

When every sailor reached the land,
And all the treasures were in hand,

A long procession marched in state
Towards the marble palace gate.
Columbus and the sovereign pair,
Moved foremost through the crowded square.

And next the crew tramped through the town,
With sacks and bundles loaded down.