SAYS WAR WILL BE SETTLED ON THE FRONT IN THE WEST

World Would Be Thrilled If It Knew What France Has Done, Says A. J. Kellogg of Boston After War Year in Paris--Tribute To English

(Boston Globe)

"The Germans may go to Constantinople and to Suva, and to India, or to Timbuctoo if they want to, but so matter where they go they've got to come back and lick the French army before this war will be decided; and if they don't the French will lick them and then what will be their victory in Poland and Serbia and the Near East amount to?"

These words were spoken with serious emphasis by A. J. Kellogg, a young Boston artist who has just returned from Paris, where he has been during the whole of the war and where he was for two years before the war. He has had ample opportunity to see and know what this war has meant to France and he tells a remarkably interesting story of the transformation that has come over France, and which he believes is coming or has already come over all the other nations of Europe since this war began--a spiritual transformation that is restoring Europe to its senses.

"They were all too prosperous, too selfish, too neurotic, before this war began," continued Mr. Kellogg, "and they have come back to the saner and simpler things of life through suffering and sacrifice. They are more spiritual and more sure-speaking for art--that it will result in great things for art; not merely for painting, but for all the arts and for life itself. I could recite you concrete examples of what it has already done for France, and I am sure it is doing the same for Germany and England."

"Do you feel confident that France will be able to hold her own against Germany?"

"I am sure of it. If you could see what I have seen in France you would be sure of it. One great trouble with France as far as the outside world is concerned is that she doesn't boast about herself. The truth of what France has done in this war will not be known for years. If the real truth were known the world would be thrilled with it; but the French don't advertise themselves as pious. And the French are not depressed, although they have suffered great losses. The reason for this is that every body in France is too busy to give way to a feeling of depression. I don't mean to say they are gay and frivolous, mind you. Far from it. They are sad and serious, but they are not gloomy. They have the greatest of confidence in their soldiers.

"Are the theatres and places of amusement open in Paris?"

"Yes, they are all open, but there are no such frivolous shows as there were before the war. The people want to see more serious things and they always sing the Marseillaise at the conclusion of every performance, and my, how they sing it! Such feeling as they put into it. There is no race or religious feeling in France, all these things have vanished in the national feeling that prevails.

"I wish I could tell you, or describe to you what this war has done for France. You have got to see it--to live with it--to appreciate it. When the war broke out all the frothy life of Paris disappeared and the real Frenchmen came

HAD WEAK HEART HAD TO STAY IN BED

Many women are kept in a state of fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to their household, social or business duties, on account of the unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief. They do this by their calming, strengthening and invigorating action on the heart, causing it to beat regularly and naturally, and in addition to this they tone up the whole nervous system.

Mrs. J. Day, 234 John St. South, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was so run down with a weak heart that I could not even sweep the floor, nor could I sleep at night. I was so awfully sick sometimes I had to stay in bed all day as I was so weak. I used three and a half boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and I am a cured woman to-day, and as strong as anyone could be, and am doing my own housework, even my own washing."

"I doctored for over two years, but got no help until I used your pills." Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25. They can be had at all druggists or dealers, or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

to the front. Over here you judge of the war by the casualty lists and the movements of the Germans in Russia and Serbia. You feel the horrors of the war more over here than they feel them over there. And that is natural, enough, because as I said, you judge the war by the battles fought of which you know nothing over here and in which there have been terrible casualty lists.

France Progressing Constantly

"In the Argonne there has not been a moment night or day for fourteen months that there has not been fighting and some of it has been terrible fighting. But the French have been progressing all the time. Joffre does not seek to waste his armies. He fights cautiously, but he keeps at it all the time, all up and down the long line, and I can tell you the Germans have been piling up a terrible casualty list along that line. They are being eaten away."

"Are the French using many Arabs and black men from the Sudan?"

"Yes, but they are not relying too much on them. How many there are it is difficult to tell. I don't know that any body knows except the army officials. But I understand that they are all volunteers and great fighters. At Nancy they put the black men up against the Kaiser's crack regiment--the Prussian Guards--under the eye of the Kaiser and the black men cut them all to pieces. They charged and charged against those guards, and, after the Germans charged five times and recovered a piece of ground--a black man told me this--the Germans killed every wounded black or Algerian they could find on the field."

"This fellow I speak of played possum--feigned death--and got by--. He went to a hospital and his wound was so severe, they would not permit him to rejoin his regiment, and when I met him he had staid away from the hospital and was on his way to join another regiment. He still had a bad wound in his chest, but he wanted to get to the front where he could fight. You see lots of these wounded Arabs and blackmen in the theatres and music halls; they don't have to pay to get in. None of the wounded soldiers have to pay anything in Paris."

"What do the French think of the English?"

"The French are level-headed. They realize what England has done with her fleet--cleared the seas of the German flag and taken all her colonies away from her and they know that that is a great piece of work. The English on the land have fought well, but until a very short time ago they were outnumbered by the Germans."

"In their drive for Calais even the Germans were two to one and yet the English held them. And that retreat from Mons won't be forgotten. Do you realize that in that retreat the English went miles to the southeast of Paris, and yet the Germans never won a decisive victory over them. And when the Germans ran back to the Marne the English gave them battle all the way back just as the French did, and even then the Germans on that retreat to the Marne outnumbered the English and the French more than two to one.

"I assure you that this war will have to be fought eventually on the western front, no matter how far the Germans get away from it, and I am sure also that there they will meet their Waterloo."

Lawyer Brings Suit FOR FOURTEEN CENTS

Newton, Mass., Nov. 4--An unusual suit entailing damages of fourteen cents, was heard before Judge Frank M. Copeland in the civil session of the Newton police court. The plaintiff, Charles H. Darling, a Boston lawyer, sought to recover twelve cents in car fares and two cents for postage from the Norumbega Park Company and Middlesex Boston Street Railway.

His reason for this unusual action was as follows: One day in last July Mr. Darling, picking up a newspaper, found that an attractive show was on the card at Norumbega Park, and although it was raining, decided to visit the resort. On the car he paid twenty cents for a round trip ticket, including passage to and from the park and admission. On his arrival during the night, and it very often takes some time coming and waiting before you can get the show clear of the phlegm. When this happens you may be sure that if the bronchitis is not attended to immediately it will become or later develop into pneumonia, or some other more serious lung trouble.

The best remedy for to cure the cold is DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP. Mrs. Roy Cameron, Greenwood, Ont., writes: "I must tell you what Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup did for me. Whenever I get a cold I would be troubled with bronchitis, and sometimes I would almost choke to death. After taking two bottles of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup I was cured."

the car was to see the show, and that the ride itself was a discomfort. Judge Copeland, after hearing both sides, reserved his decision.

BRONCHITIS COMES FROM A NEGLECTED COLD.

Bronchitis starts with a short, painful dry cough, accompanied with rapid wheezing, and a feeling of oppression or tightness through the chest. At first the expectoration is a light color but as the trouble progresses the phlegm arising from the bronchial tubes becomes a yellowish or greenish color, and is very often of a stringy nature.

Bronchitis is usually at its worst in the morning on account of the phlegm becoming lodged in the bronchial tubes during the night, and it very often takes some time coming and waiting before you can get the show clear of the phlegm. When this happens you may be sure that if the bronchitis is not attended to immediately it will become or later develop into pneumonia, or some other more serious lung trouble.
