WHAT DYSPETICS SHOULD EAT

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE

"Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to taste, as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty foods, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a small amount of food which you like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of biturated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Biturated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antidote known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary, but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little biturated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the biturated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

"Those changes in the weather are nothing new to me," said the amateur singer.

"Why?"

"When I have a cold I'm bass, and when I get well I'm tenor. I can never tell whether to practice 'The Diver' or 'Sally in Our Alley.'"

Russians on The Offensive

London, March 5, 9.45 p. m.—Except in the Central Beskid Pass of the Carpathians, where the fierce Austrian attacks have moderated somewhat, the Russians are now on the offensive along the whole length of their extremely long line, from the Baltic Sea to the Roumanian border. Apparently they have definitely disposed of the German and Austrian attempts to outflank their two extreme wings, and, having turned, are making slow but steady progress westward.

In the Beskid, Tuholka and Usok Passes the Austro-Germans are in possession of strong positions whence they are continually attacking the Russians, while in the western passes, especially the Dukla, the Russians are on the Hungarian slopes, where the fighting has degenerated into trench warfare. The Russians are sending large reinforcements to this southern line.

ENJOYED VIEW OF THE INSPECTION OF TROOPS

Fairville People See the 26th At Work Under Major General's Eye—News of Fairville

Quite a number of interested spectators watched the military manoeuvres yesterday under Major General Lessard.

Company work and inspection of the battalion by sections took place in W. A. Quinton's field in the morning. There the line level allowed every opportunity for action by the men. At noon Manchester's field became the rendezvous and dinner was disposed of and then Quinton's field again became the scene of operations with part of the force occupying a stretch along the Sand Cove road. The whole battalion were put through tactics, including the charge with blank cartridges freely used, and from the road above the sight of troops in spirited action resembled actual warfare more than mere practice.

As usual only part of the troops can cross the bridge at once and the others waited for their companions. Some of the military men seem to have an idea that everything west of Fairville consists of Manchester's field. Friday by the press reports, but as a matter of fact the land of W. A. Quinton has been occupied as much as the other. Clark's field was also utilized on at least one occasion.

One of the features brought out in the address of Engineer Murdoch before the Board of Trade was that there are two Peters street in Fairville. While the name seems admirable enough, in order to avoid confusion it would be as well if the authorities would rename one. A member of the board suggested that Paul be given the preference.

The new flag on the post office makes an improvement on the appearance of that really fine building.

Last evening L. O. L. No. 70 of Fairville enjoyed a social evening in the hall in Church avenue. Games were played and a general good time is reported.

Beware of teas that are dusty and full of broken leaves—as these are injurious in use and unpleasant in the cup, the dust being generally put there to reduce the cost.

I Never Want To Be Without Them

WHAT MRS. A. AVERON SAYS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Alberta Lady Feels It Her Duty To Tell Her Friends of the Benefit She Has Received from Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Fairville, Alberta, March 5.—(Special)—"I never want to be without Dodd's Kidney Pills," says Mrs. A. Averon, one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of this place.

"I am an old lady, sixty-eight years of age," Mrs. Averon continues, "and had kidney trouble for twenty years. My heart bothered me, my muscles would cramp, and my back ached. Neuralgia was added to my troubles."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills are the only medicine that have helped me, and I cannot recommend them too highly. I feel it my duty to tell my friends what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are the favorite remedy of the old folks. They cure the kidneys, which are the first of the organs of the body to feel the strain of years. By curing the kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills ensure pure blood, and pure blood gives renewed energy all over the body. That's why the old folks say "Dodd's Kidney Pills make me feel young again."

ONLY TEN THOUSAND ADDED TO PAY ROLL

Ottawa, Feb. 5.—In the house today J. H. Sinclair said that he had made an error in his calculation of the number of civil servants added to the dominion roll since the present government took office; it was 10,046 and not 11,046.

Oliver Wilcox of North Essex resumed the debate on the budget. Hon. Dr. Pugsley pointed out that the increased tax on fertilizers under the new tariff would be $46,000 and not $40,000 as stated in debate by a Conservative member yesterday.
