of Canada, and not of the Colonel and the Inspector, at least so says Mr. Justice of the Peace Baxter.

Mr. Justice of the Peace said, where the plaintiff sued for damages on account of an injury sustained by his hand while working in a mine, and the jury found that he found a verdict in favor of the latter, the outcome of the arguments may result in new trial.

Dr. G. B. Ryerson on Canada's Future.

Dr. Ryerson, of the University of Toronto, in his "Annexation of British North America to the United States is an 'eventual impossibility,'" for reasons, which are: First, sentimentality, that is, national sentimentality, which is a strong feeling of love and esteem for one's country, which is the basis of all the reasons of sentiment one must bear in mind; that your heroes are not ours; that we have learned to revere events that you have not; that we have a history of our own; we would have to wipe out a part of which we are proud and adopt a history in which we are not.

The business reasons against annexation are that it would ruin our infant nascent industries, that it would ruin our foreign trade, and would to completely upset our commercial system that chaos would reign in the country, and that the author of the whole matter is—the Canadian people. He does not desire annexation, they are contented with their lot, and any attempt to force it on them will be met with armed resistance.

Elgin Myers and Goldwin Smith May Go to Detroit.

[Detroit News, Jan. 16.]

There is a movement now afoot to invite Elgin Myers and Goldwin Smith to Detroit to talk on the question of political union with Canada. The people of this side of the continent are not yet ready to realize the benefits of continental union.

Myers and Smith are two of the foremost men in Canada, and no one can doubt they would be a great asset.

In directing the examination, search and improvement of the plaintiff for anyone of the three was the inspector actuated by any sinister motive.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to so believe?—No.

Was it necessary or reasonable under the circumstances for the inspector to direct the examination, search or improvement, or any one of them?—It was unnecessary and unreasonable.

What damages do you find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and improvement?—Five hundred dollars.

A question has been raised by the defence as to whether the jury were not asked to decide questions of fact, instead of questions of law and argument in reference to the query will be held this morning.

It is to be remembered that the treasury of the Administration of Justice is not out of the private purses of any one, and the inspector, at least so says Mr. Justice of the Peace.

In the case of Sheppard v. Ross, where the plaintiff sued for damages on account of the search and improvement of his premises in the employ of the defendant, the jury found a verdict in favor of the latter. The outcome of the argument may result in a new trial.

Dr. G. S. Myerson on Canada's Future.
(After a letter: "The Washington Post.")

Annexation of British North America to the United States is an "eventual impossibility," says Dr. Myerson, who is first a sentimentalist—that is, a politician. Second, commercial. In considering the reasons of sentiment one must bear in mind that your heroes are not ours; that your sentimentalism is not ours; that your esteem, that to become American citizens we have to adopt a past of which we would have to wipe out a history in which we have no part.

The business reasons against annexation are that it would ruin our infant manufactures, our shipping, our commerce, our foreign trade, and would to completely upset our commercial system that chaos would reign for years. The long and short of it is, the whole matter is—annexation, they are content to do not desire annexation, they are content to live with their lot, and any attempt to force it on them will be met by armed resistance.

Elgin Myers and Goldwin Smith Say May Go to Detroit.
[Detroit News, Jan. 16.]

There is no reason, say the two, to invite Elgin Myers and Goldwin Smith to Detroit to talk on the question of political union with Canada. The people of this side of the line do not seem to fully realize the extent of the opposition to the union of the two countries. Myers and Smith are two of the foremost agitators of the question in Canada, and no one who has been given a good opportunity to enlighten the public mind on the progress of the movement in Canada.

Was he acting in good faith in the supposed performance of the duties of his office?

Did such facts appear as made it reasonable for the inspector to do so?—No.

Was he acting reasonably under the circumstances for the purpose of the examination, search or imprisonment, or of any of them?—It was unnecessary and most unnecessary.

What damages do you find unreasonable to be paid by the inspector for the examination, search and imprisonment?—One hundred dollars.

A question has been raised by the defence as to whether the jury were asked to decide questions of law instead of questions of fact and argument in reference to the question whether the plaintiff was injured.

He held this morning.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the treasury of the Administration of Justice and not out of the private purses of the defendants. The jury must so say.

Mr. Justice of the Peace Barker.

In the case of Sheppard v. Ross, where the plaintiff was injured on account of an injury sustained by his horse while in the employ of the defendant, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the latter. The outcome of the inquiry may result in a new trial.

Amerecation of British North America is a question of the greatest importance, not only for reasons which are sentimental—that is, national sentiment—but, second, commercial. In considering the reasons of sentiment one must bear in mind that we are a young nation; that you have learned to regret events that you esteem, that to become American citizens is to become a part of a people with whom we have no part.

They are facts, not mere theories, which would embarrass our agriculture, trade, and would so completely upset our commercial relations with Great Britain that in ten years thereafter. Michael's hospital and many a woman would have been in looking at the majestic man who looked so peaceful and serene even in death.

Further Michael O'Reilly was born in 1852 at Grand County, Iowa, and received a classical education at St. Mel's Seminary, Leavenworth. When about 20 years of age he came to this country and studied at St. Joseph's Seminary, Leavenworth, and the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Niagara Falls, and also at Montreal.

After his graduation in 1880, 1885 and 1886 and had been stationed at Thorold and Merrittton, Stayer, Brentwood, and for the last 15 years at St. Joseph's, Leavenworth.

He was a man of great piety and was immensely. Of immense frame, standing five feet four inches in his stockings, his hair was black and wavy, his eyes were blue and away everything he had, and no trace of sorrow went unheeded.

He was a man as man his father, his manner was immense, and he spoke to his parishioners as a father to his family. He was a firm and kindly man, who so won the hearts of all who came in contact with him that the sorrow at his death is deep and universal.

The illness which caused his death was a complicated one. At the time of his death he was suffering from diabetes, with pneumonia. He has been suffering with pneumonia for some time, but he was able to attend to his parish duties. Six weeks ago he said his last mass.

The funeral will be removed to St. Joseph's Parsonage, 122 Leslie street and the funeral will take place on Thursday, June 10, at 10 o'clock, high mass being celebrated in the church. The casket will be borne in St. Joseph's Church at 8.30. His Grace the Archbishop will officiate.

ALL BURNS REPLIED.

Michael's Hospital and many a woman buried him. His death was peaceful and grand even in death.

Father Michael O'Reilly was born in the town of St. Catharines, Ontario, and received a classical education at St. Mel's Seminary, Longford. When about 50 years of age he came to his present home, where he was assigned to the parish of St. Michael's College, Toronto, and the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Niagara Falls, and also at Montreal.

He was born on December 21, 1857, and had been stationed at Thorold and Merriton, Stayner, Brentwood, and for the last 10 years at St. Michael's College.

The personal attractions of the man were immense. Of immense frame, standing 6 feet 10 inches tall, with a head of hair which was large in proportion. He literally gave away everything he had, and no tale of sorrow went unaided.

He was a man of his fondness for humor was immense, and he spoke to his parishioners as a father to his family. He was a free and easy talker, and he had the hearts of all who came in contact with him, and the sorrow at his death is deep and universal.

The illness which caused his death was as complicated one. At the time of his death he was suffering from pneumonia, pleurisy, and pneumonia. He has been suffering for two years, and for the last two months unable to attend to his parish duties. Six weeks ago he was confined to his bed.

Orr the better qualified for the position and it was for that reason that I supported him. I would not do the same thing this year. I would support Ald. Orr if he were nominated." He said on four days ago I met Ald. Hallahan. He Michael's Hospital and many a woman burst into tears. The funeral was a beautiful affair that looked so peaceful and grand even in death.

Father Michael O'Reilly was born in 1892 in the town of St. John's, Newfoundland. He received a classical education at St. Mel's Seminary, Longford. When about 20 years of age he came to Montreal to study at St. Michael's College, Toronto, and then at the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Niagara Falls, New York, and at the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Montreal.

He was ordained priest in 1917, 1885 and had been stationed at Thorold, Ontario, Merritt, Slayner, Brentwood, and for the last 15 years at St. Michael's, Montreal.

The personal attractions of the man were immense. Of immense frame, standing over six feet tall, with a head like a giant, his nose was large in proportion. He literally gave away everything he had, and no tale of his generosity was ever told.

As a preacher and as a man his fund of humor was immense, and he spoke to his congregation in a simple, direct, and convincing manner. He was a firm and kindly man who won the hearts of all who came in contact with him. He was a man who had a heart as big as the sorrow at his death is deep and universal.

The illness which caused his death was of a complicated one. At the time of his death he was in the hospital, suffering from pneumonia. He has been suffering for two years, and for the last two months unable to get out of bed. He died at 10:30 a.m. on Sunday, April 22, 1934.

His grave will be in the Holy Angels.

THE BURNING BODY

This morning the body will be removed to the funeral home, where it will be prepared and the funeral will take place on Thursday morning, a requiem high mass being celebrated at 10:30 a.m. at St. Michael's, Montreal.

ALD BURNS REPLIED

He Denies That He Frontsided Ald. Hallahan

The unexpected defeat of Ald. Hallahan for the chairmanship of the Parks and Gardens Committee was discussed by nearly everyone around the City Hall yesterday.

It was said that Ald. Burns, who would support him for the chairmanship, had been told by Ald. Hallahan that he would support him for the chairmanship.

"I considered Ald. Orr the best man for the job," said Burns, "and I thought that reason that I supported him. I was not doing the same thing again to-morrow. Three or four days ago I met Ald. Hallahan. He said that he would support me for the chairmanship of the Board of Health, and I told him that my name had been prominently mentioned for the chairmanship of the Board of Health. I would not stand any chance of getting it; that he had served the council for many years and that he was a very good man. I would also have to wait my time."

"Regarding Saturday night's caucus," said Burns, "I was not present. I received a phone message, either from the Mayor or from some one acting for him, asking me to call at his office at half-past seven. I promised to do so, but I was not able to do so. I know I got there what was the object of the caucus?"

Michael's Hospital and many a woman who had been in the hospital for a long time, faces that looked peaceful and grand even in death.

Father Michael O'Reilly was born in 1867 in the town of Kesh, Ireland. He received a classical education at St. Mel's Seminary, Longford. When about 50 years of age he came to this country and entered the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Niagara Falls, and also at Montreal.

He was ordained in 1893, at St. 1885, and had been stationed at Thorold and Merrilton, Stayner, Brentwood, and for the last 12 years at St. John's, London, Ont.

The personal attractions of the man were immense. Of immense frame, standing 6' 4", with a head of hair that was turning gray, he was large in proportion. He literally gave away everything he had, and no talismanic sorrow went unheeded.

He was a man of a man's fine sense of humor was immense, and he spoke to his parishioners as a father to his family. He was a man of great heart, and his words of hearts of all who came in contact with him that the sorrow at his death is deep and universal.

The illness which caused his death was a complicated one. At the time of his death he was 67 years of age, and had been in the hospital for two years, and for the last two months unable to attend to his parish duties. Six weeks before his death he was confined to his bed.

This morning the body will be removed to St. Joseph's Parsonage, 172 Leslie-street, and will be buried in the cemetery at 10 o'clock this morning, a requiem high mass being celebrated in St. Joseph's Church at 10.30. His Grace the bishop will officiate.

AID BURNS REFUSED.

He Denies That He Promised Aid. Hallahan Dies Support.

The unexpected death of Aid. Hallahan for the chairmanship of the Parks and Garden Committee was discussed by nearly everyone around the City Hall yesterday.

"I never promised Aid. Hallahan that I would support him for the chairmanship," said the Mayor yesterday afternoon. "I considered Aid. Orr the better qualified for the position and it was for that reason that I supported him. I would not have said anything about it if he had not or four days ago I met Aid. Hallahan. He asked me what I thought about the chairmanship and I told him that I did not think that my name had been prominently mentioned by the papers. His answer was that he would be doing his best to get the thing; that he had served the council three years before he got anything and that I would be doing my best to get it."

Regarding Saturday night's caucus early in the afternoon I received a telephone message, either from the Mayor or from some one there, where was the council at his office at half-past seven, promised to do so, but I did not know where he was, there was the object of the meeting. At that meeting the only thing definitely decided upon was that the Mayor would be the chairman of the Fire and Light Committee. Regarding the other chairmanships it was merely suggested that the Mayor might get the Parks, Aid. Saunders the Executive Committee, Carlyle the Waterworks, Aid. Crawford the Property and Aid. Stewart the Markets and Public Buildings Committee.

Rev. Dr. McTavish presided at the annual business meeting of Central Presbyterian Church. The management report showed that the average collections for the year were about the same as in 1891, viz., $412.35 per week, or $21,742.50 for the year. The expenditure for the present year was estimated at $618.00, or a weekly expenditure of $117.00, to be provided for at the rate of 10 per cent of income. The church was renovated and improved at a cost of $771.31, of which some $300.00 still remains to be raised.

The report was adopted and the following resolutions were adopted and adopted by the board of management:

Resolved, That the following be the budget for the year 1892: $200.00 for salaries, $200.00 for fuel, gas and water, $200.00 for interest, $100.00. The mortgage debt of $10,000.00 to be paid in 1892. The amount contributed for missionary and benevolent purposes was about $4000. The report of the board of management and membership list was in a very satisfactory condition, the present muster roll having 50 names inscribed.

Michael's Hospital and many a woman who had been in the hospital for a long time, but who had been so kind and friendly that I looked at her as peaceful and grand even in death.

Father Michael O'Reilly was born in Ireland, came to Canada by Longford and received a classical education at St. Michael's Seminary, Longford. When about 20 years of age he came to this country and was educated at St. Michael's College, Toronto, the Seminary of the Holy Angels, Montreal and the University of Toronto.

He was ordained priest Sept. 21, 1895 and had been stationed at Thorold and Merrickville, Ont., his last assignment being at St. Joseph's, Leasideville.

The personal attractions of the man were not of the ordinary type. He was about 5 feet 4 inches in his stockings, his hair was large in proportion. He literally gave the impression of a man who had no sorrow went unheeded.

As a preacher and as a man his fund of knowledge was so great that he was able to parlayhouse as a father to his family. He was a firm and kindly man who won the respect of all who came in contact with him. The sorrow which caused his death was universal.

The illness which caused his death was not of an acute nature. At the time of his death he was suffering from diabetes, with pneumonia. He has been suffering for two years with diabetes and had been obliged to attend to his parish duties. Six weeks ago he said his last mass.

His funeral will be removed to St. Joseph's Paragon, 172 Leslie street and the funeral will take place on Thursday, September 10, at 10 o'clock. The service will be celebrated in St. Joseph's Church at 10.30. His Grace the Archbishop will officiate.

ALD BURNS REFUSES.

He Denies That He Promised Ald. Hallam His Support.

The unexpected defeat of Ald. Hallam for the chairmanship of the Parks and Gardens Committee was discussed by nearly everyone around the City Hall yesterday.

"I never promised Ald. Hallam that I would support him for the chairmanship," declared John J. Burns, Ald. Crawford, "and I am sorry that I did not do so. I thought that I had promised him that support. I considered Ald. Orr the better qualified for the position and it was for that reason that I did not support him. I would do the same thing again to-day, to-morrow or four days ago. I met Ald. Hallam. He was very friendly and I thought that he was a man of the Board of Works. I thought that he had served the council seven years before he got anything and that was why I did not support him."

"Regarding Saturday night's election early in the afternoon I received a telephone call from Ald. Hallam. He was calling from some one acting for him, asking me to call at his office at half-past seven. I promised to do so, but I did not get there until I got there what was the object of the meeting. As that meeting on the night of Saturday night I was not a member of the Board of Works and the Parks and the Fire and Light Companies. Regarding the chairmanship of the Board of Works and the Parks and the Fire and Light Companies, I inferred that Ald. Hallam was to get the chairmanship of the Board of Works and the Parks, Ald. Saunders the Executive, Ald. Crawford the Fire and Light Companies, and Property and Ald. Stewart the Markets. I promised nothing."

Central Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Dr. McVail presided at the annual meeting of the Central Presbyterian Church. The managers report showed that the average collections for the year were about the same as in 1891, viz., $112.35 per week, as against $112.28 the previous year. The total collections for the year were estimated at $6150, or weekly expenditure of $117, which will be provided for at the present rate of collections. The total cost of the church was renovated and improved at a cost of $771.31, of which some $300 was contributed by the congregation.

The report was adopted and the following were elected upon the board of management: Rev. Dr. McVail, Wm. H. Crawford, Fred Jones, W. D. W. Livingston, H. D. Bain and L. M. Livingston. The managers' statement showed the receipts for the year to be $6150, the total expenditure $6068.95, leaving a deficit of $11.07. The principal items of deficit were: salaries, $110.00; fuel, gas and water, $201.61; interest, $103.61. The mortgage debt was $1000.00. The total amount contributed for missionary and benevolent purposes was about $4000. The report was adopted and the following were elected upon the board of management: Rev. Dr. McVail, Wm. H. Crawford, Fred Jones, W. D. W. Livingston, H. D. Bain and L. M. Livingston.

WATERWORKS, N. Y., July 17.—John Wright, a Canadian boy 15 years of age, who has been arrested here by an officer from the New York State Police, is charged with the murder of a woman named Mary Ann Wright, who had been employed by a farmer. The family went away leaving the boy on the premises alone. The woman was found dead in a room and other valuables, removed his trunk and after completing his depredations fled. The body of the woman was found in a mirror and mixed it with pie and other eatables, evidently for the purpose of poisoning the boy. The boy was discovered when he was arrested.
