DION AND THE SIBYLS.

By Miles Gerald Keon

A CLASSIC CHRISTIAN NOVEL.

CHAPTER II.-Continued.

"Not since we came," said Paulus.

The officer thanked him and trotted back, and the freedman had not been so the proconsul of Greece gives the absorbed in watching the occurrence shows? I, mean those who ride the and scene described as to remove small, long-tailed horses without their eyes for more than a mo- any ephippia (saddle-cloths), and ment at a time from their dearly- even without bridles-the soldiers loved charge, the interesting little in flowing dress, with rolls of linen mourner who had begged to be al- round their heads?" lowed to rest under the chestnut trees. It was not so with Agatha plied Philip. "Ah! Rome dreaded herself. The child was at once as those horsemen once, when Hannitomshed, bewildered and enrapt- bal the Carthaginian and his motured. Had the spectacle and re- ley hordes had their will in these rived with the litters along the view before her been commanded fair plains." by some monarch, or rather some As he spoke, a strange move-magician, on purpose to snatch her ment occurred. The general or little distance were following. from the possibility of dwelling legatus dismounted, and, giving longer amid the gloom, the regrets the bridle of his horse to a soldier and the terrors under which she began to walk slowly up and down far-spreading shade of the same had appeared to be sinking the side of the road. No sooner trees. In the ivory litter reclined neither the wonder of the spectacle, had his foot touched the ground When it occurred, nor the loveliness squadron seemed to rise like a theatre, could have been more op- little clang of arms, but with one Egypt, and so expensive as to be Portunely combined. She had not shart, sharp cry, or whoop, it violently aroused.

videntally assisting.

of the Practorian guards.

prescribed for our darling better."

mistress-land, the Gods of Italy."

troops, dear," he said. and this last with a healing inhonor to Hippocrates, began to pathetic frenzy. stimulate her interest by the which never knew agency of suspense and mystery.

lais, and my little one too," he masters turned loose at night into said, in a most impressive and the fields, and which came boundsolemn voice, "these be the genii ing and neighing at the first call, and these be the demons indeed; were now madly plunging, wheeling but I tell you that you have not seen all the month for a presently they be Seen all the secret. Something is going to happen. Attend to me Well Von behold a most singular well! You behold a most singular thing! Are you aware of what you carried a trumpet and rode a behold? Yonder, Master Paulus, is pony, or at least a horse smaller the allotted portion of horse for than the rest of the barbs, ("Bermore than three legions; the justus ber hoeses", suddenly halted upon equitatus, I say for a Roman army the outside of the mad cavalry of twenty thousand men. Yes, I attest, all the gods," continued Philip in a low voice, but with great earnestness, and glancing from the brother to the sister as if his prospects in life were contingent upon his being believed in this. "I was at the battle of Phillippi, and I aver that yonder is more than the right allotment of horse for three legions. Observe the squadrons, the turmae; 'they do not consist of the same arm; and instead of being distributed in bodies of three or four hundred each to a legion, they are all to-Sether before you without their legions. Why is that, master Paulus?"

swered the freedman, with a mysterious shake of the head.

"And those," pursued she, with increasing interest; "who are those whose faces shine like dusky copper and whose eyes glitter like the eyes Meanwhile Paulus and his mother of wild animals in the arena, when "They are the Numidians," re-nor the amenity of the evening than the whole of the Numidian in a long palla of blue silk, a maof the landscape which formed its covey out of the stubble field; with only never beheld anything so burst from the highroad into the magnificent, but her curiosity was meadow land. There the evolutions which they performed seemed Paulus exchanged with his at first to be all confusion, only mother and the old freedman a for the fact that, although the glance of intelligence and of intense horsemen had the air of riding atisfaction, as they both noted capriciously in every direction, the parted lips and dilated eyes crossing, intermingling, separating which was set a gem, and scarlet with which the child half an hour with which the child, half an hour galloping upon opposite curves, and shoes embroidered with mostle ago so alarmingly ill, contemplated tracing every figure which the shoes embroidered with pearls. The drama at which she was acthe drama at which she was ac- whim and fancy of each might ter was attired in the stole of a dictate, yet no two of them ever ter was attired in the stola of a "That's a rare doctor," whisper-came into collision. Indeed, fan-philip pointing to the general ed Philip, pointing to the general tastic and wild as that rhapsody robe, thrown back from the neck, "No doctor," replied Paulus, in broken appeared to be, some printhe same low tones, "could have ciple which was thoroughly understood by every one of them gov-"Paulus," said Agatha, "what erned their mazy gallop. It was significance among the Roman are these mighty beings? Are these as accurate and exact as some ladies, ("Nil mihi cum vitta," says the genii, and the demons of the stately dance of slaves at the im- the profligate author of the Ars perial court. It was, in short, it-"They are a handful of Italy's self a wild dance of the Numidian past thirty years of age; she had a cavalry, in which their reinless She looked from her brother to horses, guided only by the flashthe lady and then to the freedman. ing blades and the voices of their ful in features and general effect as riders, manifested the most vehestinct which would have done ment spirit and a sort of symwhich never knew the bridle, and went thus mouth-free even into "Master Paulus, and Lady Ag- battle-these horses which their

3 for a Cent Three delicious summer drinks for one cent. Two teaspoonfuls of

Sovereign Lime Juice

to a glass of ice water, sweetened to the taste, makes the most healthful, the most satisfying, and the most refreshing, of all hot weather beverages. And broad pathway already noticed, and a group of attendants at a

3 glasses cost only IC. Sovereign Lime Juice is the pure juice of finest West India Limes, with the natural flavor of the fresh ripe fruit.

Sold by Grocers and Druggists Refined and bottled by SIMSON BROS. CO., LTD., HALIFAX, M.S.

This new party were now halting with our travellers beneath the a girl of about seventeen, dressed terial then only just introduced from India, through Arabia and beyond the reach of any but the richest class. Her hair, which was of a bright gold color, was dressed in the fashionable form of a helmet, (galerus), and was enclosed behind in a gauze net. She wore large inaures, or ear-rings, of some of manoeuvres into which they had and a tunic of dark purple which vittae, which had an honorable very sweet, calm, and matronly air; her countenance was in beauti> character. Her companion in the litter of ivory and gold, was not more than half her age, was even more beautiful, with an immense wreath of golden hair, and with large blue > eyes, darkening to the likeness of black as she gazed earnestly upon any object. But she had a less gentle physiognomical expression. Frequently her look was penetrating, brief, impatient, sarcastic, disdainful. She had a bewitching

TO EVERY SUBSCRIBER New and Old

Who will send us One New Subscriber and 25 cents we will send them the

Family Herald and Weekly Star FOR ONE YEAR

Together with the following beautiful premiums.

Two Beautiful Colored Pictures . . .

Each 22 x 28 inches, in 11 delicate tints,

AND

A Large Colored Map of the Dominion of Canada (22 x 28 inches), with Special Maps for Each Province and for the United States.

The two pictures to be given are typical bits of child life. The prevailing note in each is-as it should be-bubbling enjoyment of the moment, with just a touch of one of the evanescent shadows of child-hood to throw the gay colors into relief. They will please and charm upon any wall where they may hang, bringing to one an inner smile of the soul even on the darkest day. For what can shed more happiness abroad than the happiness of children?

One of the pictures is called

Heart Broken"

We will not let the reader into the secret of what has happened, but one of the merry little companions of the woeful little maid whe has broken her heart is laughing already, and the other hardly knows what has happened. Cut flowers nod reassuringly at them, and a bright bit of verdure covered wall stands in the background. There is something piquantly Watteauesque about one of the petite figures, suggesting just a touch of French influence on the artist.

The other picture presents another of the tremendous perplexities of childhood. It is called

Hard to Choose"

As in the other picture, we will not give away the point made by the artists before the recipients analyle it for themselves. Again there are three happy girls in the picture, caught in a moment of pause in the midst of limitless hours of play. One of the little maids still holds in her arms the toy horse with which she has been playing. Flowers and butterflies color the background of this, and an arbour and a quaint old table replace the wall.

The two pictures together will people any room with six happy little girls, so glad to be alive, so care-free, so content through the sunny hours amidst their flowers and butterflies, that they must brighten the house like the throwing open of shutters on a sunny

"I know not," said Paulus. "Ah!" resumed the freedman, "You know not, but you will know presently. Mark that, little Mistress Agatha, and bear in mind that Philip the freedman has said to your brother that he will know all presently."

The child gazed wonderingly at the troops as she heard these "Who are mysterious words. those?" asked she, pointing to the squadrons of those still in column. "Who are those in leather jerkins, covered with the iron scales, and riding the large, heavy horses."

"Batavians from the mouths of the Rhine and the Scheldt," an-leapfrog. A Numidian boy, who whirlpool which had been formed and flung himself flat at full length upon the back of the diminutive ode, of animal. Instantly the whirl, as it subject. circled toward him, straightened itself into a column, and every horsemen rode full upon the stationery pony, and cleared both steed more, and walked quietly towards and rider at a bound, a torrent of the spot with his helmet in his cavalry rushing over the obstruction with wild shouts. "That is Numidian sport, master Paulus," said the freedman; "but who had accompanied the litters there is not a rider among them to be compared to yourself.' "Certainly I can ride," said the youth; "but I pretend not to be superior to these Centaurs."

these the wild powers?" The hubbub had prevented her, obsequious a veneration, did not and all with her, from noticing return the salute except by a something. Before an answer could slight nod and a momentary, abbe given the Numidians had re- sent-minded smile. His gaze had turned to the highway as suddenly been riveted upon our travellers, as they had quitted it, and the and chiefly upon the youth and his noise of their dance was succeeded young, suffering sister, upon both noise of the premiums are worth more than that alone by a pause of attention. The gen- of whom, after it had quickly Any one of the premiums are worth more than that alone eral was again on horseback, and taken in Philip, the freedman, the our travellers perceived that two Thracian woman, and the Athenbitters, one of carved ivory and ian woman, and the Athenian lady gold, the other of sculptured it rested long-longest and last bronze, borne on the shoulders of upon Agatha. slaves were beside them.

Two gentlemen on foot had ar- are these?"

smile however, and her numerous admirers made Italy echo with their ravings.

Lucius Varius, said the fashionable world, was at that very time engaged upon a kind of sapphic ode, of which she was to be the

Scarcely had these litters of palanquins arrived and halted, when the general officer dismounted once hand. At a few yards' distance he stopped, and first bowed low to the elder of the two gentlemen on foot, and then, almost entirely disregarding the other gentleman, made an obeisance not quite so long or so deep to the ladies. The man whom so splendid a personage "Be these, then, the Centaurs I as the legatus, wearing his flaming his troops, thus treated with so

"Sejanus," said he finally, "who

1

SPECIALLY PREPARED

The map of the Dominion of Canada will fill a long felt want. It has been prepared specially for the Family Herald and Weekly Star, and is right up-to-date. It is printed on a sheet 22 x 28 inches, each province in a different color; it shows the adjacent portions of the United States, the exact location of the towns, villages, etc., all railroad routes, including the new G. T. Pacific. It gives the population according to the very latest census, of all small and large places in Canada. With the Dominion maps will be enlarged provincial maps. that appeal to subscribers in each province, as follows:

For Subscribers in Man., N.W.T. & B.C.

With the Dominion Map will be found an enlarged map of Canada's Great West beyond the Lakes, right up-to-date complete information regarding location and situation of all towns and villages in the Western Provinces.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star is too well known "Be these, then, the contraint and the bead of to need description. It is the greatest Family and Agricultural paper in Canada. Its regular subscription price is $1.00 per year, and you can't get it anywhere else for less except from us, and we will give it to you for

Only 25 Cents

Address your orders to-

The Business Manager Northwest Review P.O. BOX 617