"Northcliffe" forms a prominent part of the "Hill" which stretches along the north side of Toronto, and affords a superb scenic view of the City and Lake.

Large, level lots, for detached residences only, have been surveyed out, and are now selling in this carefully-restricted, high-and-healthy sub-division.

Asphalt roadways, concrete sidewalks and city conveniences will pave the way for beautiful homes, and increased prices will quickly follow. You should buy now, as only a limited portion of the property will be sold in advance of full city improvements.

Toronto's new Collegiate Institute will shortly be erected adjoining the property.

The investor and home-seeker should see "Northcliffe" first.

Prices and terms are both inviting. Send your name for plan and price-list.

GREATEST CROWD THAT TORONTO EVER SAW

were thickly clustered members of the parliament, legislature and city council, clergy, the bench, government and civic officials and representatives of public bodies.

The massed bands of the city regiments, under Bandmaster Waldron of the Royal Grenadiers, were formed up, about 800 strong, at the foot of the stone steps. Between the band and the platform was the choir of 650 trained voices under the leadership of Dr. Albert Ham, choir-master of St. James' Cathedral, the boy choristers being formed up in front. The choir was largely recruited from the Anglican churches, and the massed effect of the surplined throng in the midst of the bright coloring of the military uniforms was not without its picturesque quality. Each choir wore a distinctive badge.

The picturesqueness of the spectacle was greatly heightened by the troops, drawn up in open order on the lawn, the scarlet tunics, the silver helmets of the cavalry, and the more sombre rifle green of the Queen's Own Rifles set in the midst of the great citizen army, forming a picture not readily forgotten.

Those Present.

The service began at three o'clock with the rendering by the bands of the Dead March in Saul, with solemnly inspiring effect. During the playing, Lieutenant-Governor J. M. Gibson, in official robes, and Premier Sir James Whitney appeared on the steps of the building, and proceeded to the purple draped platform on the walk between the lawn and the entrance to the buildings, where there followed prominent representatives of the clergy, judiciary and a group of gentlemen eminent in parliamentary, civic and military life, including Bishop Sweeney, Bishop Reeve, Controller Ward, deputy mayor, General Cotton, Hon. J. J. Foy, Rev. Dr. German, representing Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church of Canada, Chief Justice Falconbridge, Chief Justice Mowat, Chief Justice Moss, Sir William Mortimer Clark, Chief Justice, Senator Kerr, Chief Justice Riddell, Rev. J. W. Pedley, Rev. T. Crawford Brown, representing Rev. Dr. Lyle, moderator of the Presbyterian Church of Canada, Rev. Dr. J. T. Sowerby and Sheriff Mowat, Captain Douglas Young, D. C., Lieut. A. H. Gibson, A.D.C., Chief Justice Falconbridge, Lieut.-Col. Denison, Commissioner of the Salvation Army, Hon. Thos. Crawford, and Rev. T. Daville, sheriff of York County.

Those who were admitted to the enclosure included all the dignitaries of the city, ministers and deputy ministers of the crown, presidents of universities and colleges, senators, members of parliament and legislative assembly, and chief justices, justices of high court, and county court judges, consuls, vice-consuls, controllers and members of the city council, governors and board of education and inspectors of school boards, presidents of national associations, president and secretary of board of trade, governors and members of Toronto, and many other prominent citizens occupying representative positions.

Archbishop's Regrets.

Sir James Whitney read the following letter from His Grace, Archbishop McEwen of the Roman Catholic diocese of Toronto, addressed to his honor the lieutenant-governor.

"Your kind invitation to the religious civil and military celebration in memory of His Majesty, the late King Edward VII., was received and duly appreciated.

"For the reasons previously mentioned, to you, I and I cannot be present on Friday afternoon.

"Our country, we will always remember with gratitude and pleasure the peaceful reign of His Majesty Edward VII., who desired that his Catholic subjects should enjoy their full rights as free citizens in Canada.

"We expect the same treatment under His Royal Highness George V., who some years ago visited this country and made many good friends among all classes of the people.

"The authority of a legitimate civil ruler comes from God and hence the obligation of subjects to obey just laws, to respect public officers and to uphold the power of those appointed to govern in their respective spheres of action. It is also our duty to pray for kings and for all in high stations who may lead a quiet and peaceful life.

"And as your honor is the representative of the King in this province, we ask you to assure His Majesty King George V. that we wish him a long and peaceful reign, and our prayer for him will be that of the Catholic Church as follows:

"We beseech Thee O Almighty God, that Thy servant George V., our King who thru Thy mercy hath undertaken the government of these realms may also receive an increase of all virtues; whereupon being adorned he may avoid the enormity of his iniquities, and being rendered acceptable in Thy sight, may come at length to Thee, who art the way, the truth and the life. Thru Christ our Lord. Amen."

The Service.

Sir James then briefly announced, in the name of the lieutenant-governor, that the memorial service to "our late King, Edward the Peacemaker," would proceed, and the choir, under Dr. Ham, with the accompaniment of the band the Lord; he that believeth in Me, tho

The language that all ears be main-of the vast assemblage being one of devout reverence throughout the entire service, which followed the order previously announced and concluded with the national anthem.

But it was not in this striking manner alone that Toronto paid tribute to Edward the Peacemaker. The services held throughout the churches in the morning were largely attended. Most of the factories, warehouses and stores closed down for six hours, a portion of the day, while in many instances business was suspended during the entire day.

At three o'clock every car on the

Everywhere there were to be seen drapings

The booming of the minute guns beginning

S.A. MEMORIAL SERVICE

FILLED MASSEY HALL

Commissioner Coombs Leads Impressive Service—Draws Lessons

From Life of Edward VII.

"It is the greatest satisfaction to me to be with you in this memorial service, to know that in the trials and life of Edward VII., as well as in the responsibilities of his great office, he continually turned his face to God. In time of affliction he not only prayed, but a nation was called to pray; and in time of recovery one of the first things he did and in which the nation followed was to give thanks to God for His goodness. May we not, here and now more resolutely than ever renew our vows to God and in all our lives seek to acknowledge Him and He will direct our path?"

With these words of consolation and exhortation Commissioner Coombs concluded his eulogy upon the life of the late King at a public memorial service held in Massey Hall last evening.

The large auditorium was completely filled, a representative audience occupying the main floor and gallery seats, the massed bands and Salvation

Army officers taking seats on the platform.

The order of service was quite simple. The music was well chosen and the selections were known and sung reverently by the audience. During the entire service a sympathetic spell hung over the house and the impassioned words of the eulogy of Commissioner

Coombs made a deep impression upon the hearts of his hearers. At the conclusion of his address he placed a large wreath over a picture representing the late King.

The Army's Duty.

The passing of Edward VII., said

Commissioner Coombs, is no mere incident in the life of the British Empire or in the history of the world. He considered that the army, representing a large portion of the people of the world, should gather together on this occasion and see if they could not make
