That Talk With Hogue, Brought to the point of the conver-sation with Hogue that formed the basis for the afridavits, Elliott's statements became badly befogged. He began by saying he was so anxious to get the letters that he was willing to say anything in reply to Elogue's queries. Hogue had called to him thru the window of his Leader Lane office as he passed. On soing inside Hogue had passed. On going inside Hogue had told him he was leaving the city, and that he might have the letters back, as they were of no further use to the holder. Elliott became voluble at this

Might Be True

Elliott apparently was in a state of mental haze, and the situation finally resolved itself into a declaration on his part that he didn't know just what he had said on the occasion. He couldn't, therefore, contradict the statements made by Hogue and Detective Hodgins. made by Hogue and Detective Hodgins.

Mr. Drayton: "What object would you have in misleading Hogue?" Elliott referred to the letters Hogue had taken, and made further remarks that were rather ambiguous in their tenor, inamenther as intimately as he had known Hogue. But he was friendly with them all.

HAMILTON MURDER VICTIM.

The above cut is a fair likeness of a woman who was murdered close to Hamilton, Ont., on Monday, Oct. 9.

The description of the woman is as follows: Height 5 feet 8 inches after being dead about 30 hours, dark complexion, dark brown hair, large busts, with nipple of left breast gone, good teeth in front, three back teeth out of lower right jaw, right superior lateral incisor was false, left molar tooth filled with silver. Wore black lustre skirt, with cotton underwear, black stockings; had a black lustre skirt, with cotton underwear, black stockings; had a full length light fawn waterproof coat; was supposed to have worn a red hat, black kid boots, pointed toes. The marks on the shoes are 555E, which is said to signify the size 5½. The name on the lining of the whoe is "Our foot Queen." Other marks are K8, 3828 and 1428. These marks, if the manufacturer could be found, should indicate to

These marks, if the manufacturer could be found, should indicate to what retailer the shoes were sold. She also wore a silver brooch, made in Chester, Eng., and small link silver chain, same as above cut.

The description of supposed murderer is as follows: Height 5 feet 10 inches, stout build, weight about 180 pounds, wore grey suit, square cut, with slit up back of coat, dark Christie bat; had a sandy moustache, carried waterproof coat, dark in color; slightly round-The government of Ontario will pay a reward of $600 for any

An example of what science can produce. No grease Easy to apply. Beautiful dressing. Glossy hair.
It feeds the hair. What you must do if you wish to keep your lovely locks when you find you are losing them.

Ladies' hair as a rule changes its ghade every 7 years, when the 30 mark is reached, and in a great many cases much earlier in life, which is caused by hereditary blood troubles, but when the hair has been healthful up to 30 years, falling hair turning grey (different shades), it is natural to womankind, and that is the time you should treat it, feed it, just the same as you take your daily meals, or you will be minus of your beautiful locks. Then you take the first hair tonic that comes along—one of the thousands that never grew hair nor improved it, and never will. Warning-We have the right article. Thousands of testimonials.
