WAS BY REV. A. J. RYAN To the Editor of The Times, Sir:—I feel sure it would interest your many readers to learn through your columns that the author of the very beautiful poem sent to Mr. Knowles, and published in your paper this evening, is the late Reverend Abram J. Ryan, the beloved poet priest of the southern states. He wrote in memory of his brother who was killed in the civil war. Other poems of the same author which appeal to some of us at the present time are "In Memoriam" and "The Prayer of the South."

Yours, "A LOVER OF POETRY."
