

QUAINT SNAPSHOTS ALONG THE CANADIAN FRONT

Mending the telephone to the Canadian front line.

Little French children deeply interested in the inspection of rifles destined ultimately to shoot their much detested enemy, the Boche.

Canada's smallest soldier. This gallant little bugler enlisted at Vancouver when he was only twelve years old.

A milestone in France inscribed by a member of the R.F.C.