In the suit of the Direct Cable Company vs. the Dominion Telegraph Company, in which the plaintiffs entered action to restrain the defendants from proceeding with a certain arbitration between the two Companies, judgment was delivered by Vice-Chancellor Blake on Wednesday in favour of the former. On the question of the jurisdiction of the court to deal with the question, his lordship held to the general rule that the court retains jurisdiction, unless it is expressly taken away after a recital of all the facts. He thought that if there was no other well founded objection to the plaintiffs' case, the suit was one in which they were entitled to the interference of the Court on the question of the cross relief asked for by the defendants. In case the suit was entertained by the Court, his lordship thought the subject of the request formed no direct answer to the Bill. He decided that the plaintiffs are entitled to the declaration asked for, with costs, against the defendants' company, and the costs of the company's defendants.

The English correspondent of the London Avertiser says: "You will be glad to hear that Dr. Punzon is much better in health and able to resume his secretarial duties at the Mission Hall, Bishopgate street. He lost his son a few months ago—a fine promising young man, 26 years of age, a B. A. of Cambridge. This was a great affliction to the father. However true, the great healer, and divine grace, the greater healer, have brought about a happy change in his health and spirit, and all his old friends in Canada, who heard, through the public journals, of his illness, will now be pleased to hear of his convalescence. Perhaps I ought further to say that the accounts given in various newspapers of his serious illness would convey to the general reader too grave an impression, going much beyond the actual facts. I believe the doctor was present last Tuesday at an important meeting of the English Committee, which is making arrangements for the Ecumenical Methodist Conference, to be held in London next autumn, or fall, as you would say in Canada."
