IMPERIAL THEATRE

That Temperamental Operatic Star
GERALDINE FARRAR
(By Arrangement With Morris Gest)

"MARIA ROSA"

By Guido Marburg and Wallace Gilpatrick

THE ANNOUNCEMENT THAT GERALDINE FARRAR APPEARS as the star in another sumptuous pictorial play, following the unprecedented successes "Carmen" and "Temptation," piques the interest of every moving picture devotee, and for that matter playgoers in general. "Maria Rosa" was produced under the personal direction of Cecil B. deMille, the man responsible for her other great stories, and in the Spanish rural drama taught with tremendous moments and hot-blooded action, she is again in her element. For so great a star and so spirited a story the scenic investiture is scrupulously correct and elaborate. In a word "Maria Rosa" is a screen epic.

The Supporting Cast includes Wallace Reid, Pedro de Cordoba, Ernest Joy, Horace B. Carpenter, Anita King and James Neill

MAY PLACE BAN ON CHAMPION SCULLER

Charged With Being a Games Instructor - May Be Asked to Return Medals

New York, Jan. 10.—Following charges that Tom Rooney, of the Hawthorne Y.C., amateur single sculling champion and the foremost oarsman in America, had jeopardized his amateur standing by being a games instructor in the Bureau of Recreation of the Department of Parks, a prominent official of the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen said that Rooney was not the only oarsman who is in danger of having himself declared a professional at the next meeting of the association, to be held at the New York A. C. on March 17.

Who this second prominent oarsman is who "would walk the plank" as the official in question put it, is not known, for neither the official nor James Pilkington, president of the association, would divulge the name. It is certain, however, that the annual rowing meeting will see some house-cleaning.

Rooney, according to the records of the Department of Parks, is a gymnasium instructor, and it is said he is stationed at the public playground at 9th avenue and 28th street, Manhattan. Mr. Pilkington said he knew nothing of the case except from newspaper reports, and had never known how Rooney, who won the senior National sculling championship at Duluth last August, when he defeated Jack Kelley of Philadelphia, earned his living.

Mr. Pilkington added, however, that under the constitution of the association his duty was clear if investigation showed that Rooney was actually a coach of athletes, as his title would indicate. Under the constitution, newspaper reports are sufficient basis on which to begin an investigation.

Asked whether the N. A. A. O., if Rooney should be found guilty as charged, would compel him to return the medals he won in amateur regattas last summer and relinquish his title, Mr. Pilkington said that might very well follow. He cited the case of Jim Thorpe, whose medals and prizes won at the Olympic games in 1913 were returned to Sweden when it was shown that he had been a professional athlete for a year or more before the Olympic games. Rooney, it is said, has been employed by the city in his present capacity for more than a year.

DANES WANT TO PLAY U.S. SOCCER TEAM

New York, Jan. 9.—The Danish football association has requested the United States Soccer Football association to select an all-American squad for a series of games to be played in Denmark in May. The Danes are willing to guarantee $2,000, it was announced on Monday. The offer was made through Harry Sandager of Pawtucket, R.I., a member of the United States Football Association council, who recently returned from Denmark. The national and international games committee of the association will submit the Danish proposition to the council by mail vote. An offer also has been received by the association from Sweden, requesting twenty players, who are adept in baseball as well as soccer, to play in that country next summer.

After a wait of 51 years W. H. Crawford of Elgin, Ill., a veteran of the civil war, has received a check from the United States government. The order makes good a small sum due him for short pay and an allowance for clothing which he was entitled to when he was mustered out.

PLANS OF RED SOX AND THE BRAVES

Contracts Will Be Sent to Joe Wood and Ray Collins - Braves May Trade Snodgrass

Boston, Jan. 9.—President Frazee and Manager Barry will get busy right away on the Red Sox contracts, and there is going to be quite a bunch of them, since Barry, Ruth, Shore and Agnew are the only ones who have signed. Every other player under reserve by the club, including Wood and Ray Collins, are to be sent contracts.

Business Manager Walter Hapgood of the Braves has returned from an extended trip through the south, during which he spent several days with Manager Stallings. It is only reasonable to assume that the salary list was discussed and the advice of the manager obtained thereon. With this as a guide a lot of clerical work at Braves headquarters will be on the programme for this week.

It is said that there is a trade contemplated by the Braves in which Snodgrass of the Boston club and either Becher or "Chief" Wilson of the Cardinals is involved.

All three are veteran players, and it is quite possible the Boston club may be making an exchange with a view to some other deal in prospect, for it does not seem that such a trade would solve Stallings' outfield problem except temporarily, if at all.

If Joe Kelly and Edgar Collins could be developed into reliable regular outfielders it would be an addition of considerable speed and some batting strength, two things that are very much needed, and gaps would be filled up for some time to come. There is nothing slow about Becher, nor Wilson, for that matter, but neither is what he used to be.

"Dutch" Leonard of the Champion Red Sox may wear a Tiger uniform this year if Hughey Jennings has his way.

ALICE HOWELL

"ALICE IN SOCIETY"

This L-Ko Made a Tremendous Hit in New York City. Takes 45 Minutes to Screen
READ WHAT THE MANAGER OF ONE OF HARLEM'S LARGEST THEATRES SAID OF IT:

All that you have heard about comedies not being well done in three reels is all a mistake. I write you of my experience, not of my own opinion. My audience, the other night, saw your "Alice in Society" and they screamed and screamed from the first flicker of the picture till the very last. I have been an exhibitor many years and played all sorts of comedies, and I must admit that I never heard any audience go into such convulsions of laughter as they did on your "Alice in Society." I watched it myself and laughed till the tears ran down my face.

year if Hughey Jennings has his way about it," says a Detroit dispatch. Why introduce the element of doubt about it "Dutch" would be right there into this startling announcement by saying "may" The author might safely bet all the money he has, or ever hopes to have, that if Jennings had his say about it "Dutch" would be right there. Someone else will have a say about it, and so Detroit will have to worry its head and a few others, though.

February Cosmopolitan is the greatest magazine ever printed

All the big authors and illustrators in this one number.

A star issue to the last page.

Never was a table of contents set with such lavishness and variety.

More stories—more pictures—more pages.

You will find every type of fiction in this huge magazine—romance, adventure, pathos, humor, mystery and heart-interest.

Master-tales by the masters of the novel and short story.

The last work of Jack London; the best work of John Galsworthy; the most exciting tale Robert W. Chambers ever wrote.

All of these in the same stupendous issue:

ROBERT W. CHAMBERS as usual, scouts the coasts of adventure. His gay and captivating imagination has produced no more fascinating tale than "The Dark Star."

JOHN GALSWORTHY is acquainting America with an incomparable art. Cosmopolitan is indeed fortunate in the privilege of publishing "Beyond"—the most vital book of the ranking English author.

JACK LONDON wrote his last and best story for Cosmopolitan. "Jerry" is the dandiest dog yarn—when that's saying a mighty lot—when one remembers "White Fang" and "The Call of the Wild."

SAMUEL MERWIN contributes to February Cosmopolitan "The Love Affairs of Henry the Ninth." Was ever puppy-passion treated with such delicate and delicious touch?

BOOTH TARKINGTON'S Penrod lives exclusively in Cosmopolitan. In the February issue the doings are lively at "Marjorie Jones's Picnic."

GEORGE ADE kicks in with "The Modern Fable of the Spotlights and the Spotter." There is enough action in this one short fable in slang to keep a whole book going.

GOUVERNEUR MORRIS, master of the technique of the short story, has written for the February issue "The Place of Disappearing Beauty," one of the best examples of his exquisite art.

ARTHUR B. REEVE has written one of his best Craig Kennedy stories in a scientific detective yarn called "The Sunken Treasure."

EDITH MACVANE'S psychological story, "What Would You Have Done in Her Place?" will hold your interest and your heart-strings from first to last.

ARTHUR TRAIN'S "Moon Maker" will take you back to the days when Jules Verne was your favorite author.

MAURICE MAETERLINCK is represented with a remarkable essay.

GERALD STANLEY LEE has packed two pages with thought and inspiration.

EDGAR LEE MASTERS presents one of his master poems in "The Tavern."

In this one issue of Cosmopolitan all of the following leading illustrators contribute: Harrison Fisher, Howard Chandler Christy, John T. McCutcheon, James Montgomery Flagg, W. D. Stevens, W. T. Benda, John Alonzo Williams, Anton Otto Fischer, Worth Brehm.

Each man rolled a spare in the first box, but the captain of the Falcons finished the high man. With the exception of the first string the game was very close and some high individual scores were made. The Owls were without the services of one of their men, but the difficulty was overcome by taking the lowest score made by the member of the opposing team. The individual scores were:—
