THE HOMESTEAD ESTATE is passed by Metropolitan cars, and is only about 40 minutes' ride from down-town. There will be no rent-day for these little farmers, and no big prices to pay for potatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, peas, strawberries, raspberries; a few hens will provide a family with eggs at practically no cost. Why pay rent and big prices any more?

Ploughed and Harrowed Ready for Seeding

The Homestead Estate will be ploughed, harrowed and made ready for planting. Prof. H. L. Hutt, for 21 years in charge of the Horticultural Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, is now in charge of our Horticultural Department, and will gladly give the public expert advice regarding the methods which should be used to develop scientifically and make the most possible of a suburban home and little farm of this kind.

A Demonstration Farm

The Company intends using one of these half-acres as a demonstration farm, upon which a house will be built in the Spring and the whole place will be laid out and planted to show the possibilities of production on a little farm well

Clip out and mail the coupon for a bulletin containing illustrated suggestions as to how a half acre should be laid out to the best advantage, and giving particulars regarding the preparation and fertilization of the land, selection and securing of the best varieties of fruits, flowers and vegetables, and their cultivation and management to obtain the best possible results.

Five Years to Pay

With a view to meeting the needs of the time and encouraging production—thereby reducing the high cost of living—the Company has decided to offer 100 acres on Yonge Street, a little north of the city limits, in half-acre farms. To assist the buyers, not only to settle on the land, but also to assist them by demonstration and expert advice as to how and what to grow. To assure the success of this venture, the Company is offering the property at only a slight advance of the original cost, in fact a surplus only sufficient to provide for selling expenses, practically eliminating profits.

As proof of this statement an adjoining property has already been sold as building lots for an average price of $20.00 per foot. The little farms on this Estate are 165 feet by 132 feet deep, equal in size to 7 city lots. The price is only $2.50 per foot.
